Nations, National Narratives and Communities in the Asia-Pacific Norman Vasu, Yolanda Chin, Kam-yee Law, 2013-09-05 Many states in the Asia Pacific region are not built around a single homogenous people but rather include many large varied different national groups This book explores how states in the region attempt to develop commonality and a nation and the difficulties that arise It discusses the consequences which ensue when competing narratives clash and examines the nature of resistance to dominant narratives which arise It considers the problems in a wide range of countries in the region including Indonesia Malaysia Singapore Hong Kong Korea Australia and New Zealand A Democratic Architecture for the Welfare State Victor A. Pestoff, 2008-10-27 The welfare state faces various challenges in Scandinavia and many European countries today including a poor work environment in the public sector a growing democracy deficit and demographic obstacles In this new book Victor A Pestoff argues that the state cannot resolve these challenges alone or together with the market rather it requires the active participation of citizens and the third sector in order to overcome them and become more sustainable and flexible in the future This book addresses the need for a more democratic architecture for the European welfare state opening new perspectives for developing alternative channels for direct citizen participation at the sub municipal level of governance Pestoff finds that neither democratic theory nor welfare state theory devotes adequate attention to the contemporary role of the third sector as a service provider or to greater direct citizen participation in the provision of welfare services He shifts the focus of analysis from the input to the output side of the political system and explores new ways to promote a greater role for the third sector and more citizen participation in the provision of universal tax financed welfare services Part 1 discusses social economy actors in Sweden and Scandinavia both from a historical and future perspective Part 2 explores major issues for the third sector and welfare state including the allocation of an organization's surplus or profit work environment and service quality in public services and the third sector consumer perspectives on the social economy democratizing medical and health care in Japan and co production of childcare services in eight European countries Part 3 revisits the third sector and state in democratic theory and welfare theory as well as recognizing major hurdles to the third sector and democratization of the welfare state Part 4 concludes by summarizing the politics of participation in the welfare state Governance, Politics and the Environment Maria Francesch-Huidobro, 2008-07-09 In the past two decades research on environmental issues in East and Southeast Asian countries has mainly focused on existing institutional mechanisms of environmental management the establishment of new environmental management structures the introduction of incentives to improve natural capital and foster environmental protection and the culture of environmental or green groups Virtually no rigorous research has been directed into the nature and significance of the existing relationship between government and civil society in individual country studies with specific reference to the environmental policy sector or into how this relationship may be evolving This book explores this connection in Singapore and what causes it to evolve through three case narratives Its rationale is to address this gap in the literature from a governance theory perspective that focuses on state adaptation to the external environment and new forms of coordination and collaboration between government and civil society to tackle new societal problems The application of the governance theory approach to specific case studies is itself a topic that deserves much greater study than what it has so far received

Asianism and the Politics of Regional Consciousness in Singapore Leong Yew, 2013-11-20 Over the last two decades Singapore has undergone a substantial degree of Asianization Apart from participating in the Asian values debate of the 1990s re-visioning itself as New Asia and a global Asian hub and establishing Asian identities for the commodities it consumes and produces Singapore has also repurposed its modernity cultures and ethos along similar regionalist precepts However even in recent times Singapore continues to vacillate ambivalently between identifying with and differentiating itself from Asia Responding to the challenges Singapore faces in coming to terms with its Asian identity this book examines the complex cultural social and political underpinnings that have shaped Singapore's mainstream discourse on Asia Indeed it argues that its legacy as a colonial port city the exigencies of managing the post independence nation state and the larger forces of imperialism and capitalism all contribute to its politics of Asianism Taking a thoroughly interdisciplinary approach that spans history cultural studies postcolonialism and cultural geography Leong Yew reveals how Asia has been used to
