that heritage information fully integrated into all research investigation and conservation activities Through the discussion of basic principles benefits and new approaches it assists those in charge of preserving immovable cultural heritage by bringing current heritage information practices to a new level By recording we create a reference for evaluating change and add to the understanding of a site By documenting we guarantee that information is systematically collected and preserved for future use By managing the information we make it available and provide a basis for sharing our knowledge and understanding Volume 2 presents illustrated examples from around the world Good documentation of a site allows for better understanding of the site s value Recognizing value and significance is often the first step toward a site s eventual conservation The information obtained through the documentation process allows conservation professionals to record current conditions consider appropriate conservation options plan interventions apply treatments and finally measure the results of their efforts Documentation can be a tool in resolving a conservation issue This volume presents several illustration examples from around the world in various stages of conservation

Archaeology's Visual Culture Roger Balm,2015-12-14

Archaeology s Visual Culture explores archaeology through the lens of visual culture theory The insistent visuality of archaeology is a key stimulus for the imaginative and creative interpretation of our encounters with the past Balm investigates the nature of this projection of the visual revealing an embedded subjectivity in the imagery of archaeology and acknowledging the multiplicity of meanings that cohere around artifacts archaeological sites and museum displays Using a wide range of case studies the book highlights how archaeologists can view objects and the consequences that ensue from these ways of seeing Throughout the book Balm considers the potential for documentary images and visual material held in archives to perform cultural work within and between groups of specialists With primary sources ranging from the mid nineteenth to the early twenty first century this volume also maps the intellectual and social connections between archaeologists and their peers Geographical settings include Britain Cyprus Mesoamerica the Middle East and the United States and the sites of visual encounter are no less diverse ranging from excavation reports in salvage archaeology to instrumentally derived data sets and remote sensing imagery By forensically examining selected visual records from published accounts and archival sources enduring tropes of representation become apparent that transcend issues of style and reflect fundamental visual sensibilities within the discipline of archaeology
