Rutland Images Of America Series:

Vermont's Marble Industry Catherine Miglorie, 2013 The marble deposits in Vermont are some of the richest in the world Go deep into these quarries of the Green Mountain State to show how the stone is sawed and raised from the earth to be cut polished and carved into monuments and structures that are spread across the country California Dreams and American Contradictions Monique McDade, 2023-03 California Dreams and American Contradictions establishes a genealogy of western American women writers publishing between 1870 and 1965 to argue that both white women and women of color regionalized dominant national literary trends to negotiate the contradictions between an American liberal individualism and American equality Monique McDade analyzes works by Mar a Amparo Ruiz de Burton Helen Hunt Jackson Sui Sin Far and a previously unstudied African American writer Eva Rutland to trace an archive of western American women writers who made visible what dominant genres subsumed under images of American progress and westward expansion Read together these writers provide new entry points into the political debates that have plagued the United States since the nation s founding and that set the precedent for westward expansion Their romances regional sketches memoirs and journalism point to the inherently antagonistic relationship between a Rooseveltian rugged individualism that encouraged an Anglo male dominated West and the progressive equality and opportunity the West seemingly promised disenfranchised citizens The writers included in California Dreams and American Contradictions challenged literature s role in creating regional division conformist communities that support nationally sponsored images of gendered ethnic and immigrant others and liberal histories validated through a strategic vocabulary rooted in freedom equality and progress Around Pittsford Armitage, Peggy, Pittsford Historical Society Inc., 2009-03-09 Winding north through Pittsford Otter Creek has powered the lumber grain and marble mills essential to this region since 1770 Chittenden lies east of Pittsford on the west flank of the Green Mountains where iron and manganese deposits supplied Pittsford's iron industry To the south Pittsford and Proctor share deep marble formations that support the economies of both towns The first settlers were farmers drawn to the valleys fertile soil and mountain forests They were joined by lumber barons lawyers merchants and artists European and French Canadian immigrants soon followed and farmed built the railroad or quarried and carved marble Closely linked by the industries that helped build them these communities have evolved into today's thriving hometowns of workers in Rutland Vermont History, 2014 Events, Exhibitions, and Programs National Endowment for the Humanities. Division of Public Programs, 1997-04 For Consideration Of Parental Love And Good Will.pdf Scott William Barker, 2009 Thomas Jefferson's Image of New England Arthur Scherr, 2016-10-05 Writers often depict Thomas Jefferson as a narrow minded defender of states rights and Virginia s interests despite his authorship of the Declaration of Independence and vigorous defense of the young republic s sovereignty Some historians claim he was particularly hostile to the New England states whose Federalist electorate he regarded as enemies of his Democratic Republican Party This study of Jefferson s lifelong relationship with New England reveals him to be a consistent nationalist and friend of the region from his first visit to Boston in 1784 to his recruiting of Massachusetts scholars to teach at the University of Virginia His nationalist point of view is most evident where some historians claim to see it least in his opinions of the people and politics of New England He admired New Englanders Revolutionary patriotism especially that of his friend John Adams and considered their direct democracy and town meeting traditions a model for the rest of the Union Photo-Era Magazine, the American Journal of Photography

The Billboard ,1927 The American Stationer ,1882 A Mere Kentucky of a Place Keith Harper,2023-08-18 As the story goes an itinerant preacher once visited the Bluegrass region and proclaimed heaven to be a mere Kentucky of a place The Commonwealth's first Baptists certainly thought so as they began settling the region a decade before statehood By 1785 a group of pioneering preachers formed the Elkhorn Association widely regarded as the oldest Baptist association west of the Alleghenies Often portrayed in the historiography as the vanguard of a new frontier democracy the Elkhorn Association on closer inspection reveals itself to be far more complex In A Mere Kentucky of a Place Keith Harper argues that the association's Baptist ministers were neither full fledged frontier egalitarians nor radical religionists but simply a people in transition These ministers formed their identities in the crucible of the early national period challenged by competing impulses including their religious convictions Jeffersonian Republicanism and a rigid honor code with mixed results With a keen eye for human interest Harper brings familiar historical figures such as John Gano and Elijah Craig to life as he analyzes leadership in the Elkhorn Association during the early republic Mining the wealth of documents left by the association Harper details the self aware struggle of these leaders to achieve economic wealth status and full social and cultural acceptance demonstrating that the Elkhorn Association holds a unique place in the story of Baptists in the New Eden of Kentucky Ideal for course adoption in religious studies and students of Kentucky history this readable work is sure to become a standard source on the history of religion on the Kentucky frontier

Political Antislavery Discourse and American Literature of the 1850s David Grant,2012-03-22 This study examines how the political anti slavery challenge to the North informed American literature of the 1850s As the works of Stowe Whittier Willis and Whitman reveal the political discourse and literature were branches of the same project to expose compromise with Journal of the American Medical Association American Medical Association,1897 Includes proceedings of the Association papers read at the annual sessions and list of current medical literature
