Scribbling The Cat Travels With An African Soldier:

Scribbling the Cat Alexandra Fuller, 2005-04-26 When Alexandra Bo Fuller was home in Zambia a few years ago visiting her parents for Christmas she asked her father about a nearby banana farmer who was known for being a tough bugger Her father s response was a warning to steer clear of him he told Bo Curiosity scribbled the cat Nonetheless Fuller began her strange friendship with the man she calls K a white African and veteran of the Rhodesian war With the same fiercely beautiful prose that won her acclaim for Don t Let s Go to the Dogs Tonight Fuller here recounts her friendship with K K is seemingly a man of contradictions tattooed battle scarred and weathered by farm work he is a lion of a man feral and bulletproof Yet he is also a born again Christian given to weeping when he recollects his failed romantic life and more than anything else welling up inside with memories of battle For his war like all wars was a brutal one marked by racial strife jungle battles unimaginable tortures and the murdering of innocent civilians and K like all the veterans of the war has blood on his hands Driven by K s memories Fuller and K decide to enter the heart of darkness in the most literal way by traveling from Zambia through Zimbabwe formerly Rhodesia and Mozambique to visit the scenes of the war and to meet other veterans It is a strange journey into the past one marked at once by somber reflections and odd humor and featuring characters such as Mapenga a fellow veteran who lives with his pet lion on a little island in the middle of a lake and is known to cope with his personal demons by refusing to speak for days on end What results from Fuller s journey is a remarkably unbiased and unsentimental glimpse of men who have killed mutilated tortured and scrambled to survive during wartime and who now must attempt to live with their past and live past their sins In these men too we get a glimpse of life in Africa a land that besets its creatures with pests plagues and natural disasters making the people there at once more hardened and more vulnerable than elsewhere Scribbling the Cat is an engrossing and haunting look at war Africa and the lines of sanity

Grid-locked African Economic Sovereignty Warikandwa, Tapiwa Victor, Nhemachena, Artwell, 2019-02-06 The emergent so called Fourth Industrial Revolution is regarded by some as a panacea for bringing about development to Africans This book dismisses this flawed reasoning Surfacing how investors are actually looting and plundering Africa how the industrial internet of things the gig economies digital economies and cryptocurrencies breach African political and economic sovereignty the book pioneers what can be called anticipatory economics which anticipate the future of economies It is argued that the future of Africans does not necessarily require degrowth postgrowth postdevelopment postcapitalism or sharing solidarity economies it requires attention to age old questions about African ownership and control of their resources Investors have to invest in ensuring that Africans own and control their resources Further it is pointed out that the historical imperial structural creation of forced labour is increasingly morphing into what we call the structural creation of forced leisure which is no less lethal for Africans Because both the structural creation of forced labour and the structural creation of forced leisure are undergirded by transnational neo imperial plunder theft robbery looting and dispossession of Africans this book goes beyond the simplistic arguments that Euro America developed due to the industrial revolutions Built on the Ruins of Empire Blake Whitaker, 2022-06-07 During the Cold War the British government oversaw the transition to independence of dozens of colonies Often the most challenging aspect of this transition was the creation of a national army from colonial forces In Built on the Ruins of Empire Blake Whitaker examines this process in Kenya and Zambia and how it set the course for the creation of the army in Zimbabwe He also looks at three themes as they intersect in African military history British decolonization race relations and the Cold War While the transition to independence was a difficult process in places such as Ghana and Nigeria it was compounded by the racial tensions in Kenya Zambia and Zimbabwe All three were settler colonies home to a sizable community of white Europeans who controlled the levers of power and economic prosperity Built on the Ruins of Empire focuses on the difficulties that arose in creating a cohesive and apolitical military force in these racially charged Cold War environments and demonstrates that the challenges faced by the British training missions in Kenya and Zambia taught London important lessons about the emerging postcolonial world Whitaker uniquely analyzes the successes and failures of the British military assistance programs and their quest to solidify British influence while examining how Britain's position and influence in the wider world was fading just as Zimbabwe was achieving independence Going
