Mariano Azuela, 2010-11-25 Mariano Azuela the first of the novelists of the Revolution was born in Lagos de Moreno Jalisco Mexico in 1873 He studied medicine in Guadalajara and returned to Lagos in 1909 where he began the practice of his profession He began his writing career early in 1896 he published Impressions of a Student in a weekly of Mexico City This was followed by numerous sketches and short stories and in 1911 by his first novel Andres Perez maderista Like most of the young Liberals he supported Francisco I Madero's uprising which overthrew the dictatorship of Porfirio Diaz and in 1911 was made Director of Education of the State of Jalisco After Madero's assassination he joined the army of Pancho Villa as doctor and his knowledge of the Revolution was acquired at firsthand When the counterrevolutionary forces of Victoriano Huerta were temporarily triumphant he emigrated to El Paso Texas where in 1915 he wrote The Underdogs Los de abajo which did not receive general recognition until 1924 when it was hailed as the novel of the Revolution But Azuela was fundamentally a moralist and his disappointment with the Revolution soon began to manifest itself He had fought for a better Mexico but he saw that while the Revolution had corrected certain injustices it had given rise to others equally deplorable When he saw the self servers and the unprincipled turning his hopes for the redemption of the under privileged of his country into a ladder to serve their own ends his disillusionment was deep and often bitter His later novels are marred at times by a savage sarcasm During his later years and until his death in 1952 he lived in Mexico City writing and practicing his profession among the poor The Underdogs Mariano Azuela, 2002-11-22

PART ONE How beautiful the revolution Even in its most barbarous aspect it is beautiful Solis said with deep feeling I That s no animal I tell you Listen to the dog barking It must be a human being The woman stared into the darkness of the sierra What if they re soldiers said a man who sat Indian fashion eating a coarse earthenware plate in his right hand three folded tortillas in the other The woman made no answer all her senses directed outside the hut The beat of horses hoofs rang in the quarry nearby The dog barked again louder and more angrily Well Demetrio I think you had better hide all the same Stolidly the man finished eating next he reached for a cantaro and gulped down the water in it then he stood up Your rifle is under

The Return of Thematic Criticism Werner Sollors, 1993 In the glory days of high modernist formalism it was anathema to speak about the content of a work of art Those days are gone and critical practice now is largely thematic practice A focus on the themes of literature informs feminist new historicist ethnic and even second generation deconstructionist approaches However such practice is not always recognized The specter of theoretically impoverished positivism still haunts thematic analysis making it the approach to literature that dare not speak its name This volume brings together for the first time an international group of writers critics and theoreticians who have thought deeply about this issue How can we determine the theme of a given text May the focus on form be the theme of a certain moment Can the motif be understood as a formal category What operations permit us to say that three or four texts constitute variants of the same theme The contributors challenge the conventional dismissal of merely thematic approaches and offer the reader different ways of tackling the issue of what a piece of writing is about The work here comes out of such diverse intellectual traditions as Russian film theory French phenomenology Foucault narratology the Frankfurt School intellectual history Geistesgeschichte psychoanalytic criticism linguistics ideological criticism Proppian folklore studies and computerized plot summary models In addition to a collection of aphorisms from Plato to Robert Coover and a group of general and theoretical essays this volume contains examples of practical engagement with such topics as literary history Shakespeare autumn poetry anti-Semitism fading colors bachelors Richard Wagner and the Mexican Revolution No comparable volume exists

The Sounds of Aguante Luis Achondo, 2025-10-07 The Sounds of Aguante is an ethnographic study of the use of sound by hinchas football fans in the Latin American Southern Cone Deeply affected by the neoliberal deterioration of working class life in the region hinchas use practices such as drumming launching pyrotechnics and singing contrafacta of popular music activities that circulate transnationally through both digital and analog media to cheer for their teams Hinchas discuss and compete both domestically and internationally over which hinchada is the most musically creative dominantly assertive unwaveringly loyal and sonically intense in South America Drawing on first person accounts as well as media coverage Luis Achondo shows that hinchas use sound to create alternative imaginaries make their deprived social conditions audible and sometimes to engage in deadly conflicts where violence often becomes the primary mode of resolution This study demonstrates that fan remediation has constructed a transnational public assembly that considers itself a central component of soccer challenging the notion of sports as mere athletic events and fanbases as simple consumer bases Examining how sound mediates necropolitical relations among fans the book also highlights how sound functions as both a source and expression of necropower among hinchas

The Fragmented Novel in Mexico Carol Clark D'Lugo, 2010-01-01 From Mariano Azuela's 1915 novel Los de abajo to Rosamar Roffiel's Amora of 1989 fragmented narrative has been one of the defining features of innovative Mexican fiction in the twentieth century In this innovative study Carol Clark D'Lugo examines fragmentation as a literary strategy that reflects the social and political fissures within modern Mexican society and introduces readers to a more participatory reading of texts D'Lugo traces defining moments in the development of Mexican fiction and the role fragmentation plays in each Some of the topics she covers are nationalist literature of the 1930s and 1940s self-referential novels of the 1950s that focus on the process of reading and writing the works of Carlos Fuentes novels of La Onda that came out of rebellious 1960s Mexican youth culture gay and lesbian fiction and recent women's writings With its sophisticated theoretical methodology that encompasses literature and society this book serves as an admirable survey of the twentieth century Mexican novel It will be important reading for students of Latin American culture and history as well as literature
