others The Traffic in Women's Work Anca Parvulescu, 2014-05-19 Welcome to the European family When East European countries joined the European Union under this banner after 1989 they agreed to the free movement of goods services capital and persons In this book Anca Parvulescu analyzes an important niche in this imagined European kinship the traffic in women or the circulation of East European women in West Europe in marriage and as domestic servants nannies personal attendants and entertainers Analyzing film national policies and an impressive range of work by theorists from Giorgio Agamben to Judith Butler she develops a critical lens through which to think about the transnational continuum of women's work Parvulescu revisits Claude Lévi Strauss's concept of kinship and its rearticulation by second wave feminists particularly Gayle Rubin to show that kinship has traditionally been anchored in the traffic in women Reading recent cinematic texts that help frame this she reveals that in contemporary Europe East European migrant women are exchanged to engage in labor customarily performed by wives within the institution of marriage Tracing a pattern of what she calls Americanization Parvulescu argues that these women thereby become responsible for the labor of reproduction A fascinating cultural study as much about the consequences of the enlargement of the European Union as women's mobility The Traffic in Women's Work questions the foundations of the notion of Europe today Little Red Readings Angela E. Hubler, 2014-04-29 A significant body of scholarship examines the production of children's literature by women and minorities as well as the representation of gender race and sexuality But few scholars have previously analyzed class in children's literature This definitive collection remedies that by defining and exemplifying historical materialist approaches to children's literature The introduction of Little Red Readings lucidly discusses characteristics of historical materialism the methodological approach to the study of literature and culture first outlined by Karl Marx defining key concepts and analyzing factors that have marginalized this tradition particularly in the United States The thirteen essays here analyze a wide range of texts from children's bibles to Mary Poppins to The Hunger Games using concepts in historical materialism from class struggle to the commodity Essayists apply the work of Marxist theorists such as Ernst Bloch and Fredric Jameson to children's literature and film Others examine the work of leftist writers in India Germany England and the United States The authors argue that historical materialist methodology is critical to the study of children's literature as children often suffer most from inequality Some of the critics in this collection reveal the ways that literature for children often functions to naturalize capitalist economic and social relations Other critics champion literature that reveals to readers the construction of social reality and point to texts that enable an understanding of the role ordinary people might play in creating a more just future The collection adds substantially to our understanding of the political and class character of children's literature worldwide and contributes to the development of a radical history of children's literature Encyclopedia of Leadership George R.
