Sacramento Northern Railway Paul C. Trimble, 2005 The Sacramento Northern Railway was once a critical interurban link between California's northern Central Valley communities the state capital and the Bay Area Running through orchards farmland swamps and cities this electric railway began its life in 1905 Service eventually ran from Chico to Oakland but after the Bay Bridge opened in 1939 the 186 mile route started in San Francisco's Financial District crossed the bridge on the lower deck ran through Contra Costa County towns like Moraga Lafayette and Pittsburg across the Suisun straits on the massive rail ferry Ramon which could hold an entire train and into Sacramento the halfway point From there the train continued through rolling hills and farms on to Marysville and finally to Chico before making its return journey The Sacramento Northern soldiered on until World War II but eventually the growing car culture along with competing diesel railroads undid this splendid line Interurban passenger service ended in 1941 and the various lines were gradually abandoned or dieselized Today a 22 mile segment of the route remains in operation at the Bay Area Electric Railway Museum in Solano County

Railroads of Placer County Arthur Sommers and Roger Staab, 2018 Though small in geographic size Placer County is large in its rich history of railroading in California This book covers 14 different railroads that did or still do exist in some association with Placer County There were narrow gauge and standard gauge long transcontinental and short point to point railroads Some railroads were fully contained within the county and others just touched the county Some railroads were short lived operations while others operated for decades One railroad still functions today undiminished after 150 years in service This book is more than just a collection of photographs of locomotives it provides the reader with a visual history of various aspects of the many railroads operating in Placer County over the years

Sacramento Southern Railroad Kevin Hecteman, 2009-03-09 The Sacramento Southern Railroad was born into a famous railroad family and a busy railroad town in July 1903 The mighty Southern Pacific which controlled the new line from the outset built south from Sacramento along the eastern bank of the Sacramento River into the deltas rich farmland area At its zenith the line was about 31 miles long serving the communities of Freeport Hood Locke Walnut Grove and Isleton Trains on what became known as the Walnut Grove Branch hauled pears sugar beets asparagus and other products from the agricultural regions packing sheds and canneries Competition from trucking and damage from flooding took a severe toll on the railroad and the Southern Pacific largely abandoned it by 1978 but a portion lives on as a labor of love
