50 World-Record Writing Prompts Justin McCorry Martin, 2001-12 Get even your most reluctant writers pencils moving with these meaningful prompts based on totally intriguing world records from the oldest tree to the fastest mammal A kid pleasing way to meet the language arts standards Great for daily writing or journals For use with Grades 3-6 Thinking, Recording, and Writing History in the Ancient World Kurt A. Raaflaub, 2013-11-08 Thinking Recording and Writing History in the Ancient World presents a cross cultural comparison of the ways in which ancient civilizations thought about the past and recorded their own histories Written by an international group of scholars working in many disciplines Truly cross cultural covering historical thinking and writing in ancient or early cultures across in East South and West Asia the Mediterranean and the Americas Includes historiography shaped by religious perspectives including Judaism early Christianity Islam and Buddhism

From Memory to Written Record Michael T. Clanchy, 2012-07-05 This seminal work of scholarship which traces the development of literacy in medieval England is now fully updated in a third edition This book serves as an introduction to medieval books and documents for graduate students throughout the world Features a completely re written first chapter Memories and Myths of the Norman Conquest and a new postscript by the author reflecting on the reception to the original publication and discussing recent scholarship on medieval literacy Includes a revised guide to further reading and a revision of the plates which illustrate medieval manuscripts in detail Writing Ancient History Luke Pitcher, 2010-01-30 History is the version of past events that people have decided to agree upon said Napoleon Yet the actual writing of history especially ancient history is a practice that often prompts more discord than assent In his new textbook Luke Pitcher aims to overcome the hostility which exists between two rival camps in their study of classical historiography The first camp looks at the classical historians with an eye to what data they can provide about the ancient world The second camp examines the ancient writers as literary texts in their own right employing the tools of literary criticism and engaging with such matters as narrative artistry Attempting to fuse these two mutually suspicious approaches Luke Pitcher's attractive introduction offers undergraduate students of classics the first comprehensive introduction to historiography in antiquity on the market It unites the nitty gritty of the historian's trade the finding and managing of data to an awareness of the importance of style form allusion and composition The book also seeks to do justice to individual classical historians and discusses such important figures as Livy Tacitus Herodotus Cicero Plutarch and Lucian A comprehensive bibliography and glossary are included Writing Ancient History at last does full justice to the mechanics of history writing in the ancient world

Writing Cultural History in Colonial and Postcolonial India Henry Schwarz,2016-11-11 During the colonial period in India English historians portrayed the British conquest and domination of India as the realization of a historic destiny absorbing the particular history of India into the overarching narrative of the Empire When Indian scholars educated in the British system began to write their own histories of the period they had to struggle to reclaim their past and to make the Indian people the subject of their history Henry Schwarz explores this struggle through an analysis of Indian cultural histories written between 1870 and the present Focusing on English language texts written by Bengali historians on the subjects of literature and culture Schwarz critically analyzes landmark works of the genre and compares Indian writing about cultural heritage to the dominant forms of European historiography prevalent during the colonial period Indian historians incorporated European aesthetic standards and theories of history into their writing yet they managed to transform these ideas in ways that challenged British ideological domination Schwarz shows how in writing a distinctly Indian history of India they produced a unique historiographical style of great complexity deploying brilliant reconfigurations of the dominant themes styles ideologies and tropes that characterize acceptable modes of history writing in the West Moving from the late nineteenth century to the present Schwarz identifies six distinct modes of translation and transformation produced by these writers ranging from liberal nationalist text to those of writers associated with the Subaltern Studies project He analyzes the narrative modes employed during the period and traces the movement toward the metaphoric and ironic styles of the post Independence era Writing Cultural History in Colonial and Postcolonial India provides a needed counterweight to the emphasis on colonial discourse that has come to dominate recent postcolonial scholarship By examining how the colonized interpreted and transformed the experience of oppression through their own work this book represents postcolonial studies written from the other side
