The National Gallery London Philip Hendy, National Gallery, 1964 Re-framing the Italian Renaissance at the National Gallery, 1824 - 2014 Harriet O'Neill (1980 - 2023), 2025-04-07. This pioneering study examines how Italian Renaissance painting has been physically and conceptually framed and re-framed at the National Gallery London from its foundation in 1824 to the present day. Harriet O'Neill's research focuses primarily on historicising and Neo-Renaissance picture frames while considering the changing appearance of the physical gallery spaces as a wider conceptual frame. Through six chapters the author identifies the varied roles frames and framing have played in mediating the entry of Italian Renaissance panels into the museum environment. Chapter 1 situates the research within broader theoretical frameworks bringing together literature on frames with conceptualisations of museums, decorative arts and museological constructions of the Renaissance. Chapters 2 and 3 examine the motivations for re-framing Renaissance panels under the Gallery's first Director Sir Charles Eastlake and his Keeper Ralph Nicholson Wornum, exploring the connection between Neo-Renaissance frames and visitor experience alongside art historical practice. Chapter 4 analyses frames modelled on the portal ornament of the Venetian church of San Giobbe, commissioned under the Gallery's third Director Sir Frederic Burton, comparing them with the widely deployed Watts frames. Chapter 5 discusses the collection and adaptation of antique frames, contextualising this within international museological approaches pioneered in Berlin. Chapter 6 charts the recent re-framing of Italian Renaissance art at the National Gallery, particularly in the Sainsbury Wing, considering the types of narratives communicated to visitors through framing decisions. This study reveals how re-framing has transformed dislocated panels into both art historical specimens and works for aesthetic pleasure while engaging with the establishment of the Renaissance artistic canon and making controversial works more acceptable to English taste.

Editors' Note: Following Harriet O'Neill's untimely passing in 2023, we sought to honour her scholarly legacy by making her doctoral research publicly available. Completed at the National Gallery and University College London in 2015, Harriet's thesis represents significant original scholarship that she had hoped to publish. While we cannot know how she might have revised her work for formal publication, we felt it vital to share her valuable contribution with the wider academic community. To ensure the broadest possible reach without commercial constraints, the book is published on Zenodo with a unique DOI and distributed worldwide through platforms such as Google Books and Internet Archive under a Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-ShareAlike 4.0 International License. Editorial Contributions: As editors, we have enhanced the original manuscript while preserving the integrity of Harriet's work and ideas. Standardised the text, redesigned the appendices, restructured the bibliography and
