The European Union and Enlargement G. Christou, 2004-10-15 The European Union and Enlargement is about the EU s power of attraction an exploration of the potential for EU impact on conflicts within Europe and the implications for the EU to influence the order beyond its borders It provides both a theoretical and historical context in order to understand the EU s impact and combines this with empirical analysis of the perceptions of the Greek Cypriots Turkish Cypriots and Turkey on the accession process and its effect on the Cyprus issue It demonstrates the limits and the potential of the EU as a global actor through its power of attraction Reconciliation and Refugees Davide Tacchini, Zeina Barakat, Iyad Aldajani, Martin Leiner, 2022-03-07 Das Buch setzt die Reihe RIPAR fort indem die bisher noch nicht behandelte MENA Region in den Mittelpunkt des Interesses r ckt Wegen der zahlreichen Kriege und Konflikte in diesem Raum sind weitere B nde geplant Im vorliegenden Band geht es um Flüchtlinge und ihre vielfältigen Bedürfnisse nach Versöhnung mit sich selbst und anderen. Insbesondere Gefühle von Trauer und Schuld wegen des Zurücklassens der Heimat und von Teilen der Familie schlimme Erlebnisse auf der Flucht Konflikte mit anderen Flüchtlingen und mit Einheimischen der Verlust eines großen Teils dessen was dem Leben Sinn und Bedeutung verlieh und die Schwierigkeiten einer Rückkehr in ein verändertes Land eine Heimat die sich vielleicht nicht mehr wie eine Heimat anfühlt sind die einzelnen Facetten dieses Bedürfnisses nach Versöhnung. Aktivitäten der UN von internationalen Organisationen zur Flüchtlingshilfe von staatlichen Stellen von Kommunen NGOs religiösen und humanitären Organisationen werden in diesem Buch dargestellt. Dabei kommen zahlreiche Forscherinnen und Forscher aus den Ländern der MENA Region zu Wort. Sie beschreiben nicht nur gelungene Aktivitäten sondern auch Schwierigkeiten zahlreicher Gesellschaften in der MENA Region die ursprünglich gastfreundliche Haltung zu den Flüchtlingen aufrechtzuerhalten ähnlich wie in Deutschland lassen sich letztlich absteigende Kurven der Akzeptanz der Flüchtlinge auch für Länder wie Jordanien der Türkei oder den Libanon zeichnen. Das Buch führt aber auch vor Augen wie große Aufgaben diese Länder durch die Flüchtlingsströme zu bewältigen haben und was auch an Anstrengungen unternommen worden ist. Neben Autorinnen und Autoren aus Marokko Libyen Ägypten den Palästinensergebieten Jordanien dem Libanon und der Türkei enthält der Band auch Texte aus deutscher griechischer italienischer und US-amerikanischer Sicht. Das Buch zeigt eine von Kriegen und Konflikten heimgesuchte Region aber es zeigt auch Initiativen und Ansätze zur Versöhnung.

Europe's Relations with North Africa Adam Yousef, 2017-04-25 The rapid evolution of events in the European Middle Eastern and North African spheres has reinvigorated the debate on Euro-Mediterranean relations. Since 1995 these relations have operated under the auspices of the Barcelona Process which laid the foundations for three initiatives that define European policy towards neighbouring states: the Euro-Mediterranean Partnership, the European Neighbourhood Policy and the Union for the Mediterranean. This book scrutinises these initiatives through a socioeconomic prism. Adam Yousef reviews how appropriate these initiatives have been in promoting socioeconomic development in North African states, projects the long-term implications of these policies and investigates whether they can reduce the gap in social outcomes across the Mediterranean Basin over time. Using Morocco as a case study, this book employs a mixed methods approach combining qualitative and quantitative data as well as economic theory. It reveals not only that the Barcelona Process has had a limited impact on promoting social outcomes in Morocco but crucially that it is also unlikely to do so in the future, suggesting a new approach may be required.

The Middle East Peace Process and the EU Taylan Özgür Kaya, 2012-12-20 EU policy makers have in the past decade endeavoured to formulate a substantial redefinition of the organisation's international ambitions. Attempting to carve out a new role as a key foreign and security policy actor in international politics, the EU has been involved in peace negotiations across the globe. Here Taylan Özgür Kaya looks at how this is enacted with particular reference to the Middle East peace process. Expanding its political, diplomatic, economic and security role in the region, the EU whilst still being the junior partner to the US has increasingly played a more conspicuous role in the attempts to resolve or at least mediate the Israeli Palestinian conflict Bearing this in mind Kaya examines to what extent the EU manages to live up to its self image as a key player in conflict resolution and crisis management in the region and beyond With the financial and diplomatic future of Europe ever more in the spotlight this book will appeal both to researchers of the Peace Process and to policy makers

Northern Europe and the Making of the EU's Mediterranean and Middle East Policies Timo Behr,Teija

Tiilikainen,2016-05-23 What drives European foreign policy towards the wider Mediterranean and Middle East region This collection takes an innovative approach to answering this question by considering the impact of intra European divisions on European policies towards this crucial region European foreign policy has traditionally been defined by a clear division of labour southern European member states take the lead in the EU's southern neighbourhood while central and northern European countries drive policies in the EU's eastern neighbourhood The resulting north south split has entrenched geo clientalistic behaviour as a core principle of EU foreign policy making and has fuelled a static intra European competition over influence and resources However as European power dynamics shift these old divisions no longer hold and northern and central European countries have been pushed towards a more pro active role in the region But what factors are shaping the foreign policies of these countries in the Mediterranean and Middle East What has been their contribution to common EU policies And does their growing activism signal an end to old geo clientalistic division as a core driver of European foreign policy

The Mediterranean Dimension of the European Union's Internal Security S. Wolff,2012-09-27 EU internal security concerns such as migration police and judicial cooperation are today part of EU foreign policy This book shows how those concerns dominate the EU agenda towards Mediterranean countries Adopting a rational choice institutionalist approach it explores EU policy and the strategic choices made after the 2011 Arab revolts

EU External Relations Law and Policy in the Post-Lisbon Era Paul James Cardwell,2011-11-17 This is a collection of works which considers the many different facets of the EU's increasingly important engagement with the world beyond its borders The Treaty of Lisbon marked a change in the powers and competences endowed on the EU the contributions to this collection consider both the direct and indirect impact of the Treaty on the contemporary state of EU external relations The authors are drawn from legal political science and international relations disciplines and consider innovations or changes brought about by the Treaty itself the European External Action Service the roles of the High Representative and President the collapse of the pillar structure and new competences such as those for foreign investment Other chapters cover developments which reflect the latest incremental changes upon which the post Lisbon Treaty arrangements have some bearing including the COREU network the transatlantic and neighbourhood relations and the external dimension of internal security Useful for academics working in the field of EU external relations law and foreign policy as well as the EU law politics European studies market more generally

Palestine in EU and Russian Foreign Policy Malath Alagha,2016-10-04 The establishment of a Palestinian state has long been a strategic objective of EU and Russian foreign policy in the Middle East. However, over a decade after the creation of the road map, the establishment of an independent Palestinian state has still not been achieved. Palestine in EU and Russian Foreign Policy uses the school of constructivism to provide a new understanding of EU and Russian foreign policy. It explores the failure of these global actors to speed up the process of establishing a Palestinian state despite this being a strategic objective and top priority of their involvement in the Middle East peace process. The book then analyses the role of identity and self-other perception in the making of EU and Russian foreign policy towards the Middle East peace process. It is argued that Palestinian statehood provides a telling empirical example of how and to what extent the search for global actorness as a matter of international identity informs foreign policy making by global actors. The book then proceeds to discuss why the EU and Russia are so eager to be involved in initiating a peace settlement. Offering a new understanding of foreign policy making by global players in Middle Eastern politics, this book will appeal to students, scholars and policy-makers working in International Relations and European, Russian and Middle Eastern studies. Joint Ownership in EU-Tunisia Relations Federica Zardo, 2019-09-26 This book provides an in-depth analysis of EU-Tunisia negotiations during the last three decades to understand what joint ownership means in Euro-Mediterranean relations. The principle of joint ownership often figures in the EU's public discourse of the EU and other international actors. Yet it has been scarcely conceptualised and there is little research on which factors determine its presence or lack thereof. The book contributes to its definition, highlighting its evolving nature and intersubjective dimension. The author further explains how bargaining rules, practices and procedures affect joint ownership by constraining or empowering actors and shaping their expectations about which options they perceive are possible during the negotiations. Negotiation analysis proves useful for showing how and to what extent the interests of both sides eventually feature in Euro-Mediterranean agreements and enables scholars to bring back third countries' agency and perceptions into the study of the EU's external relations. Dividing Africa with Policy

Lara Hierro, 2020-06-08 This book addresses timely concerns of rising African nationalism and the 2nd decolonisation in Africa. The wholesale rejection of all things considered Western is seen to be a result of integrationalism defined as the specific kind of methodology by which EU foreign policy engagement may be interpreted. Using complexity theory and panarchy, a specific arrangement of interacting complex adaptive systems together with a resilience assessment, the EU's foreign policy is shown to be undermining the aims of the premier African institution, the AU, created to provide unity and security on the continent. The EU pursues these objectives in its own image rather than honouring African values. This book raises awareness of these issues as well as to widen the application of the theoretical framework in international relations and politics, which is becoming increasingly important in a complex world. The aim of this book is to show that the negative isolationism pursued in order to counteract western influence is not the answer and can be avoided through this awareness.

The Foreign Policies of the European Union and the United States in North Africa Francesco Cavatorta, Vincent

Durac,2013-09-13 The war in Iraq seemed to bring to a head underlying differences between the United States and the vast majority of European countries regarding the best means to maintain international peace and stability The unilateralism of the United States as opposed to the multilateralism of the European Union is seen as a very significant source of potential rivalry between the two actors This volume examines in detail whether the policies of the United States and the EU are truly diverging with respect to the most pressing issues facing North Africa or whether in fact they are converging in terms of objectives to be achieved and strategies for their implementation Through a number of papers that include both comparative and case specific studies this book enables a better understanding of the differences and similarities in EU and US foreign policies and security strategies for the region a clearer analysis of their respective democracy promotion policies and a better examination of their respective approach to the Islamist question in light of the continued success of such movements This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of North African Studies The Union for the

Mediterranean Federica Bicchì,Richard Gillespie,2014-07-10 This is the first comprehensive analysis of the Union for the Mediterranean UfM launched in 2008 amid great controversy within the European Union Affected from the start by negative fallout from the failure of Middle East peace initiatives its inadequacies have been underlined by the popular movement for regime change in the Arab world Leading experts provide here the first integrated analysis of the significance and shortcomings of the UfM Beginning with critical questioning of the motives and institutional logics informing this venture the collection proceeds to analyse its key actors as well as major policy dossiers such as energy and development The book explains how and why an initiative aiming to depoliticize Euro Mediterranean relations in fact proved wide open to political discord bringing huge disruption to UfM activity While some aspects are found to have merit the volume is critical of the way in which EU Mediterranean policy became driven by a narrow range of national interests lost sight of the political objectives of the preceding Barcelona Process and became overwhelmingly bilateral in approach at the expense of more ambitious region building efforts It concludes by highlighting the need to reform the EU Mediterranean policy framework in the light of the Arab uprisings of 2011 This book was published as a special issue of Mediterranean Politics Routledge Handbook of Mediterranean Politics

Richard Gillespie,Frédéric Volpi,2017-08-14 The Mediterranean space defined by a major sea a large number of littoral countries and to some extent their hinterlands is at the same time an interface between Europe Africa and Asia This brings complex challenges in terms of achieving peace and stability Recently it has received intense international attention through the internal destructiveness and spill over from conflicts primarily those waged in Libya Syria and more remotely Iraq This Handbook provides an overview of the political processes that shape the Mediterranean region in the contemporary context It explores the issues of crucial importance to Mediterranean dynamics through a series of analytical sections that guide the reader towards a comprehensive understanding of the main regional interactions and trends The Handbook explores the complex historical formation of the contemporary Mediterranean geopolitical perspectives issues around peace and conflict the political economy of the region the role of non state actors and social movements societal and cultural trends The wide range of contributions from many of the leading academic experts on the region offers not only insights into the debates and processes that structure each theme but also key pointers for a more general understanding of how distinct political economic social and cultural dynamics interact across the region It will therefore be a key resource for policy makers and students and scholars of Mediterranean politics and international relations

International Relations Theory and European Security Lorenzo Cladi, Andrea Locatelli, 2015-08-20 This book engages with key contemporary European security issues from a variety of different theoretical standpoints in an attempt to uncover the drivers of foreign policy and defence integration in the EU Although European foreign policy has been attracting an ever increasing number of International Relations IR scholars since the end of the Cold War consensus on what drives European foreign policy integration has not yet emerged This book seeks to encourage debate on this issue by examining a wide range of high profile security issues which have roused significant interest from policy makers academics and the public in recent years The volume discusses amongst other issues the strategic posture of the European Union as a security actor the troubled relationship with Russia the debate regarding France's relations with the US following France's rapprochement with NATO and the EU's influence in the Israeli Palestinian conflict The collective intent of the contributors to highlight the drivers of EU foreign policy and defence integration ties together the wide variety of topics covered in this volume forming it into a comprehensive overview of this issue By paying considerable attention not just to the internal drivers of EU cooperation but also to the critical role played by the US as an incentive or obstacle to European security this book presents a unique contribution to this field of debate This book will be of much interest to students of European security IR theory Transatlantic Relations European politics and EU foreign policy
