Ulster's Lost Counties Edward Burke, 2024-04-25 An examination of the endurance and impact of loyalism within the three Ulster counties excluded from Northern Ireland since 1920 Emotion, Affective Practices, and the Past in the Present Laurajane Smith, Margaret Wetherell, Gary Campbell, 2018-06-14 Emotion Affective Practices and the Past in the Present is a response to debates in the humanities and social sciences about the use of emotion. This timely and unique book explores the ways emotion is embroiled and used in contemporary engagements with the past, particularly in contexts such as heritage sites, museums, commemorations, political rhetoric, and ideology. Debates over issues of social memory and touristic uses of heritage sites, including contributions from academics and practitioners in a range of countries, the book reviews significant and conflicting academic debates on the nature and expression of affect and emotion. As a whole, the book makes an argument for a pragmatic understanding of affect and, in doing so, outlines Wetherell's concept of affective practice, a concept utilised in most of the chapters in this book. Since debates about affect and emotion can often be confusing and abstract, the book aims to clarify these debates and, through the use of case studies, draw out their implications for theory and practice within heritage and museum studies. Emotion Affective Practices and the Past in the Present should be essential reading for students, academics, and professionals in the fields of heritage and museum studies. The book will also be of interest to those in other disciplines such as social psychology, education, archaeology, tourism studies, cultural studies, media studies, anthropology, sociology, and history. Nation States Michael Mays, 2007-02-16 Drawing on diverse cultural forms and ranging across disciplinary boundaries, Nation States maps the contested cultural terrain of Irish nationalism from the Act of Union of 1800 to the present. In looking at Irish nationalism as a site of struggle, Mays examines both the myriad ways in which the nation fashions itself as the a priori ground of identity and those processes through which nationalism engenders an ostensibly unique national identity corresponding to one and only one nation state, the place where we always have been and can only ever be at home. Thomas Drew and the Making of Victorian Belfast Sean Farrell, 2023-10-15 In Thomas Drew and the Making of Victorian Belfast, Farrell analyzes the career of political parson Thomas Drew, 1800-70, creator of one of the largest Church of Ireland congregations on the island and leading figure in the Loyal Orange Order. Farrell demonstrates how Drew's success stemmed from an adaptive combination of his fierce anti-Catholicism and populist Protestant politics, the creation of social and spiritual outreach programs that placed Christ Church at the center of west Belfast life, and the rapid growth of the northern capital. At its core, the book highlights the synthetic nature of Drew's appeal to a vital cross-class community of Belfast Protestant men and women, a fact that underlines both the success of his ministry and the long-term durability of sectarian lines of division in the city and province. The dynamics Farrell discusses were also not confined to Ireland, and one of the book's central features is the close attention paid to the ways that developments in Belfast were linked to broader Atlantic and imperial contexts. Based on a wide array of new and underutilized archival sources, Thomas Drew and the Making of Victorian Belfast is the first detailed examination of not only Thomas Drew but also the relationships between anti-Catholicism, evangelical Protestantism, and populist politics in early

Nelson's Surgeon Laurence Brockliss, John Cardwell, Michael S. Moss, 2005-10-06 In the lead up to the bicentenary of Trafalgar a number of important new studies have been published about the life of Nelson and his defeat of the Combined Fleet in 1805 Despite the significant role played by the health and fitness of the British crews in securing the victory little has been written hitherto about the naval surgeon in the era of the long war against France This book is intended to fill the gap Sir William Beatty 1773 1842 was surgeon of the Victory at Trafalgar An Ulsterman from Londonderry he had joined the navy in 1791 Before being warranted to Nelson's flagship Beatty had served upon ten other warships and survived a yellow fever epidemic court martial and shipwreck to share in the capture of a Spanish treasure ship After Trafalgar he became Physician of the Channel Fleet based at Plymouth and eventually Physician to Greenwich Hospital where he served until his retirement in 1838 As the book makes clear in drawing upon an extensive prosopographical database Beatty's career until 1805 was representative of the experience of the approximately 2 000 naval surgeons who joined the navy in the course of the war The first part of the biography provides a detailed and scholarly introduction to the professional education training and work of the naval surgeon But after 1805 Beatty became a member of the service elite and his career becomes interesting for other reasons In the final decades of his life Beatty was far more than a senior naval physician As a Fellow of the Royal Society director of the Clerical and Medical Insurance Company and director of the London to Greenwich Railway he was a prominent figure in London's business and scientific community who used his growing wealth to build a large collection of books and manuscripts His later life is testimony to the much wider contribution that some naval and army medical officers made to the development of the new Britain of the nineteenth century In Beatty's case too the contribution was original By publishing in 1807 his carefully crafted Authentic Narrative of the Death of Lord Nelson he was instrumental in forging the myth of the hero's last hours which has become a part of the national consciousness and has helped to define for generations the concept of Britishness
