Montyon (Antoine Jean Baptiste Robert Auget),1912 An Historical Geography of Europe, 1500-1840 Norman John Greville Pounds,1979 This book seeks to examine the complex of natural and man made features that have influenced the course of history and have been influenced by it It spans the period from the early sixteenth century to the eve of the Industrial Revolution in continental Europe approximately 1500 to 1840 The Female Population of France in the 19th Century Etienne Van de Walle,2015-03-08 In analyzing the social and economic factors underlying the decline of fertility in nineteenth century France Etienne van de Walle found that official statistics for the period were incomplete and inaccurate He thus undertook a full reconstruction In this volume he presents a detailed discussion of the methodology used to correct and to supplement these official statistics along with the results of the reconstruction of 82 French départements and French and English summaries of his findings By computing standardized indices of fertility and nuptiality for each of the 82 départements the author extends the period for which standardized demographic indices are available His methodology which evaluates and corrects the biases and defects of the official statistics provides a model for similar background studies in the

CHOQUETTE,Leslie Choquette,2009-06-30 In considering the pattern of emigration in the context of migration history Choquette shows that in many ways the movement toward Canada occurred as a by product of other perennial movements such as the rural exodus or interurban labor migrations Overall emigrants to Canada belonged to an outwardly turned and mobile sector of French society and their migration took place during a phase of vigorous Atlantic expansion They crossed the ocean to establish a subsistence economy and peasant society traces of which lingered on into the twentieth century political history and technology studies including areas where multidisciplinary approaches have been especially fruitful

Bread, Politics and Political Economy in the Reign of Louis XV Steven Laurence Kaplan, 2012-12-06 I Modern times has invented its own brand of Apocalypse Famine is no longer one of the familiar outriders The problems of material life and their political and psychological implications have changed drastically in the course of the past two hundred years Perhaps nothing has more profoundly affected our institutions and our attitudes than the creation of a technology of abundance Even the old tropes have given way neither dollars nor calories can measure the distance which separates gagne pain from gagne hi leek 1 Yet the concerns of this book seem much less remote today than they did when it was conceived in the late sixties In the past few years we have begun to worry with a sort of expiatory zeal about the state of our environment the size of our population the political economy and the morality of the allocation of goods and jobs and the future of our resources While computer projections cast a malthusian pall over our world we have had a bitter first hand taste of shortages of all kinds The sempiternal battle between producers and consumers rages with a new ferocity as high prices provoke anger on the one side and celebration on the other Even as famines continue to strike the third world in the thermidor of the green revolution so we have discovered hunger in our own midst

The Routledge History of the Domestic Sphere in Europe Joachim Eibach, Margareth Lanzinger, 2020-12-29 This book addresses the multifaceted history of the domestic sphere in Europe from the Age of Reformation to the emergence of modern society By focusing on daily practice interaction and social relations it shows continuities and social change in European history from an interior perspective The Routledge History of the Domestic Sphere in Europe contains a variety of approaches from different regions that each pose a challenge to commonplace views such as the emergence of confessional cultures of private life and of separate spheres of men and women By analyzing a plethora of manifold sources including diaries court records paintings and domestic advice literature this volume provides an overview of the domestic sphere as a location of work and consumption conflict and cooperation emotions and intimacy and devotion and education The book sheds light on changing relations between spouses parents and children masters and servants or apprentices and humans and animals or plants thereby exceeding the notion of the modern nuclear family This volume will be of great use to upper level graduates postgraduates and experienced scholars interested in the history of family household social space gender emotions material culture work and private life in early modern and nineteenth century Europe
