Reciting America Culture And Cliche In Contemporary U S Fiction:

Reciting America Christopher Douglas, 2001 He explores how these novels and other texts confront national discourse and strive though with inconclusive results to open America up to new subject positions by offering alternatives to the dominant ideology Douglas finds contemporary intellectual and political life against the backdrop of a mythology enshrined in proclamations pledges and public documents to be impoverished by the pervasive use of cliches which he identifies as figures of speech that stimulate emotion or action while shortcircuiting reflection In its extreme cliched form the American Dream consists of nothing more than advertising slogans and popular culture images yet these pronouncements retain a powerful hold on the will and imagination of U S citizens

A Genealogy of Literary Multiculturalism Christopher Douglas, 2011-08-15 As an anthropology student studying with Franz Boas Zora Neale Hurston recorded African American folklore in rural central Florida studied hoodoo in New Orleans and voodoo in Haiti talked with the last ex slave to survive the Middle Passage and collected music from Jamaica Her ethnographic work would serve as the basis for her novels and other writings in which she shaped a vision of African American Southern rural folk culture articulated through an antiracist concept of culture championed by Boas culture as plural relative and long lived Meanwhile a very different antiracist model of culture learned from Robert Park s sociology allowed Richard Wright to imagine African American culture in terms of severed traditions marginal consciousness and generation gaps In A Genealogy of Literary Multiculturalism Christopher Douglas uncovers the largely unacknowledged role played by ideas from sociology and anthropology in nourishing the politics and forms of minority writers from diverse backgrounds Douglas divides the history of multicultural writing in the United States into three periods The first which spans the 1920s and 1930s features minority writers such as Hurston and D Arcy McNickle who were indebted to the work of Boas and his attempts to detach culture from race The second period from 1940 to the mid 1960s was a time of assimilation and integration as seen in the work of authors such as Richard Wright Jade Snow Wong John Okada and Ralph Ellison who were influenced by currents in sociological thought The third period focuses on the writers we associate with contemporary literary multiculturalism including Toni Morrison N Scott Momaday Frank Chin Ishmael Reed and Gloria Anzald a Douglas shows that these more recent writers advocated a literary nationalism that was based on a modified Boasian anthropology and that laid the pluralist grounds for our current conception of literary multiculturalism Ultimately Douglas s unified field theory of multicultural literature brings together divergent African American Asian American Mexican American and Native American literary traditions into one story of how we moved from thinking about groups as races to thinking about groups as cultures and then back again

Living Labor Joseph B. Entin, 2023-02-13 For much of the twentieth century the iconic figure of the U S working class was a white male industrial worker But in the contemporary age of capitalist globalization new stories about work and workers are emerging to refashion this image Living Labor examines these narratives and in the process offers an innovative reading of American fiction and film through the lens of precarious work It argues that since the 1980s novelists and filmmakers including Russell Banks Helena V ramontes Karen Tei Yamashita Francisco Goldman David Riker Ramin Bahrani Clint Eastwood Courtney Hunt and Ryan Coogler have chronicled the demise of the industrial proletariat and the tentative and unfinished emergence of a new much more diverse and perilously positioned working class In bringing together stories of work that are also stories of race ethnicity gender and colonialism Living Labor challenges the often assumed division between class and identity politics Through the concept of living labor and its discussion of solidarity the book reframes traditional notions of class helping us understand both the challenges working people face and the possibilities for collective consciousness and action in the global present Cover attribution Allan Sekula Shipwreck and worker Istanbul from TITANIC s wake 1998 2000 Courtesy of the Allan Sekula Studio
