Rutuals And Departures:

Rituals & Departures Akachi Adimora-Ezeigbo, 1996 Military Departures, Homecomings and Death in Classical Athens Owen Rees, 2022-01-13 This volume sheds new light on the experience of ancient Greek warfare by identifying and examining three fundamental transitions undergone by the classical Athenian hoplite as a result of his military service his departure to war his homecoming from war having survived and his homecoming from war having died As a conscript a man regularly called upon by his city state to serve in the battle lines and perform his citizen duty the most common military experience of the hoplite was one of transition he was departing to or returning from war on a regular basis especially during extended periods of conflict Scholarship has focused primarily on the experience of the hoplite after his return with a special emphasis on his susceptibility to Post Traumatic Stress Disorder PTSD but the moments of transition themselves have yet to be explored in detail Taking each in turn Owen Rees examines the transitions from two sides from within the domestic environment as a member of an oikos and from within the military environment as a member of the army This analysis presents a new template for each and effectively maps the experience of the hoplite as he moves between his domestic and military duties This allows us to reconstruct the effects of war more fully and to identify moments with the potential for a traumatic impact on the individual

Rituals of Migration Kevin Kenny, Maddelena Marinari, 2025-06-17 Italian and Irish immigrant experiences When people migrate they often perform social and cultural rituals along the way The idea of rites of passage with its elements of preparation departure transit admission exclusion expulsion and return helps us understand these moments in the process of migration in new and meaningful ways Rituals of Migration offers snapshots of Italian and Irish migrants on the move from the mid nineteenth to mid twentieth centuries The essays in this volume examine the particular moments actions sentiments and material objects in the process of migration at the point of departure in transit and in the process of return Because rites and rituals feature both nonverbal and verbal expression migration history can be understood by studying physical objects as well as written sources The authors focus on rituals created by migrants and their descendants but they also consider the actions of officials who regulated migrants departure travel admission exclusion and removal By examining what people did thought felt and packed on the eve of their departures during their journeys and when returning to their homelands Rituals of Migration reveals how everyone involved in the immigration process including the migrants themselves the families they left behind and those in charge of regulating their mobility have tried to make sense of a process filled with peril uncertainty excitement and opportunity

Bornstein, 2003-09-30 How did the 1990s and early 21st century impact the evolution of the college presidency The legitimacy and performance of higher education were called into question during this period and respect for some of its leaders declined An economic downturn and the concomitant change of student enrollment patterns have required presidents to lead in compromised conditions The new emphasis on financial management and fund raising has opened the job of academic president to those with nontraditional backgrounds These new presidents must gain legitimacy differently from those of more traditional backgrounds who are struggling with their own legitimacy challenges In order to understand legitimacy Bornstein has applied theory from the social sciences and higher education literature proposing five factors that influence presidential legitimacy Individual Institutional Environmental Technical and Moral She also proposes six threats to legitimacy Lack of Cultural Fit Management Incompetence Misconduct Erosion of Social Capital Inattentiveness and Gradiosity In light of these threats she suggests strategies for gaining and maintaining legitimacy This book focuses on the impetus for leading change Bornstein draws on numerous sources for a theoretical perspective on the factors associated with the president's role in creating legitimate change She proposes a construct of four factors to implement legitimate change Presidential Leadership Governance Social Capital and Fund Raising The concepts of transformational and transactional leadership are examined for their ability to facilitate change Bornstein finds their effectiveness limited and proposes transformative leadership a contextual approach that fits between transformational and transactional leadership in the conceptual continuum Since presidents are often recruited on the basis of their academic experience their legitimacy depends on securing resources to strengthen or transform their institution fund raising is essential Final Making Place through Ritual Lea Schulte-Droesch, 2018-09-10

Indian indigenous societies are especially known for their elaborate rituals which offer an excellent chance for studying religion as practice However few detailed ethnographic works exist on the ritual practices of these societies Based on long term ethnographic fieldwork in Jharkhand India this book offers insights into contemporary previously not described rituals of the Santal one of the largest indigenous societies of Central India Its focus lies on culturally specific notions of place as articulated and created during these rituals In three chapters the book discusses how the Santal make place on different local regional and global levels through their rituals They reaffirm their ancestral roots in their land during large sacrificial rituals They offer sacrifices to the dangerous deities of the forest in exchange for rain And they claim their region to be a Santal region through large festivals celebrated in sacred groves which they link to national and global discourses of indigeneity and environmentalism Through an analysis of the rituals of a specific society this book addresses broader issues It presents an example of how to study religion as a practical activity It portrays culture specific perceptions of the environment And last the book underlines the potential that lies in choosing place as a lens to study social phenomena in context
