It deals with the years 1930 to 1970 a period when the number of yearly new plays was shrinking but a period during which American drama as a whole entered the world stage and became a dominant force. With works like Eugene O'Neill's Long Day's Journey Into Night Tennessee Williams's A Streetcar Named Desire and Arthur Miller's Death of a Salesman American theater finally reached adulthood both dramatically and psychologically. Bordman's lively authoritative study covers every Broadway production as well as every major off Broadway show. His discussion moves season by season and show by show in chronological order he offers plot synopses and details the physical production directors players theaters and newspaper reviews. This book and the preceding volumes of American Theatre stand as the premier history of American drama. Final
