Reconstructing Space:

Reconstructing Past Monastic Life: Volume 2: Diet, Landscape and Monastic Space Lluís Lloveras, Carme Rissech, Jordi Nadal, Philip Banks, 2025-07-31 Explores the organization of diet food practices water management and spatial use within historical monastic complexes and landscapes Monasticism is a form of religious life in which participants renounce worldly activities to dedicate themselves primarily to spiritual matters living in small communities subject to a set of rules and isolated from the secular world Christian monasticism which originated at the end of the 3rd century in Egypt and North Africa spread to different parts of Europe in the 6th century However it was not until the Middle Ages that monastic communities became one of the most powerful institutions in Europe Monasteries and convents played a very important role not only as centers of spirituality but also as focal points of economic technological and cultural activity This multiplicity of activities carried out alongside their religious social and political roles make monasteries spaces that can be studied from very different perspectives and that unfailingly provide essential information about our history This second of two titles originates from an international conference that took place in Barcelona in January 2024 which sought to examine different aspects related to monastic life in the past and to promote and disseminate the results obtained in the latest studies undertaken within the framework of monastic complexes and their environments These include contributions and multidisciplinary studies from archaeological bioanthropological and or documentary perspectives Specialists from different disciplines present developments on the topic of monasticism from different fields of study such as zooarchaeology bioanthropology palaeopathology archaeology history documentary disciplines archives cultural heritage etc Volume 2 focuses on diet food practices water management and the organization and use of space within monastic complexes and landscapes

Reconstructing Agency in Developmental and Educational Psychology Paul Downes, 2019-09-05 This book reconstructs the foundations of developmental and educational psychology and fills an important gap in the field by arguing for a specific spatial turn so that human growth experience and development focus not only on time but space This regards space not simply as place Highlighting concrete cross cultural relational spaces of concentric and diametric spatial systems the book argues that transition between these systems offers a new paradigm for understanding agency and inclusion in developmental and educational psychology and for relating experiential dimensions to causal explanations The chapters examine key themes for developing concentric spatial systemic responses in education including school climate bullying violence early school leaving prevention and students voices Moreover the book proposes an innovative framework of agency as movement between concentric and diametric spatial relations for a reconstruction of resilience This model addresses the vital neglected issue of resistance to sheer cultural conditioning and goes beyond the foundational ideas of Bronfenbrenner's ecological systems theory as well as Vygotsky Skinner Freud Massey Bruner Gestalt and postmodern psychology to reinterpret them in dynamic spatial systemic terms Written by an internationally renowned expert this book is a valuable resource for academics researchers and postgraduate students in the areas of educational and developmental psychology as well as related areas such as personality theory health psychology social work teacher education and anthropology

Reconstructing Biblical Dead Sea Scrolls Edward Herbert, 2018-11-26 The first part of the book develops a battery of scientifically based tools to aid the reconstruction of biblical Dead Sea Scrolls which when applied together substantially improve the quality of reconstruction attainable The focus then moves to the important non masoretic but fragmentary biblical scroll 4QSama for which sixty two new fragment identifications and an analysis of the character of the scroll are presented Based upon this a detailed reconstruction of the 4QSama fragments of 2 Samuel is undertaken revealing 55% more deviations from the Masoretic text than had previously been identified The effectiveness of the new method is thus demonstrated Data concerning the support of key Hebrew and Greek witnesses provides a valuable foundation for the study of the history and development of the biblical text

Hipsterism Tara Semple, 2022-10-30 This Open Access book utilises Hipsterism to demonstrate modes of identity collectivity conceptions and a whole spectrum of activities with varying degrees of commitment in contemporary society Analysed through the lens of Modernity Consumerism and the New Spirit of Capitalism it draws on qualitative research from two subsequent field stays in Berlin and is complemented by self reflexion within the field Young adults and their conceptions within modernity capitalism and consumerism constitute a fundamental building block to understanding society Little sociological work has been done in the field of Hipsterism although it can function as a paradigm for western affluent societies With tools such as conscious consumption conversations and ethical or creative work within a politically intended lifestyle Hipsterism emerges as an attempt to navigate between individualism and collectivity Resulting from these circumstances are a variety of forms of action while searching for better ways to contribute and engage at the same time Attempts to dissolve milieus and try to construct spaces where different cultures classes and ethnicities are welcome might fail in spatial practice but the practices in sum still leave a trace in consumer culture All these activities hint at the potential of transformative and negotiating power that Hipsterism could have This is an open access book

Tracing Manuscripts in Time and Space through Paratexts Giovanni Ciotti, Hang Lin, 2016-07-25 As records of the link between a manuscript and the texts it contains paratexts document many aspects of a manuscript s life production transmission usage and reception Comprehensive studies of paratexts are still rare in the field of manuscript studies and the universal categories of time and space are used to create a common frame for research and comparisons Contributions in this volume span over three continents and one millennium

Space Technologies for the Benefit of Human Society and Earth Phillip Olla, 2009-03-18 Overview of Space Technology It has been over 50 years since the rst satellite was sent into orbit and the impact of space technology can be felt in many aspects in our day to day life In addition to the convenience of knowing exactly where we are on the planet via GPS satellites or deciding what to pack for a trip based on forecasts from weather satellites watching CNN in a remote village via broadcasting satellites there are now some crucial environmental uses of

Space technologies in the areas of natural resources management and environmental monitoring Remotely sensed data reveals an unparalleled view of the Earth for systems that require synoptic or periodic observations such as inventory control surveying agriculture business mineralogy hydrography geology land mass cover land utilization and environment monitoring The advancement of remote sensing has made remote sensed data more affordable and available to merge with a variety of data sources to create mash ups The amalgamation of these data sources into disciplines such as agriculture urban planning web applications cartography geodetic reference systems and global navigation satellite systems are an important advancement of space applications and space science Space Technology and Millennium Development Goals MDGs The MDGs are a set of time bound measurable goals and targets that are global as well as country specific for combating poverty hunger diseases illiteracy environmental degradation and discrimination against women Domicide Ammar

Azzouz,2023-07-13 The city of Homs like so many places in Syria has suffered mass destruction since the war began in 2011 So far the architectural response to the crisis has focused on cultural heritage ancient architecture and the external displacement of refugees often neglecting the everyday lives of Syrians and the buildings that make up their homes and communities In Domicide Ammar Azzouz uses the notion of the home to address the destruction in cities like Homs the displacement of Syrian people both externally and internally and to explore how cities can be rebuilt without causing further damage to the communities that live there Drawing on interviews with those working in the built environment professions both inside and outside of Syria but also Syrians from other backgrounds who have become architects in their own way as they were forced to repair and rebuild their homes by themselves Domicide offers fresh insight into the role of the architect during time of war and explores how the future reconstruction of cities should mirror the wants and needs the traditions and ways of living of local communities Focusing on Homs but offering a blueprint for other urban areas of conflict across Syria and the wider world the book is essential reading for researchers in architecture urban planning heritage studies and conflict studies Society and Settlement Aharon Kellerman,2012-03-21 This book scrutinizes the interrelationships between Jewish spatial organization and social structure and change in Palestine Israel Kellerman analyzes the development of nationwide and regional settlements and reasons for spatial and territorial choices such as cooperative villages He uncovers the extreme differences between the old and the new in Jewish settlement patterns and discusses the implications for cultural development economic functions urban spirit and international status in evolving Israeli society Asian/American

David Palumbo-Liu,1999 This book argues that the invention of Asian American identities serves as an index to the historical formation of modern America By tracing constructions of Asian American to an interpenetrating dynamic between Asia and America the author obtains a deeper understanding of key issues in American culture history and society The formation of America in the twentieth century has had everything to do with westward expansion across the Pacific frontier and the movement of Asians onto American soil After the passage of the last piece of anti Asian legislation in the 1930 s the United States found it had to grapple with both the presence of Asians already in America and the imperative to develop its neocolonial interests in East Asia The author argues that under these double imperatives a great wall between Asian and American is constructed precisely when the two threatened to merge Yet the very incompleteness of American identity has allowed specific and contingent fusion of Asian and American at particular historical junctures From the importation of Asian labor in the mid nineteenth century the territorialization of Hawaii and the Philippines in the late nineteenth century through wars with Japan Korea and Vietnam and the Cold War with China to today s Asian Pacific Economic Cooperation group the United States in the modern age has seen its national identity as strongly attached to the Pacific As this has taken place so has the formation of a variety of Asian American identities Each contains a specific notion of America and reveals a particular conception of Asian and American Complicating the usual notion of identity politics and drawing on a wide range of writings sociological historical cultural medical anthropological geographic economic journalistic and political the author studies both how the formation of these identifications discloses the response of America to the presence of Asians and how Asian Americans themselves have inhabited these roles and resisted such categorizations inventing their own particular subjectivities as Americans

Politics of Documentary Michael Chanan, 2019-07-25 This wide ranging study traces the history of the documentary from the first Lumiere films to Michael Moore s Fahrenheit 9 11 Chanan argues that documentary makes a vital contribution to the public sphere where ideas are debated opinion formed and those in authority are held to account

Excavating Pilgrimage Troels Myrup Kristensen, Wiebke Friese, 2017-02-03 This volume sheds new light on the significance and meaning of material culture for the study of pilgrimage in the ancient world focusing in particular on Classical and Hellenistic Greece the Roman Empire and Late Antiquity It thus discusses how archaeological evidence can be used to advance our understanding of ancient pilgrimage and ritual experience The volume brings together a group of scholars who explore some of the rich archaeological evidence for sacred travel and movement such as the material footprint of different activities undertaken by pilgrims the spatial organization of sanctuaries and the wider catchment of pilgrimage sites as well as the relationship between architecture art and ritual Contributions also tackle both methodological and theoretical issues related to the study of pilgrimage sacred travel and other types of movement to from and within sanctuaries through case studies stretching from the first millennium BC to the early medieval period

The Social Life of Memory Norman Saadi Nikro, Sonja Hegasy, 2017-11-19 This edited volume addresses memory practices among youth families cultural workers activists and engaged citizens in Lebanon and Morocco In making a claim for the social life of memory the introduction discusses a particular research field of memory studies elaborating an approach to memory in terms of social production and engagement The Arab Spring is evoked to draw attention to new rifts within and between history and remembrance in the regions of North Africa and the Middle East As authoritarian forms of governance are challenged official panoramic narratives are confronted with a multiplicity of memories of violent pasts The eight chapters trace personal and public inventories of violence trauma and testimony addressing memory in cinema in newspapers and periodicals as an experience of public environments through transnational and diasporic mediums and amongst younger generations

A War of Colors Nadine A. Sinno, 2024-04-02 Demonstrates the role of Beirut's postwar graffiti and street art in transforming the cityscape and animating resistance Over the last two decades in Beirut graffiti makers have engaged in a fierce war of colors seeking to disrupt and transform the city's physical and social spaces In A War of Colors Nadine Sinno examines how graffiti and street art have been used in postwar Beirut to comment on the rapidly changing social dynamics of the country and region Analyzing how graffiti makers can reclaim and transform cityscapes that were damaged or monopolized by militias during the war Sinno explores graffiti's other roles including forging civic engagement commemorating cultural icons protesting political corruption and environmental violence and animating resistance In addition she argues that graffiti making can offer voices to those who are often marginalized especially women and LGBTQ people Copiously illustrated with images of graffiti and street art A War of Colors is a visually captivating and thought provoking journey through Beirut where local and global discourses intersect on both scarred and polished walls in the city The Political Life of Urban Streetscapes Reuben Rose-Redwood, Derek Alderman, Maoz Azaryahu, 2017-07-06 Streetscapes are part of the taken for granted spaces of everyday urban life yet they are also contested arenas in which struggles over identity memory and place shape the social production of urban space This book examines the role that street naming has played in the political life of urban streetscapes in both historical and contemporary cities The renaming of streets and remaking of urban commemorative landscapes have long been key strategies that different political regimes have employed to legitimize spatial assertions of sovereign authority ideological hegemony and symbolic power Over the past few decades a rich body of critical scholarship has explored the politics of urban toponymy and the present collection brings together the works of geographers anthropologists historians linguists planners and political scientists to examine the power of street naming as an urban place making practice Covering a wide range of case studies from cities in Europe North America Sub Saharan Africa and Asia the contributions to this volume illustrate how the naming of streets has been instrumental to the reshaping of urban spatial imaginaries and the cultural politics of place The Great Reimagining Bree T. Hocking, 2015-02-01 While sectarian violence has greatly diminished on the streets of Belfast and Derry proxy battles over the right to define Northern Ireland's identity through its new symbolic landscapes continue Offering a detailed ethnographic account of Northern Ireland's post conflict visual transformation this book examines the official effort to produce new civic images against a backdrop of ongoing political and social struggle Interviews with politicians policymakers community leaders cultural workers and residents shed light on the deeply contested nature of seemingly harmonized urban landscapes in societies undergoing radical structural change Here the public art process serves as a vital means to understanding the wider politics of a transforming public sphere in an age of globalization and transnational connectivity
