Old Northumbrian Verbal Morphosyntax and the (Northern) Subject Rule Marcelle Cole, 2014-07-15 This volume provides both a quantitative statistical and qualitative analysis of Late Northumbrian verbal morphosyntax as recorded in the Old English interlinear gloss to the Lindisfarne Gospels It focuses in particular on the attestation of the subject type and adjacency constraints that characterise the so called Northern Subject Rule concord system The study presents new evidence which challenges the traditional Early Middle English dating attributed to the emergence of subject type concord in the North of England and demonstrates that the syntactic configuration of the Northern Subject Rule was already a feature of Old English By setting the Northumbrian developments within a broad framework of diachronic and diatopic variation in which manifestations of subject type concord are explored in a wide range of varieties of English the author argues that a concord system based on subject type rather than person number features is in fact a far less local and more universal tendency in English than previously believed Key to the Exercises adapted to Murray's English Grammar ...
