Gajarawala,Neelam Srivastava,Rajeswari Sunder Rajan,Jack Webb,2023-08-10 The texts that make up postcolonial print cultures are often found outside the archival catalogue and in lesser examined repositories such as personal collections the streets or appendages to established collections This volume examines the published and unpublished writing magazines pamphlets paratexts advertisements cartoons radio and street art that serve as the intellectual forces behind opposition to colonial orders as meditations on the futures of embryonic nation states and as visions of new forms of equality The print cultures examined here are necessarily anti institutional they serve as a counterpoint to the colonial archive and relatedly to more traditional genres and text formats coming out of large scale publishers This means that much of the primary material analyzed in this book has not been scrutinized before Many of these print productions articulate collective liberation projects with origins in the grassroots They include debates around the shape of the postcolonial nation and the new state formation that necessarily draw on a diverse and contentious public sphere of opinion Their rhetoric ranges from the reformist to the revolutionary Reflecting the diversity indeed the disorderliness of postcolonial print cultures this book covers local national and transnational cultures from Asia Africa Europe and the Americas Its wide ranging essays offer a nuanced and taken together a definitive though that is not to say comprehensive or systematic study of a global phenomenon postcolonial print cultures as a distinct literary field The chapters recover the efforts of writers readers and publishers to produce a postcolonialism from below and thereby offer a range of fresh perspectives on the meaning and history of postcolonialism

This book is not intended to provide a list of the 100 best books ever written and published by Punjabi authors. Given the sheer range of books written by Punjabi authors and the unpredictability of individual taste, any such definitive list is quite impossible. Secondly, the choice has been restricted to books that were written by them either in Punjabi, Hindi or Urdu but have been translated into English. Thus, personal choice, restricted by availability, has dictated this selection. The choice of books includes autobiographies, novels, short stories, poems and plays. Research books, religious books and books written originally in English have not been included. From the Introduction, I am amazed at the scholarship, the passion and the love with which Paramjeet Singh has written this book. It will be a reference volume for all times. Nirupama Dutt, Poet, Journalist, Translator. Mr Singh's effort is commendable as he is making available some of the rarest of gems of Punjabi literature to the non-Punjabi readers. I congratulate Mr Singh on putting together this selection and hope that non-Punjabi readers of this book would find new horizons of cultural experience opening up before them. Of course, for Punjabi readers, it may be yet another opportunity to experience a sense of genuine pride in their rich legacy of language, literature and culture. Prof. Rana Nayar.

A Death in Delhi Gordon C. Roadarmel, 2023-11-15. A Death in Delhi Modern Hindi Short Stories offers a compelling glimpse into the evolution of contemporary Hindi literature through fifteen carefully selected short stories. Reflecting the anxieties, alienation and transformations of urban middle-class life, these narratives explore themes of estrangement, dislocation and the tension between tradition and modernity. The stories delve into intimate emotions and societal challenges, portraying a world where individuality collides with the forces of a rapidly changing society. Rooted in the unique context of Indian life, the collection also highlights a universal resonance connecting readers to shared human experiences. Spanning the work of writers from the 1950s and 1960s, this anthology captures a pivotal moment in Hindi literature when storytelling shifted toward introspection and realism. The included stories illustrate how modern Hindi authors moved beyond traditional forms to embrace experimental techniques and taboo themes, reflecting a growing sense of skepticism and disillusionment with societal norms. Through vivid translation and a nuanced introduction, this volume introduces readers to the rich tapestry of Hindi short fiction and its relevance in both the Indian and global literary landscapes. This title is part of UC Press's Voices Revived program, which commemorates University of California Press's mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice, reach and impact. Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893, Voices Revived makes high-quality peer-reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print-on-demand technology. This title was originally published in 1972. Modern Fiction Studies, 1970 Choice, 1970
