Should I Have An Abortion:

What Roe V. Wade Should Have Said J. M. Balkin, 2005-08 Taking positions both for and against abortion 11 distinguished constitutional scholars rewrite the Supreme Court's opinions in this landmark case in light of 30 years of experience offering illuminating arguments that get to the heart of the case but making use only of sources available at the time of the original decision

Abortion, Motherhood, and Mental Health Ellie Lee, Whatever reproductive choices women make whether they opt to end a pregnancy through abortion or continue to term and give birth they are considered to be at risk of suffering serious mental health problems According to opponents of abortion in the United States potential injury to women is a major reason why people should consider abortion a problem On the other hand becoming a mother can also be considered a big risk This fine well balanced book is about how people represent the results of reproductive choices It examines how and why pregnancy and its various outcomes have come to be discussed this way The author's interest in the medicalization of reproduction its representation as a mental health problem first arose in relation to abortion There is a very clear contrast between the construction of women who have abortions implied by moralized argument against abortion and the construction that results when the case against abortion focuses on its effects on women's mental health Lee argues that claims that connect abortion with mental illness have been limited in their influence but this is not to suggest that they have not become a focus for discussion and have had no impact The limits to such claims about abortion do not by any means suggest limits to the process of the medicalization of pregnancy more broadly that is a process of demedicalization The final theme of Ellie Lee's book is the selective medicalization of reproduction Centering on the claim that abortion can create a post abortion syndrome the author examines the medicalization of the abortion problem on both sides of the Atlantic Lee points to contrasts in legal and medical dimensions of the abortion issue that make for some important differences but argues that in both the United States and Great Britain the post abortion syndrome claim constitutes an example of the limits to medicalization and the return to the theme of motherhood as a psychological ordeal Lee makes the case for looking to the social dimensions of mental health problems to account for and understand debates about what makes women ill Ellie Lee is research fellow in the Department of Sociology and Social Policy University of Southampton Highfield United Kingdom

The Complexity of Religious Inequality Melissa Wilde, 2021-04-27 Although scholars of religion acknowledge religion's deep interconnectedness with race and ethnicity in and occasionally class we nonetheless typically study religion as a factor that is independent from other social structures Likewise we rarely systematically examine class race or gender differences between or within religious groups This journal issue will highlight research that moves beyond these weaknesses by publishing papers that intentionally examine aspects of inequality as they relate to religion Papers that explore these connections historically or in contemporary times and internationally or locally are all encouraged My

Domestic Violence and Its Reverberations Mordecai Lipshitz, Ingrid Ekström, 2006 Domestic violence is control by one partner over another in a dating marital or live in relationship The means of control include physical sexual emotional and economic abuse threats and isolation Survivors face many obstacles in trying to end the abuse in their lives These obstacles include psychological and economic entrapment physical isolation and lack of social support challenges to religious and cultural values fear of social judgement threats and intimidation over custody or separation immigration status or disabilities and lack of viable alternatives Despite the vastness and power of these challenges most are able to overcome them because of increased public legal and health care awareness and improved community resources that enable survivors to rebuild their lives Domestic violence occurs in every culture country and age group It affects people from all socio economic educational and religious backgrounds and takes place in same sex as well as heterosexual relationships Women with fewer resources or greater perceived vulnerability girls and those experiencing physical or psychiatric disabilities or living below the poverty line are at even greater risk for domestic violence and lifetime abuse Children are also affected by domestic violence even if they do not witness it directly The book examines crucial issues in the field

Beyond Choice Alexander Sanger, 2005-07-06 Thirty years after Roe v Wade the argument between pro choicers and pro lifers has reached stalemate Pro choice arguments haven't persuaded a comfortable majority that legal abortion is vital to our society nor addressed our moral qualms Younger people are less and less supportive of reproductive rights Since 1996 state legislatures have enacted nearly 300 pieces of anti choice legislation With Roe in jeopardy International Planned Parenthood Council Chair Alexander Sanger asks a simple but heretical question How many more pieces of anti choice legislation will it take to get the pro choice movement to rethink its approach to the issue In Beyond Choice Sanger explores the history of the reproductive rights movement to discover how it got stuck in its thinking and then provides a convincing new argument for the moral rightness of its cause He shows why it is vital to the health and survival of the human race that couples be able to have children or not when they choose why reproductive rights are just as important to men as to women and why in an era of new reproductive technologies completely unfettered choice is not morally defensible Beyond Choice is inspiring and important reading for women s rights advocates opinion leaders medical ethicists and anyone concerned to preserve our freedom to reproduce or not without government intervention
