The Rhyming Spelling-book James A. Christie, 1873 Harunobu Yoné Noguchi, 1940 River of Blood J. M.

Schoffeleers, 1992 The culmination of years of fieldwork in southern Malawi River of Blood reconstructs the beginnings of the Mbona martyr cult follows its history to the present day and reveals the fascinating intersections of an indigenous belief system with European Christianity In the cult of Mbona the central African mythology of the snake that is beheaded to make the rains come has been combined with a more spiritual interpretation the snake has been transformed into a human martyr and redeemer According to the cult the rainmaker Mbona was tracked down by his enemies they cut off his head and his blood formed the River of Blood Mbona returned as a storm wind and asked that a shrine be dedicated in his name J Matthew Schoffeleers recounts how the Portuguese presence in Zambezia in the period 1590 1622 led to more than three decades of internecine warfare and caused the people of southern Malawi tremendous suffering In response to this political oppression and social upheaval Schoffeleers shows the people looked to Mbona their black Jesus for redemption Beyond reconstructing the cult's genesis Schoffeleers traces its recent history particularly in political context He provides texts of seven cult myths from different historical periods in both Chimang anja and English His analysis presents the Mbona myth as a continuous social construction and deconstruction Emphasizing the impact of political and spiritual oppression on the cult he distinguishes between the differing versions of the myth preserved by the aristocracy and by the commonalty and demonstrates how these disparate views unite to preserve historical information In so doing he shows that cults serve as valuable repositories for historical information Burlington Fine Arts Club ,1892 Catalogue of Specimens of Japanese Lacquer and Metal Work Exhibited in 1894 Burlington Fine Arts Club,William Anderson,1894 California. Christian,2014-07-14 Why are religious visions believed only in certain times and places In this book William Christian investi gates the settings and responses to a series of group visions reported by Spaniards in rural Galicia Valencia Cantabria and Navarre in the early part of this century the most notable one involving the crucifix at Limpas where Jesus was first seen agonizing on the cross during a mission service in March of 1919 In light of the social strife and strong anticlerical movements of the period the author examines how gender and religious politics influenced the experiences of seers and the interpretation of their visions by church officials journalists and the public Christian approaches the story inductively from the visionaries and the parish to the religious orders diocesan officials and Vatican envoys He places the events in the context of mission dramaturgy and pilgrimages to Lourdes and shows their ramifications in Italy Mexico the United States France and Central Europe Using oral testimony church archives local newspaper accounts and apologetic literature Christian finds that some observers related the moving crucifixes to a logical millenarian sequence that included earlier apparitions in France for others they were divine reactions to national political events while for many local people they were signs for the establishment of new shrines His study reveals the preoccupations of ordinary people and how they found expression in religious images Originally published in 1992 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found
