Spilling the Beans in Chicanolandia Frederick Luis Aldama, 2010-01-01 Since the 1980s a prolific second wave of Chicano a writers and artists has tremendously expanded the range of genres and subject matter in Chicano a literature and art Building on the pioneering work of their predecessors whose artistic creations were often tied to political activism and the civil rights struggle today's Chicano writers and artists feel free to focus as much on the aesthetic quality of their work as on its social content. They use novels, short stories, poetry, drama, documentary films, and comic books to shape the raw materials of life into art objects that cause us to participate empathetically in an increasingly complex Chicano identity and experience. This book presents far-ranging interviews with twenty-one second-wave Chicano poets, fiction writers, dramatists, documentary filmmakers, and playwrights. Some are mainstream, widely recognized creators, while others work from the margins because of their sexual orientations or their controversial positions. Frederick Luis Aldama draws out the artists and authors on both the aesthetic and the sociopolitical concerns that animate their work. Their conversations delve into such areas as how the artists or writers' life experiences have molded their work, why they choose to work in certain genres, and how they have transformed them, what it means to be Chicano in today's pluralistic society, and how Chicano identity influences and is influenced by contact with ethnic and racial identities from around the world.

Updating the Literary West, 1997. Western writers, says Thomas J. Lyon in his epilogue to Updating the Literary West, have grown up with the frontier myth but now find themselves in the early stages of creating a new western myth. The editors of the Literary History of the American West (TCU Press, 1987) hoped that the first volume would begin, not conclude, their exploration of the West's literary heritage. Out of this hope comes Updating the Literary West, a comprehensive reference anthology including essays by over one hundred scholars. A selected bibliography is included with each piece. In the ten years since publication of LHAW, western writing has developed a significantly larger presence in the national literary stream. A variety of cultural viewpoints have developed along with new tactics for literary study. New authors have risen to prominence, and the range of subjects has changed and widened. Updating the Literary West looks at topics ranging from western classics to cowboys and Cadillacs and considers children's literature, ethnicity, environmental writing, gender issues, and other topics in which change has been rapid since publication of LHAW. This volume again affirms the West's literary legitimacy, status hard-earned by the Western Literary Association, and the lasting place of popular western writing as part of the growing and changing literary and American experience. An excellent reference for a wide range of readers and an invaluable resource for scholars and libraries.

The Latino Continuum and the Nineteenth-Century Americas Carmen E. Lamas, 2021-03-09 The Latino Continuum and the Nineteenth Century Americas argues that the process of recovering Latina/o figures and writings in the nineteenth century does not merely create a bridge between the US and Latin American countries peoples and literatures as they are currently understood Instead it reveals their fundamentally interdependent natures politically socially historically and aesthetically thereby recognizing the degree of mutual imbrication of their peoples and literatures of the period Largely archived in Spanish it addresses concerns palpably felt within and integral to the US and beyond English language works also find a place on this continuum and have real implications for the political and cultural life of hispanophone and anglophone communities in the US Moreover the central role of Latina/o translations signal the global and the local nature of the continuum For the Latino Continuum embeds layered and complex political and literary contexts and overlooked histories situated as it is at the crossroads of both hemispheric and transatlantic currents of exchange often effaced by the logic of borders national cultural religious linguistic and temporal To recover this continuum of Latinidad which is neither confined to the US or Latin American nation states nor located primarily within them is to recover forgotten histories of the hemisphere and to find new ways of seeing the past as we have understood it The figures of the Félix Varela Miguel Teurbe Tolón Eusebio Guiteras José Martí and Martí de la Cruz Delgado serve as points of departures for this reconceptualization of the intersection between American Latin American Cuban and Latinx studies
