Painting and Reality Etienne Gilson, 2023-08-15 A classic study of the art of painting and its relationship to reality In this book Etienne Gilson puts forward a bold interpretation of the kind of reality depicted in paintings and its relation to the natural order Drawing on insights from the writings of great painters from Leonardo Reynolds and Constable to Mondrian and Klee Gilson shows how painting is foreign to the order of language and knowledge Painting he argues seeks to add new beings to nature not to represent those that already exist For this reason we must distinguish it from another art that of picturing which seeks to produce images of actual or possible beings Though pictures play an important part in human life they do not belong in the art of painting Through this distinction Gilson sheds new light on the evolution of modern painting A magisterial work of scholarship by an acclaimed historian of philosophy Painting and Reality features paintings from both classical and modern schools and includes extended selections from the writings of Reynolds Delacroix Gris Gill and Ozenfant

Cubism and Reality Christopher Green, 2025-08-21 What was Cubism How did this strange new way of making paintings and sculptures enable artists so decisively to change the trajectory of Modern Art In responding to these questions distinguished art historian Christopher Green presents a bold new interpretation of the movement and three of its key protagonists Stemming from a critical re evaluation of the author's own first responses to Cubist artworks as a student of the late artist and critic John Golding. Cubism and Reality challenges the commonly held view of Cubism as either a retreat from reality into abstraction or an invitation to convert the real into the surreal, arguing instead that Georges Braque, Pablo Picasso and Juan Gris wanted above all to find ways of intensifying and expanding painting's capacity to give viewers more, not less, of their lived experience of the world. Lavishly illustrated and filled with rich new insights and approaches to the artwork that are the product of decades worth of research, Green argues that for the three artists, reality was not objectively always there but was created by their own perceptions and could be transformed by their imaginations. The artwork becomes not merely a dead material fact but somewhere into which wishes, lived experiences and memories can enter ours over a century later as well as theirs. Green explores how Cubist artworks ask us to reflect in far-reaching ways on visual art's relationship to everyday visual experience and questions how it is that we still believe that drawings, paintings and sculptures can represent the world as we see and know it. In doing so, Cubism and Reality tackles a fundamental issue that has preoccupied artists, critics and art enthusiasts for over a century well into our present age: the survival of hand-made representational artworks in the epoch of photography, film and latterly digital reproduction.

Can you

visit other planes and realities But can you live other lives there in your other planes and realities People can always tell beautiful paranormal stories or who knows you might have already been there yourself saw them felt them and now this is why you search through all higher knowledge to learn more about your experience But was it real Are your other worlds real as real as this world All realities are real in a rather trivial manner And even more all realities are objectively real but only as long as you are there Since existence defines them similarly determining closely your continuous firsthand experience Furthermore many realities are part of life part of this life that we have here in this world And now if you have found your way into these other planes of existence in a conscious manner it might have been a natural process altogether and not exactly a random experience It had a purpose while you might have missed fulfilling it and now it is certainly meaningful to know everything that you can ever discover Yet if you have never had a paranormal experience yourself and now you simply wonder what is going there are very powerful drugs that you take regularly with your food drinks drugs and medicine meant to hold you forcefully in this world And now this is exactly what you do you remain here nicely for life And it happens with everybody or almost depending on where you live or depending on your development and genetic background There is a difference between astral planes the natural human environment and your other realities Because existence comes in three distinct levels used to distinguish between your higher and lower realities While you can understand all your realities through your mind reasoning awareness and imagination since even this world makes sense to you only as part of your reasoning awareness mind and imagination and not exactly directly as anyone may expect And this is the case because there is no other way to experience anything in life and in the wider world but through your perception reasoning and understanding and through the multitude of your selves intelligences and identities present throughout all your realities And this is why you cannot understand astral planes along with your other realities if you do not understand your cognitive system first along with your intelligences selves memories and expectations since everything is interconnected This interesting entanglement of meanings and constraints causes the ultimate truth of your wider existence to remain hidden beneath strong consensual conditions and within tedious loops of reasoning remaining inaccessible in this manner to the ignorant and to the unconditional follower of common ideologies while allowing the truth only to those living life freely consciously and in full awareness and understanding of the wider world through the fulfillment of all natural higher level needs and meanings Because these are your developmental opportunities that you experience in each one of your worlds and realities while following the fulfillment of your natural intelligent human needs for higher experience and higher development This book studies you and your life and existence throughout all your realities that you employ encounter inhabit create and co create throughout your wider existence helping you understand who you are through all your selves and intelligences as you live your life throughout all your worlds and realities If you seek to gain wider understanding of who you truly are this book is for you Mixed Reality Images Lars C. Grabbe, Patrick Rupert-Kruse, Norbert M.

Schmitz, 2025-02-25 The interplay of physical reality and digital media technologies is getting enhanced by new interfaces. The different screen technologies and embedded physical artefacts for interaction. Mixed Reality Images contributes to the wide range of the hyper aesthetic image discourse to connect the concept of mixed reality images with the approaches in modern media theory, philosophy, perceptual theory, aesthetics, computer graphics and art theory as well as the complex range of image science. This volume monitors and discusses the relation of images and technological evolution in the context of mixed reality within the perspective of an autonomous image science.

Ever-Moving Repose Sotiris Mitral Alexis, 2018-01-01 Sotiris Mitral Alexis offers a contemporary look at Maximus the Confessor's 580-662 CE understanding of temporality, logos and deification through the perspective of contemporary philosopher and theologian Christos Yannaras as well as John Zizioulas and Nicholas Loudovikos. Mitral Alexis argues that Maximus possesses both a unique theological ontology and a unique threefold theory of temporality: time, the Aeon and the radical transformation of temporality and motion in an ever moving repose. With these three distinct modes of temporality a Maximian theory of time can be reconstructed which can be approached via his teaching on the logos and deification. In this theory time is not merely measuring ontological motion but is more particularly measuring a relationship the consummation of which effects the transformation of time into a dimensionless present devoid of temporal, spatial and generally ontological distance thereby manifesting a perfect communion in otherness. In examining Maximian temporality the book is not focussing on only one aspect of Maximus' comprehensive Weltanschauung but looks at the Maximian vision as a whole through the lens of temporality and motion.

Working Space Frank Stella, 1986 A bombshell this is a book that explodes many received ideas about abstraction. It is certainly one of the most remarkable books ever written on the subject. What makes it so remarkable of course is that Stella is unquestionably the most celebrated abstract painter of his generation. Hilton Kramer's Atlantic Working Space affords a rare opportunity to view painting from the inside out through the eyes of one of the world's most prominent abstract painters. Frank Stella describes his perception of other artists' work as well as his own in this handsomely illustrated volume. Stella uses the crisis of representational art in sixteenth century Italy to illuminate the crisis of abstraction in our time. The artists who followed Leonardo, Michelangelo, Raphael and Titian searched for new directions to advance their work from beneath the shadow of these great painters. Caravaggio pointed the way. So today Stella believes the successors to Picasso, Kandinsky and Pollock must seek a pictorial space as potent as the one Caravaggio developed at the beginning of the seventeenth century. Stella sees Caravaggio as the pivot on whom painting turns his consummate illusionism prompting the advance of a more flexible, more real space that allows painting to move and breathe to suggest extension and unrestricted motion. Following Caravaggio, Rubens' broad vision of fullness and active volume gave painting a momentum that helped propel it into the nineteenth century where it came to rest in the genius of Gericault and

Manet themselves the precursors of modern painting Unfortunately both contemporary abstract art and figurative painting have become trapped by ambiguous pictorial space and by a misguided emphasis on materiality pigment for pigment's sake Pictorial qualities have given way to illustrational techniques Abstract art has become verbal defensive and critical caught up in theology masquerading as theory Stella asserts that painting must understand its past make use of the lucid realism of seventeenth century Italy and absorb a Mediterranean physicality to reinforce the lean spirituality of northern abstraction pioneered by Mondrian and Malevich Working Space will provoke discussion and argument not least because Stella offers nontraditional evaluations of the works of giants such as Raphael Titian Michelangelo Picasso and Pollock as well as lesser known figures including Annibale Carracci Paulus Potter and Morris Louis The artist's powers of discernment and the profusion of his ideas and opinions will dazzle and engage professionals amateurs and students of art

The Realities of 'Reality' - Part III: Impacts of Speed and Time Optimization on Reality Fritz Dufour, MBA, DESS, 2019-08-28 The main theme of this book is the impacts of speed and time optimization on reality or more precisely on our modern society But first it sets the background by exploring the physics behind the concepts of speed and time how they came about how we became aware of them and how did the new world of speed emerge and why does it seem to be inescapable It explores the speed of light and the speed of sound by linking them to our environment It introduces the notion of Arrow of time or entropy which grows from the past to the present is expected to keep growing in the future and hypothesizes that this is perhaps why our craving for speed and time optimization is here to stay with no end in sight An important point discussed is that because of memories and experiences people may choose to live either in the past present or future which leads to the notions of presentism and eternalism The book argues that while for presentists only the present is real for eternalists both the past present and future are equally real The book makes the case about speed and time optimization as a legacy of modernity by laying out the differences between modernism modernization and modernity itself It shows how modernity is all about the now or the present rather than the past and how as such it's all about the new So then the changes that are now happening in our modern world can be traced back to a segment of history that dates back to the beginning of modernity that is which began with the Protestant Reformation and is now rapidly approaching closure in the world of today's extreme finance It argues about the technological implications of speed and time in the 21st century It shows how technology has become an integral part of human existence and that it is inconceivable one can even think of escaping it This Part III of the series shows the link between high speed trading and faster connectivity and faster computers It shows how thanks to the Internet information became freely accessible and is spreading faster and faster It shows how supercomputers not only allow people to address the biggest and most complex problems they also allow people to solve problems faster even those that could fit on servers or clusters of PCs This rapid time to solution is critical in some aspects of emergency preparedness and national defense where the solutions produced are only valuable if they can be acted on in a timely manner Finally the social and psychological implications of speed and time in the 21st century are also addressed by considering the upside and the downside of moving fast meaning leading a fast paced life The argument presented in the book is based on the analysis and the importance of stress in our daily lives and also explains the notion of chronobiology Our biological clocks drive our circadian rhythms An interesting point is that blind people may not perceive time the same way as the non blind Furthermore the book shows how we perceive time differently as we age compared to when we were young It also makes the case for the perception of time in dreams and in real life Speed and time optimization may be deceiving according to this Part III of the series This can be proven by questions such as 1 Is going over the speed limit really worth it and 2 Is the saying Slow down to go faster a paradox

The Post-Screen Through Virtual Reality, Holograms and Light Projections Jenna Ng, 2025-10-01 Screens are ubiquitous today Yet contemporary screen media eliminate the presence of the screen and diminish the visibility of its boundaries As the image becomes indistinguishable from the viewer's surroundings this unsettling prompts re examination of how screen boundaries demarcate Through readings of three media forms Virtual Reality holograms and light projections this book develops new theories of the surfaces on and spaces in which images are displayed Interrogating contemporary contestations of reality against illusion it argues that the disappearance of difference reflects shifted conditions of actuality and virtuality in understanding the human condition These shifts further connect to the current state of politics by way of their distorted truth values corrupted terms of information and internalizations of difference The Post Screen Through Virtual Reality Holograms and Light Projections thus thinks anew the image's borders and delineations evoking the screen boundary as an instrumentation of today's intense virtualizations which do not tell the truth In the process a new imagination for images emerges for a gluttony of the virtual for new conceptualizations of object and representation materiality and energies media and histories real and unreal for new understandings of appearances dis appearances replacement and replacement the post screen

Virtual Reality Tatjana Crossley, 2025-09-30 This book investigates how immersive environments across architecture art and media shape spatial perception cultural identity and the construction of reality It offers a spatial psychoanalytical reading of virtual reality VR examining how architecture and representation engage with the body sensorial experience and subjectivity Redefining VR as an experiential and spatial condition rather than simply a digital construct the book traces its lineage from ancient fresco rooms to contemporary digital landscapes Grounded in theoretical frameworks from psychoanalysis phenomenology and media theory it explores how immersive environments function as extensions of the body and reflect a collective identity Case studies from Pompeii to the Metaverse illustrate how architecture and representation shape our virtual experience Rather than viewing VR as a new phenomenon the book positions it as part of a longer trajectory in design and representation shaped by evolving tools and technologies It argues that the virtual spaces we create and the artifacts we choose to represent encode insights about identity memory and social conditions This book is written for theorists practitioners academics and students of architecture art and design It situates architectural practice within the unfolding discourse on virtuality identity and the cultural implications of space making
