Reckless Character And Other Stories A:

A Reckless Character And Other Stories Ivan Sergeevich Turgenev, 2016-01-06 THE DREAM 1876 I I was living with my mother at the time in a small seaport town I was just turned seventeen and my mother was only thirty five she had married very young When my father died I was only seven years old but I remembered him well My mother was a short fair haired woman with a charming but permanently sad face a quiet languid voice and timid movements In her youth she had borne the reputation of a beauty and as long as she lived she remained attractive and pretty I have never beheld more profound tender and melancholy eyes I adored her and she loved me But our life was not cheerful it seemed as though some mysterious incurable and undeserved sorrow were constantly sapping the root of her existence This sorrow could not be explained by grief for my father alone great as that was passionately as my mother had loved him sacredly as she cherished his memory No there was something else hidden there which I did not understand but which I felt felt confusedly and strongly as soon as I looked at those quiet impassive eyes at those very beautiful but also impassive lips which were not bitterly compressed but seemed to have congealed for good and all I have said that my mother loved me but there were moments when she spurned me when my presence was burdensome intolerable to her At such times she felt as it were an involuntary aversion for me and was terrified afterward reproaching herself with tears and clasping me to her heart I attributed these momentary fits of hostility to her shattered health to her unhappiness These hostile sentiments might have been evoked it is true in a certain measure by some strange outbursts which were incomprehensible even to me myself of wicked and criminal feelings which occasionally arose in me But these outbursts did not coincide with the moments of repulsion My mother constantly wore black as though she were in mourning We lived on a rather grand scale although we associated with no one
