Transcultural English Studies Frank Schulze-Engler, Sissy Helff, 2009 What is most strikingly new about the transcultural is its sudden ubiquity Following in the wake of previous concepts in cultural and literary studies such as creolization hybridity and syncretism and signalling a family relationship to terms such as transnationality translocality and transmigration transcultural terminology has unobtrusively but powerfully edged its way into contemporary theoretical and critical discourse The four sections of this volume denote major areas where transcultural questions and problematics have come to the fore theories of culture and literature that have sought to account for the complexity of culture in a world increasingly characterized by globalization transnationalization and interdependence realities of individual and collective life worlds shaped by the ubiquity of phenomena and experiences relating to transnational connections and the blurring of cultural boundaries fictions in literature and other media that explore these realities negotiate the fuzzy edges of ethnic or national cultures and participate in the creation of transnational public spheres as well as transcultural imaginations and memories and finally pedagogy and didactics where earlier models of teaching other cultures are faced with the challenge of coming to terms with cultural complexity both in what is being taught and in the people it is taught to and where target cultures have become elusive The idea of locating culture and literature exclusively in the context of ethnicities or nations is rapidly losing plausibility throughout an English speaking world that has long since been multi rather than monolingual Exploring the prospects and contours of Transcultural English Studies thus reflects a set of common challenges and predicaments that in recent years have increasingly moved centre stage not only in the New Literatures in English but also in British and American studies

Spain and Portugal Samuel Astley Dunham,1882 Canadian Books in Print. Author and Title Index ,1975 The History of Spain and Portugal [S. A. Dunham] ,1832 Bi-Polar Recovery Suzan Arisoy,2011-06-01

Description Suzan Arisoy has had Bi polar Disorder for twenty years Over the course of those years she wrote some poems that she feels describe the essence of her experience from the inside out They are published here with some writing about each one Suzan wanted to explain the poems and where she was at at the time of writing them Suzan hopes her poetry will not only resonate with people who have experienced something similar but may help other especially health professionals to understand what it feels like to live with Bi polar Disorder She said If what I have written helps just one person in any way then I have made a difference These poems mean a lot to me as they represent the blood sweat and tears of twenty years If that blood and sweat and those tears help someone else in their distress then it hasn t all been for nothing I believe that the most positive thing to come out of this illness would be to transform the pain into a light that shines the way for someone in need or that sheds some light on a difficult subject and changes someone s perception About the Author Suzan Arisoy was born in Clapton and brought up in Tottenham and later Bethnal Green She had her first experience of Bi polar Disorder when she was twenty although she wasn t diagnosed until she was thirty two and in a psychiatric unit Suzan who is now 40 currently lives in Woodford Green Essex with Andrew her partner of sixteen years her two sons Ashiq and Jordan aged 19 and 11 respectively and their two cats Misty and Simba
