Romancing the Real Sabra J. Webber, 2016-11-11 One of the goals of the new or experimental ethnography is to illuminate the unique historical social and political situation of a people from their own multifaceted perspectives As part of the effort to reach this goal ethnographers are learning to listen in various keys to what members of society under study have to say about themselves and about their place in the world In Romancing the Real Sabra J Webber argues that folklore traditional aesthetic culture is of central importance to the new ethnography It is by becoming cultured in a people's traditional art forms that the ethnographer can come closest to an unmediated hearing of the individual voices of community members and to an understanding of how community affect is shaped and shared rhetorically She contends that traditional verbal art does more than reflect a culture from its members points of view it is one of the means by which members comment upon change and recreate their culture It is also a powerful resource through which they respond to the ethnographer and what the ethnographer represents Drawing on over five years of field research conducted between 1967 and 1987 in Kelibia a town on the northeastern coast of Tunisia Webber offers insights into the community gained through the study of its folk communicative resources and especially through study of the hikayah a colloquial Arabic verbal art genre that resembles the western genres of local history or personal experience narrative She demonstrates that Kelibians draw upon hikayat to cope creatively with both the destabilizing and the energizing facets of centuries of frequent rarely controlled or invited contact with outsiders She finds that older community members use the art form to romance not romanticize their town and thus address important communal issues like colonialism Webber discusses a marginalized town in the context of a marginalized discipline folklore an often devalued language colloquial Arabic and a frequently underestimated cultural domain affect to demonstrate that a re perception of each can yield rich insights into the centripetal forces that supposedly powerless communities can draw upon for empowerment

Representing Minorities

Soumia Boutkhil, Larbi Touaf, 2009-01-14 The papers in this volume include not only the traditional view of what constitutes a minority but also any individual or group recalcitrant and reluctant not to say resistant to the generalized lobotomy operated by the rampant uniformisation of cultures around the world For in the ruins of the end of history and its context of violence and Manichean politics any opposition to the general consensus could be dismissed as anti historical and atavistic The objective of the book is precisely to counter such rhetoric and underscore the necessity of cultural diversity and the right to difference This book contains what can amount to a critical response to the current context of confusion surrounding the postmodern condition that arguably dominates most societies It stresses the issue of ethics not only in world politics but also in literature and criticism which are the main focus here In fact the interest in minority issues is in itself an ethical concern that contributes to give substance to the idea that postmodernity opens the gates for the long suppressed identities and sensibilities to emerge and demand recognition This volume intends therefore to contribute to the recent ethical turn that seems to take place in scholarship worldwide Operated mainly by what is referred to as postcolonial studies this shift turned literary criticism and cultural studies into the site where a sense of literature can be envisioned that is not at all universalist or reflecting the hegemonic temptations of the new world order It seeks to present a patchwork of minor literatures in the sense that besides the major literatures languages there are myriads of minor voices that express dissimilarity oftentimes under the umbrella of those major languages and literatures themselves

New Voices of Muslim North-African Migrants in Europe Cristián H. Ricci, 2019-08-26 New Voices of Muslim North African Migrants in Europe captures the experience in writing of a fast growing number of individuals belonging to migrant communities in Europe The book follows attempts to transform postcolonial literary studies into a comparative translingual and supranational project Cristián H Ricci frames Moroccan literature written in European languages within the ampler context of borderland studies The author addresses the realm of a literature that has been practically absent from the field of postcolonial literary studies i e Neerlandophone or Gay Muslim literature The book also converses with other minor literatures and theories from Sub Saharan Africa as well as Asians and Latino as in the Americas that combine histories of colonization labor migration and enforced exile

Thami al-Glaoui Orit Ouaknine-Yekutieli, 2024-04-30 Orit Ouaknine Yekutieli examines the life and deeds of Thami al Glaoui 1879 1956 and the multiple ways in which his story has been told She investigates his biography as a creation continuing beyond the demise of its protagonist asserting a conflation of history story and storytelling The book also reconfigures the story of major events and processes in modern Moroccan history and historiography Thami al Glaoui leader of the Amazigh Glaoua tribe and Pasha of Marrakesh throughout Morocco's colonial era 1912 56 was the third most powerful person in Morocco after the Sultan and the French Resident General by the 1930s In 1953 he was a key supporter of the deportation of Sultan Mohamed V by the French After recanting three years later he was pardoned by the returning Sultan but died shortly afterwards In the four decades that followed al Glaoui became a synonym in Morocco for betrayal and corruption In the 21st century however the ways in which he is told became more complex and his reputation has been somewhat revised Two Arabs, a Berber, and a Jew Lawrence Rosen,2015-12-02 In this remarkable work by seasoned scholar Lawrence Rosen we follow the fascinating intellectual developments of four ordinary Moroccans over the span of forty years Walking and talking with Haj Hamed Britel Yaghnik Driss Hussein Qadir and Shimon Benizri in a country that in a little over a century has gone from an underdeveloped colonial outpost to a modern Arab country in the throes of economic growth and religious fervor Rosen details a fascinating plurality of viewpoints on culture history and the ways both can be dramatically transformed Through the intellectual lives of these four men this book explores a number of interpretative and theoretical issues that have made Arab culture distinct especially in relationship to the West how nothing is ever hard and fast how everything is relational and always a product of negotiation It showcases the vitality of the local in a global era and it contrasts Arab notions of time equality and self with those in the West Likewise Rosen unveils his own entanglement in their world and the drive to keep the analysis of culture first and foremost even as his own life enmeshes itself in those of his study An exploration of faith politics history and memory this book highlights the world of everyday life in Arab society in ways that challenge common notions and stereotypes Bulletin Société royale d'archéologie d'Alexandrie,1921 Revue de Paris ,1917 Revue de Paris 1829 La Revue de Paris ,1917 Indian Journal of History of Science ,1995 Return to Childhood Laylá Abū Zayd,1998 Leila Abouzeid whose novel Year of the Elephant has gone through six reprintings has now translated her childhood memoir into English Published in Rabat in 1993 to critical acclaim the work brings to life the interlocking dramas of family ties and political conflict Against a background of Morocco s struggle for independence from French colonial rule Abouzeid charts the development of personal relationships between generations as well as between husbands and wives Abouzeid s father is a central figure as a strong advocate of Moroccan nationalism he was frequently imprisoned by the French and his family forced to flee the capital Si Hmed was a public hero but the young daughter s memories of her famous father and of the family s plight because of his political activities are not so idyllic The memoir utilizes multiple voices especially those of women in a manner reminiscent of the narrative strategies of the oral tradition in Moroccan culture Return to Childhood may also be classified as an autobiography a form only now gaining respect as a valid literary genre in the Middle East Abouzeid s own introduction and Elizabeth Fernea s foreword discuss this new development in Arabic literature Bulletin officiel du gouvernement général de l'Algérie Algeria,1862 La bible de la négociation Alexis Kyprianou,2013-08-22 Les 75 fiches opérationnelles de cet ouvrage vous présentent tout ce qu'il faut savoir pour acquies les techniques de négociation les plus efficaces dans le domaine professionnel Conduire une négociation influencer son interlocuteur comprendre sa psychologie tirer partie de l'intelligence motivationnelle Alexis Kyprianou vous donne les clés d'une négociation réussie 40 techniques de négociation 12 antidotes aux pièges les plus courants 20 profils d'interlocuteurs types 5
