Reconstructing Historical Communities:

Reconstructing Historical Communities Alan MacFarlane, Sarah Harrison, Charles Jardine, 1977 Alan MacFarlane has studied the parishes of Earls Colne in Essex and Kirkby Lonsdale in Cumbria as well as other parishes and has undertaken anthropological fieldwork in a contemporary community in Nepal In collaboration with Sarah Harrison and Charles Jardine he has devised a method of collecting breaking down and then reintegrating historical records in a way which makes it possible to answer some of the sociological demographic anthropological geographical and other questions which interest many people For the amateur historian or genealogist who wants to know about a village or family the method makes it possible to find out almost everything that survives in historical documents concerning each person who lived in a village each plot of land and house Reconstructing historical communities, 1977 Reconstructing Historical Communities with a Computer A. MacFarlane, T. King, Social Science Research Council (Great Britain), 1981 Reconstructing Historical Communities with a Computer A. D. MacFarlane, Social Science Research Council (Great Britain), 1983 Reconstructing Historic Landmarks Wayne Brown, 2018-09-03 Historic reconstructions have been a consistent part of the historic preservation and heritage conservation movements in the United States and Canada Indeed reconstruction has been the primary tool at the most influential historic sites for example the Governor's Palace and the Capitol at Colonial Williamsburg USA and in Canada the Fortress of Louisbourg Dozens of other reconstructions have appeared during the past century in North America undertaken by individuals communities states and provinces and by national agencies responsible for cultural heritage Despite this prevalence historic reconstructions have received little scholarly attention and the question of what motivated the proponents of these projects remains largely unexamined This book explores that question through detailed studies of ten historic reconstructions located throughout Canada and the United States ranging from 1908 to 2011 Drawing upon diverse archival sources and site investigations the proponents of each site are given voice to address their need to remake these landmarks be it to sustain to challenge or even subvert a historical narrative or with reference to contemporary heritage studies to reclaim these spaces Reconstructing Historic Landmarks provides a fascinating insight into these shifting concepts of history in North America and will be of considerable interest both to students and scholars of historic preservation and indeed to heritage professionals involved in reconstructions themselves Reconstructing Historical Communities with a Computer C. J. Jardine, 1979 How to Make a Database in Historical Studies Tiago Luís Gil, 2021-07-27 This book is a greatly supplemented translation from Portuguese originally published in 2015 It discusses the most appropriate ways to create databases for research on history and other humanities including an extensive debate about the usages that historians have made of computing since the 1950s It has four chapters the first is dedicated to theoretical and methodical questions about the usage of databases in history the second is about technical issues the third presents the concept of research engineering how to improve research in groups the last is about the construction of databases The author states that the use of technology in research in history and humanities should be preceded and mediated by theories and methods which deal with these disciplines and not by technical issues The historian must know how to think correctly in order to use the technological tools in an autonomous way The book provides a background demonstrating how theory methodology and technique are always articulated in historical research and will appeal to history students and researchers

Creating Communities in Restoration England Samuel I. Thomas, Samuel S. Thomas, 2012-10-12 Through the extensive diaries of Presbyterian minister Oliver Heywood this book explores the role that individuals played in fashioning their religious communities during the Restoration as England stumbled from persecution towards a limited toleration of Protestant dissenters

The History of Old Age in England, 1600-1800, Part II vol 5 Lynn Botelho, Susannah R Ottaway, Anne Kugler, 2024-10-28 What did it mean to be old in seventeenth and eighteenth century England This eight volume edition brings together selections from medical treatises sermons legal documents parish records almshouse accounts private letters diaries and ballads to investigate cultural and medical understanding of old age in pre industrial England

Crime in Early Modern England 1550-1750 James A Sharpe, 2014-06-17 Still the only general survey of the topic available this widely used exploration of the incidence causes and control of crime in Early Modern England throws a vivid light on the times It uses court archives to capture vividly the everyday lives of people who would otherwise have left little mark on the historical record This new edition fully updated throughout incorporates new thinking on many issues including gender and crime changes in punishment and literary perspectives on crime

Constructing and Reconstructing History in Twentieth-Century German Architecture Alexander Luckmann, Volker M. Welter, 2025-02-11 The battle in architecture between the internationalist voices of modernism and the localized resistance which favored traditional technologies and regional precedents reflected in microcosm the violent and complex histories of twentieth century Germany The chapters in this book span the years from 1902 to 1991 and interrogate the ways in which architecture constructed and reconstructed these histories with a primary focus on those voices that were opposed to the dogmas of modernism All translated into English for the first time the chapters reflect the changing eras and contours of the German nation They were written in the German Empire 1871 1918 the Weimar Republic 1918 1933 the Third Reich 1933 1945 the Federal Republic of Germany and the German Democratic Republic GDR which both existed from 1949 to 1990 and finally the reunified Germany that came into being in 1990 when the former GDR and the reunified Berlin joined the Federal Republic of Germany The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Art in Translation

Historical Geography: Progress and Prospect Michael Pacione, 2013-01-11 Historical geography has been a major area of activity in recent years Much of the recent work and research findings have been extremely valuable to historians and archaeologists and as background to the study of contemporary geography This reissue first published in 1987 presents an overview of contemporary developments in all the major branches of the discipline As such it provides a valuable introduction to the subject a review of the latest state of the art and a pointer to future research directions      The Oxford Handbook of New Testament, Gender, and Sexuality Benjamin H. Dunning, 2019 The Oxford Handbook of Gender and Sexuality in the New Testament provides a roadmap to the relevant problems debates and issues that animate the study of sex gender sexuality and sexual difference in early Christianity Leading scholars in the field offer original contributions by way of synthesis critical interrogation and proposals for future research trajectories      Sources and Methods of Historical Demography J. Dennis Willigan, Katherine A. Lynch, 2013-10-22 Sources and Methods of Historical Demography covers the fundamental sources methods and approaches to explanatory modeling for describing analyzing and understanding demographic features of past societies The book discusses the intellectual ancestry of historical demographic research beginning in the 17th century as well as the logic of basic techniques for reconstructing and analyzing information from fundamental source materials The text also describes the full range of disciplines that have made major contributions to historical demography and examples of empirical research The book concludes by arguing the case for conducting historical demographic research with a broad interdisciplinary ideal in mind Historians and sociologists will find the book invaluable      Birth, Death, and Religious Faith in an English Dissenting Community Albion M. Urdank, 2015-12-17 This study lies at the intersection of three principal areas of social history demography religion and quantitative methods It is a microanalysis of an English population at the level of the Anglican parish during the era of the evangelical revival which includes unusually Protestant dissenters from the Established church in this case Particular Baptists who were moderate Calvinists It goes a step beyond previous studies by giving Anglicans and Dissenters co equal status in a comparative demographic analysis and by demonstrating how religious values informed procreative activity It does so through a combination of advanced statistical methodologies and an innovative treatment of data collection forms as readable texts The study concludes that the likelihood of another birth increased following a religious conversion experience especially among both Anglican and Baptist wives following marriage Mortality too had a less constraining effect on procreative activity which in conformity with the English experience was driven largely by fertility

Defining Community in Early Modern Europe Michael J. Halvorson, 2016-12-05 Numerous historical studies use the term community to express or comment on social relationships within geographic religious political social or literary settings yet this volume is the first systematic attempt to collect together important examples of this varied work in order to draw comparisons and conclusions about the definition of community across early modern Europe Offering a variety of historical and theoretical approaches the sixteen original essays in this collection survey major regions of Western Europe including France Geneva the German Lands Italy and the Spanish Empire the Netherlands England and Scotland Complementing the regional diversity is a broad spectrum of religious confessions Roman Catholic communities in France Italy and Germany Reformed churches in France Geneva and Scotland Lutheran communities in Germany Mennonites in Germany and the Netherlands English Anglicans Jews in Germany Italy and the Netherlands and Muslim converts returning to Christian

England This volume illuminates the variety of ways in which communities were defined and operated across early modern Europe as imposed by community leaders or negotiated across society as defined by belief behavior and memory as marked by rigid boundaries and conflict or by flexibility and change as shaped by art ritual charity or devotional practices and as characterized by the contending or overlapping boundaries of family religion and politics Taken together these chapters demonstrate the complex and changeable nature of community in an era more often characterized as a time of stark certainties and inflexibility As a result the volume contributes a vital resource to the ongoing efforts of scholars to understand the creation and perpetuation of communities and the significance of community definition for early modern Europeans

Microhistories Barry Reay, 2002-11-07 Microhistories Demography Society and Culture in Rural England 1800-1930 uses a local study of the Blean area of Kent in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries to explore some of the more significant societal changes of the modern western world Drawing on a wide range of research techniques including family reconstitution and oral history Barry Reay aims to show that the implication of the micro study can range way beyond its modest geographical and historical boundaries Combining cultural demographic economic and social history in a way rarely encountered in historical literature Professor Reay examines a range of topics including marriage and fertility health and mortality the work of women and children and illegitimacy and sexuality This 1996 book demonstrates the challenging potentials of microhistory and makes a central contribution to the new rural history It will be of interest to family and oral historians as well as to demographers and sociologists

Interpreting the Past, Understanding the Present Stephen Kendrick, David McCrone, Pat Straw, 2016-07-27 The British Sociological Association held a conference on the theme Sociology and History In 1964 E H Carr had called for an open frontier between the disciplines This book examines the traffic across this frontier and in particular what might be called the sociological uses of history

Lordship and Community Cord Oestmann, 1994 The everyday lives of ordinary villagers their attitudes and responses to their physical and spiritual surroundings are brought into close focus the impact of matters ranging from ecclesiastical reform to basic matters such as birth and death are revealed at all levels of village society in particular the relationship of the Lestrangle family to the village and its inhabitants

Societies, Cultures and Kinship 1580-1850 Charles Phythian-Adams, 2010-07-15 This work maps the cultural and physical divisions of medieval England It concentrates on the level of hierarchy immediately above individual local societies using detailed case studies of networks of linked communities in the East Midlands the South and East Anglia The societies studied are respectively on the periphery of a cultural province central to another such province and linked closely to a major urban centre The text is a synthesis of modern continental historical scholarship social anthropological and geographical techniques and English medieval history Included in the investigations are findings about the role of women in defining the sense of local community during the medieval period
