Reconciliation After Violent Conflict David Bloomfield, Terri Barnes, Lucien Huyse, 2003 How does a newly democratized nation constructively address the past to move from a divided history to a shared future How do people rebuild coexistence after violence The International IDEA Handbook on Reconciliation after Violent Conflict presents a range of tools that can be and have been employed in the design and implementation of reconciliation processes Most of them draw on the experience of people grappling with the problems of past violence and injustice There is no right answer to the challenge of reconciliation and so the Handbook prescribes no single approach Instead it presents the options and methods with their strengths and weaknesses evaluated so that practitioners and policy makers can adopt or adapt them as best suits each specific context Also available in a French language version

Education in Nigeria Isaiah Ekundayo Dada,2019-04-18 Nigeria a country under a military regime for several years transitioned to a civilian regime in May 1999 Since this change violent conflicts between Christians and Muslims have continued to erupt They constitute one of the gravest dangers facing Nigeria a country with a population of 189 million people What have Nigerian religious leaders done about this situation especially in educational circles Have they received formal educational training to understand the causes of this violence and especially how to provide alternatives for more peaceful relations within Nigeria Does the current educational system in Nigeria provide the main ingredients for the promotion of a culture of peace The absence and neglect of interreligious peace education as part of a peace education core program and the lack of an interreligious curriculum for peace education in the training of religious leaders are the two problems contributing towards the lack of effectiveness of religious leaders in promoting less violent and more peaceful living The solution to the problem is proposed in this book entitled Interreligious Curriculum for Peace Education in Nigeria The book develops a one year curriculum building on Yoruba Islamic Christian conceptions of peace and teaches how to create safe caring spiritual peaceful and successful interfaith relationships between all Nigerian religious communities In the long term the book helps to educate religious leaders to contribute in themselves and with the help of their respective religious communities to reducing the growing religious violence in Nigeria      Hybrid Justice ,2024-12-11 The last decade has seen the unexpected re emergence of hybrid and internationalised courts institutions which operate with varying combinations of national and international law procedure and staff Whilst the establishment of the permanent International Criminal Court should have made hybrid mechanisms largely obsolete hybrids have recently been established or proposed for atrocity crimes committed in Chad South Sudan Israel Palestine the Central African Republic Kosovo Syria Sri Lanka Myanmar The Gambia Liberia and Ukraine Hybrid Justice critically examines the resurgent promise of hybrid courts Focusing on the fields practices innovations and of hybrid courts the contributors evaluate hybrids success and in doing so help to clarify the conditions and mechanisms that makes hybrids likely to succeed in their mandates and impacts The authors focus on hybrid courts and resilience the resilience of hybrid mechanisms to withstand political and other pressures to deliver justice and accountability and the potential contribution of hybrids to the resilience of affected communities Borne out of a collaboration between lawyers academics and activists this edited volume provides a uniquely comparative account of the development of hybrid courts in recent years      Victim Healing and Truth Commissions Holly L. Guthrey,2015-02-23 This book intends to contribute to the growing body of transitional justice literature by providing insight into how truth commissions may be beneficial to victims of mass violence based on data collected in Timor Leste and on the Solomon Islands Drawing on literature in the fields of victim psychology procedural justice and transitional justice this study is guided by the puzzle of why truth telling in post conflict settings has been found to be both helpful and harmful to victims of mass violence Existing studies have identified a range of positive benefits and negative consequences of truth telling for victims however the reasons why some victims experience a sense of healing while others do not after participating in post conflict truth commission processes continues to remain unclear Hence to address one piece of this complex puzzle this book seeks to begin clarifying how truth telling may be beneficial for victims by investigating the question What pathways lead from truth telling to victim healing in post conflict settings Building on the proposition that having voice a key component of procedural justice can help individuals to overcome the disempowerment and marginalisation of victimisation this book investigates voice as a causal mechanism that can create pathways toward healing within truth commission public hearings Comparative empirical studies that investigate how truth telling contributes to victim healing in post conflict settings are scarce in the field of transitional justice This book begins to fill an important gap in the existing body of literature From a practical standpoint by enhancing understanding of how truth commissions can promote healing the findings and arguments in this volume provide insight into how the design of transitional justice processes may be improved in the future to better respond to the needs of victims of mass violence      Intractable Conflicts Daniel Bar-Tal,2013-03-18 This book provides a comprehensive interdisciplinary original and holistic analysis of the socio psychological dynamics of intractable conflicts Daniel Bar Tal s analysis rests on the premise that intractable conflicts share certain socio psychological foundations despite differences in context and other characteristics He describes a full cycle of intractable conflicts their outbreak escalation and reconciliation through peace building      Locally Led Peacebuilding Stacey L. Connaughton, Jessica Berns, 2019-09-09 The authors of this edited volume present a case for why locally led peacebuilding matters and how it can have measurable and meaningful impact even beyond preventing political violence This book contributes a set of local voices to a global problem how to prevent armed conflict and lead to lasting peace The authors argue that locally led peacebuilding by community based organizations both formal and informal plays a crucial role in preventing violence and cultivating peace one that is complementary to peacebuilding work done by local state and national governments within countries and between nation states Through the case studies presented Locally Led Peacebuilding presents evidence for how and why locally led peacebuilding can prevent violence and invites practitioners and scholars to critically examine the implications of locally led initiatives From these examples we all have an opportunity to learn about creating implementing researching and funding locally led peacebuilding      Contemporary Regional Planning Issues , 2025-07-30 Regional planning aims to envision a better future for a region and proposes policies to achieve a desired vision of regional development It encompasses various aspects of the human and biophysical environments covering extensive geographical areas or jurisdictions with identifiable common characteristics In this regard this book offers a state of the art examination of how contemporary regional planning challenges are addressed globally It includes contributions from leading researchers and scholars in the field of regional planning from Canada the USA Israel Indonesia Turkey and Norway Based on empirical research the book discusses a variety of topics including how the relocation of Indonesia s capital city could potentially resolve the country s longstanding regional inequities and multidimensional conflicts the intricacies of planning in contested cities and the dual role of urban planning in conflict resolution how regional planning balances local autonomy and regional objectives river basin development as a sustainable planning strategy for a port city and positioning the Arctic landscape regions in the global system of growth and development The book is insightful thought provoking and easy to understand It could serve as an essential reference material on contemporary regional planning for students planners NGOs government officials and international institutions interested in regional development planning      Restorative Justice Marian Liebmann, 2007 Provides an accessible introduction to the philosophy of restorative justice and its application in a wide range of settings demonstrating how it can help to rehabilitate both victims and offenders when harm has been done      An Introduction to Transitional Justice Olivera Simić, 2020-07-30 The Second Edition of An Introduction to Transitional Justice provides a comprehensive overview of transitional justice judicial and non judicial measures implemented by societies to redress legacies of massive human rights abuse Written by some of the leading experts in the field it takes a broad interdisciplinary approach to the subject addressing the dominant transitional justice mechanisms as well as key themes and challenges faced by scholars and practitioners Using a wide historic and geographic range of case studies to illustrate key concepts and debates and featuring discussion questions and suggestions for further reading this is an essential introduction to the subject for students

Ethical Loneliness Jill Stauffer, 2015-09-01 Ethical loneliness is the experience of being abandoned by humanity compounded by the cruelty of wrongs not being acknowledged It is the result of multiple lapses on the part of human beings and political institutions that in failing to listen well to survivors deny them redress by negating their testimony and thwarting their claims for justice Jill Stauffer examines the root causes of ethical loneliness and how those in power revise history to serve their own ends rather than the needs of the abandoned Out of this discussion difficult truths about the desire and potential for political forgiveness transitional justice and political reconciliation emerge Moving beyond a singular focus on truth commissions and legal trials she considers more closely what is lost in the wake of oppression and violence how selves and worlds are built and demolished and who is responsible for re creating lives after they are destroyed Stauffer boldly argues that rebuilding worlds and just institutions after violence is a broad obligation and that those who care about justice must first confront their own assumptions about autonomy liberty and responsibility before an effective response to violence can take place In building her claims Stauffer draws on the work of Emmanuel Levinas Jean Am ry Eve Sedgwick and Friedrich Nietzsche as well as concrete cases of justice and injustice across the world

The Violence of Victimhood Diane Enns, 2015-08-06 We know that violence breeds violence We need look no further than the wars in the western Balkans the genocide in Rwanda or the ongoing crisis in Israel and Palestine But we don t know how to deal with the messy moral and political quandaries that result when victims become perpetrators When the line between guilt and innocence wavers and we are confronted by the suffering of the victim who turns to violence judgment may give way to moral relativism or liberal tolerance compassion to a pity that denies culpability This is the point of departure in The Violence of Victimhood and the impetus for its call for renewed considerations of responsibility judgment compassion and nonviolent politics To address her provocative questions Diane Enns draws on an unusually wide ranging cast of characters from the fields of feminism philosophy peacebuilding political theory and psychoanalysis In the process she makes an original contribution to each enriching discussions that are otherwise constricted by disciplinary boundaries and an arid distinction between theory and practice

Transition to Peace Ho-Won Jeong, 2021-10-15 This book enhances our understanding of how societies torn by violence can be rebuilt Instabilities in those societies continue to be fuelled by political marginalization economic social inequality violent crimes and injustice Historically international response has been largely inadequate due to a failure of adaptation to local circumstances This collection focuses on how peacebuilding programmes can be more effectively carried out to create a more functional society In a nutshell this volume sheds light on local practice and experiences that can be utilized to meet unique circumstances of countries that have suffered from a destructive conflict The collection will investigate the transition to peace by highlighting the missing links between peacebuilding norms and practice political economy emotions justice and reconciliation

Restorative Justice in Transition Kerry Clamp, 2013-09-05 This book explores how restorative justice is used and what its potential benefits are in situations where the state has been either explicitly or implicitly involved in human rights abuses Restorative justice is increasingly becoming a popular mechanism to respond to crime in democratic settings and while there is a burgeoning literature on these contexts there is less information that focuses explicitly on its use in nations that have experienced protracted periods of conflict and oppression This book interrogates both macro and micro utilisations of restorative justice including truth commissions criminal justice reform and the development of initiatives by communities and other non state actors The central premise is that the primary potential of restorative justice in responding to international crime should be viewed in terms of the lessons that it provides for problem solving rather than its traditional role as a mechanism or process to respond to conflict Four values are put forward that should frame any restorative approach engagement empowerment reintegration and transformation It is thought that these values provide enough space for local actors to devise their own culturally relevant processes to achieve longstanding peace This book will be of interest to those conducting research in the fields of restorative justice transitional justice as well as criminology in general
