The Iberian Bases of the English Art of Navigation in the Sixteenth Century David Waters, 1970 The Rutters of the Sea Pierre Garcie, 1958 Charting Shakespearean Waters Niels Bugge Hansen, Søs Haugaard, 2005 This volume contains 11 new papers on Shakespeare written by members of the Department of English at the University of Copenhagen and other Danish universities plus a few international Shakespeare scholars They fit into an overall theme and are included because they are about Shakespeare as text as theatre in his age and through the ages Beside showing many different ways of thinking and writing about Shakespeare the eleven articles fall into a pattern if read together in the order they are printed The papers are varied and wide ranging contemporary contexts tradition language and style performance translation and modern appropriation

The Rutters of the Sea Pierre Garcie (called Ferrande), David Watkin Waters, 1967 Tracks on the Ocean Sara Caputo, 2024-10-22 An engaging look at ocean routes complicated beginnings and elusive impact Sara Caputo's Tracks on the Ocean is a sweeping history of how we have understood routes of travel over the ocean and how we came to represent that movement as a cartographical line Focusing on the representation of sea journeys in the Western world from the early sixteenth century to the present Caputo deftly argues that the depiction of these lines is inextricable from European imperialism the rise of modernity and attempts at mastery over nature Caputo recounts the history of ocean tracks through an array of lively stories and characters from the expeditions of Captain James Cook in the eighteenth century to tracks depicted in Moby Dick and popular culture of the nineteenth century to the use of navigational techniques by the British navy She discusses how tracks evolved from tools of surveying into tools of surveillance and eventually into paths of environmental calamity The impulse to record tracks on the ocean is Caputo argues reflective of an ongoing desire for order schematization and personal visibility as well as occupation and permanent ownership in this case over something that is unoccupiable and impossible to truly possess Both beautifully written and deeply researched Tracks on the Ocean shares how the lines drawn on maps tell the audacious and often tragic and violent stories of ocean voyages

The Practical Renaissance Donna A. Seger, 2022-02-10 What sort of information did people in early modern England seek In The Practical Renaissance Donna Seger explores the diffusion and reception of prescriptive publications over the 16th and 17th centuries Published in an age of dynamic religious and political change these texts demonstrate the universal desire for health and wealth a fortified body and an orderly household Showing how classical and continental information had been Englished over time this book shows how new publications supplanted these traditional ideas with more empirical and authoritative knowledge Published in an age of dynamic religious and political change these texts which include plague tracts husbandry handbooks printed recipe books and navigation manuals demonstrate the universal desire for health and wealth a fortified body and an orderly household Divided into three parts the opening chapters explore factors which affected the diffusion of practical knowledge via prescriptive texts Part two focuses on the interaction between new discoveries and traditional authority and the final section considers debates in the medical marketplace the term knowledge mongerer and the commodification of knowledge at this time A thorough exploration into the popular and pragmatic expressions of the period The Practical Renaissance offers a new window into the movement in which knowledge and information became power The Social History of English Seamen, 1485-1649 Cheryl A. Fury, 2012 Investigates the lives of common sailors engaged in commerce exploration privateering and piracy and naval actions during Tudor and Stuart periods Travel in the Byzantine World Ruth Macrides, 2017-07-05 This latest volume in the SPBS series makes a notable contribution to our understanding both of the evidence for travel and of the realities and perceptions of communications in the Byzantine world Four aspects of travel in the Byzantine world from the 6th to the 15th century are examined technicalities of travel on land and sea purposes of travel foreign visitors perceptions of Constantinople and the representation of the travel experience in images and in written accounts Sources used to illuminate these aspects include descriptions of journeys pilot books bilingual word lists shipwrecks monastic documents but as the opening paper shows the range of such sources can be far wider than generally supposed The contributors highlight road and travel conditions for horses and humans types of ships and speed of sea journeys the nature of trade in the Mediterranean the continuity of pilgrimage to the Holy Land attitudes toward travel Patterns of communication in the Mediterranean are revealed through distribution of ceramic finds letter collections and the spread of the plague Unsettled Patricia Fumerton, 2006-05 Migrants made up a growing class of workers in late sixteenth and seventeenth century England In fact by 1650 half of England's rural population consisted of homeless and itinerant laborers Unsettled is an ambitious attempt to reconstruct the everyday lives of these dispossessed people Patricia Fumerton offers an expansive portrait of unsettledness in early modern England that includes the homeless and housed alike Fumerton begins by building on recent studies of vagrancy poverty and servants placing all in the light of a new domestic economy of mobility She then looks at representations of the vagrant in a variety of pamphlets and literature of the period Since seamen were a particularly large and prominent class of mobile wage laborers in the seventeenth century Fumerton turns to seamen generally and to an individual poor seaman as a case study of the unsettled subject Edward Barlow b 1642 provides a rare opportunity to see how the laboring poor fashioned themselves for he authored a journal of over 225 000 words and 147 pages of drawings Barlow's journal studied extensively here for the first time vividly charts what he himself termed his unsettled mind and the perpetual anxieties of England's working and wayfaring poor Ultimately Fumerton explores representations of seamen as unsettled in the broadside ballads of Barlow's time Mobility in the Early Middle Ages, and Beyond - Mobilität im Frühmittelalter und darüber hinaus Laury Sarti, Helene von Trott zu Solz, 2025-04-21 This interdisciplinary volume deals with new methodological approaches to studying early medieval mobility The chapters address innovative methods from the fields of history archaeology and the natural sciences discussing the potential and limits of each methodological approach and shining the spotlight on historical and archaeological as well as scientific methods

Miscellanea cartographica C. Koeman, 2025-01-27 Edited by P van der Krogt and G Schilder Contains the most important studies by professor Koeman republished on the occasion of his seventieth birthday The Mariner's Mirror Leonard George Carr Laughton, Roger Charles Anderson, William Gordon Perrin, 1920 The European Discovery of America Samuel Eliot Morison, 1971 The Age of Discovery, 1400-1600 David Arnold, 2013-09-27 The Age of Discovery explores one of the most dramatic features of the late medieval and early modern period when voyagers from Western Europe led by Spain and Portugal set out across the world and established links with Africa Asia and the Americas This book examines the main motivations behind the voyages and discusses the developments in navigation expertise and technology that made them possible This second edition brings the scholarship up to date and includes two new chapters on the important topics of the idea of discovery and on biological and environmental factors which favoured or limited European expansion

English/British Naval History to 1815 Eugene L. Rasor, 2004-10-30 The English British have always been known as the sailor race with hearts of oak the Royal Navy as the Senior Service and First Line of Defense It facilitated the motto The sun never set on the British Empire The Royal Navy has exerted a powerful influence on Great Britain its Empire Europe and ultimately the world This superior annotated bibliography supplies entries that explore the influence of the English British Navy through its history This survey will provide a major reference guide for students and scholars at all levels It incorporates evaluative qualitative and critical analysis processes the essence of historical scholarship Each one of the 4 124 annotated entries is evaluated assessed analyzed integrated and incorporated into the historiographical scholarship

Mapping and Charting in Early Modern England and France Christine Petto, 2015-03-26 Mapping and Charting for the Lion and the Lily Map and Atlas Production in Early Modern England and France is a comparative study of the production and role of maps charts and atlases in early modern England and France with a particular focus on Paris the cartographic center of production from the late seventeenth century to the late eighteenth century and London which began to emerge in the late eighteenth century to eclipse the once favored Bourbon center The themes that carry through the work address the role of government in map and chart making In France in particular it is the importance of the centralized government and its support for geographic works and their makers through a broad and deep institutional infrastructure Prior to the late eighteenth century in England there was no central controlling agency or institution for map chart or atlas production and any official power was imposed through the market rather than through the establishment of institutions There was no centralized support for the cartographic enterprise and any effort by the crown was often challenged by the power of Parliament which saw little value in fostering or supporting scholar geographers or a national survey This book begins with an investigation of the imagery of power on map and atlas frontispieces from the late sixteenth century to the seventeenth century In the succeeding chapters the focus moves from county and regional mapping efforts in England and France to the paper wars over encroachment in their respective colonial interests The final study looks at charting efforts and highlights the role of government support and the commercial trade in the development of maritime charts not only for the home waters of the English Channel but the distant and dangerous seas of the East Indies The Seaforth Bibliography Eugene

Rasor,2009-04-17 This remarkable work is a comprehensive historiographical and bibliographical survey of the most important scholarly and printed materials about the naval and maritime history of England and Great Britain from the earliest times to 1815 More than 4 000 popular standard and official histories important articles in journals and periodicals anthologies conference symposium and seminar papers guides documents and doctoral theses are covered so that the emphasis is the broadest possible But the work is far far more than a listing The works are all evaluated assessed and analysed and then integrated into an historical narrative that makes the book a hugely useful reference work for student scholar and enthusiast alike It is divided into twenty one chapters which cover resource centres significant naval writers pre eminent and general histories the chronological periods from Julius Caesar through the Vikings Tudors and Stuarts to Nelson and Bligh major naval personalities warships piracy strategy and tactics exploration discovery and navigation archaeology and even naval fiction Quite simply no one with an interest and enthusiasm for naval history can afford to be without this book at their side Sailing - as Life in Christ Les Galicinski,2014-04-25 People have long been captivated by sailboats

Like white gulls in flight they move effortlessly through wind and water in a graceful dance that challenges the elements and speaks of a magnificent freedom So it is also with people born of the Spirit They have an uncanny ability to overcome adversity and move through life with a resiliency that inspires awe In this brief volume Dr Les Galicinski takes the reader through his personal discovery of sailing as a metaphor for life lived in the Christ boat Whether you are an avid sailor or know nothing at all about sailing you will discover an invigorating new way of experiencing the Christian life
