Reconstructing Gender Towards Collaboration Uma Ramaswamy, 2000 Explores The Context In Which Women S Development Has Occurred In India Argues That A Good Deal Of Work In Gender Lies In The Field Of A Analysing And Understanding Inner Processes Within Individuals Organisations And Societal Institutions Constructing and Reconstructing Gender Linda A. M. Perry, Lynn H. Turner, Helen M. Sterk, 1992-07-01 Constructing and Reconstructing Gender is an excellent compendium of current research and will be appealing and useful to those interested in gender issues in a wide variety of disciplines This book cuts across disciplines and scholarly methods drawing from many backgrounds including Communication Linguistics English Business Law and Psychology The interweaving of rhetorical critical phenomenological and statistical methods gives readers a multifaceted analysis of gender At the same time that this book shows the value of gender research in provoking new currents of thought it also brings into focus two aspects of gender that are often confused how gender operates as a cultural category that affects communication behavior and how communication and language function to create gender categories Gender Relations and Government Policies K. VIJAYA, 2019-06-07 Introduction Approaches to the planning of gender Women s organisations and voluntary institutions Government policies and programmes for the advancement of women Impact of globalisation and Act on Women Gender development indicator Conclusion Index Surviving Bhopal S. Mukherjee, 2016-01-20 On December 2 3 1984 India witnessed arguably the world s worst industrial disaster in Bhopal Madhya Pradesh which continues to this day as an economic medical environmental and political disaster Surviving Bhopal draws on oral testimonials of the affected community and analyzes the cause and aftermath of the disaster from the perspective of those who suffered the severe consequences of systemic failure and travesty of justice The event resulted in a resistance movement led by women against corporate and state power Mukherjee explores the underlying gender politics showing how activism challenged and redefined the contemporary model of development

The Interaction Society Mikael Wiberg, 2005-01-01 New information technologies enable us to interact with each other in totally new ways The Interaction Society Theories Practice and Supportive Technologies provides readers with a rich overview of the emerging interaction society enabled by these new information and communication technologies ICT Readers will gain a theoretically deep understanding of the core issues related to the character of the emerging interaction society be exposed to empirical case studies that can help to understand the impact of this emergence through analysis of concrete examples and benefit from descriptions of concrete design projects aimed at designing new novel information technologies to support activities in the interaction society Reconstructing Professionalism In University Teaching Walker, Melanie, 2001-07-01 How can academics carve out new and effective ways of working with students against a background of constant change and policy pressure How can university teachers both enhance student learning and realize their own educational values What might be the shape of a new professionalism in university teaching At the heart of this book is a small group of academics from very different disciplines making sense of their teaching situations We witness each of their struggles and celebrations in designing a new course engaging a large first year class introducing a mentoring programme nurturing independent learning through project work using debates to develop students critical thinking and evaluating the success of their teaching This book is the story of a higher education project and central to the story are the attempts of university teachers to enact a critical professionalism in their everyday lives in teaching and learning and also their development of a shared and collaborative dialogue Each of the team seeks not only to improve their practice of teaching but also to explore amongst themselves what kind of professional they want to be and how to realize it in their work with students Reconstructing Professionalism in University Teaching reveals how academics working together on researching their own teaching can both improve their students learning and start to redefine their own professional roles

Men and Women in Interaction Elizabeth Aries, 1996-02-29 For many years the dominant focus in gender relations has been the differences between men and women Authors such as Deborah Tannen You Just Don't Understand and John Gray Men are from Mars Women are from Venus have argued that there are deep seated and enduring differences between male and female personalities styles even languages Elizabeth Aries sees the issue as more complex and dependent on several variables among them the person's status role goals conversational partners and the characteristics of the situational context Aries discusses why we emphasize the differences between the sexes the ways in which these are exaggerated and how we may be perpetuating the very stereotypes we wish to abandon For psychologists and researchers of gender and communication this book will illuminate recent studies in gender relations For general readers it will offer a stimulating counterpoint to prevailing views

Unpicking Gender Jutta Schwarzkopf, 2018-01-18 The Lancashire cotton industry doubtless counts among the most thoroughly researched industries in Britain Cotton processing has attracted attention both as the pioneer of industrialization and the harbinger of industrial decline in many ways typifying the development of the British economy from unchallenged global leader to the demise of large sectors of its manufacturing industry Yet among the spate of book and articles published about the industry there is a conspicuous lacuna Gender though rarely addressed specifically permeates the industry's historiography nonetheless This study tackles head on the notion of gender within the cotton industry during the period 1880-1914 not so much to trace its effects on the industry itself but instead concentrating on the ways gender radicalized particularly the female workers in the Lancashire mills In so doing it promotes the view that it was women weavers experience of the way in which gender inequality in the labour process clashed with varying degrees of inequality in the other spheres of their lives that caused many of them to organize for the franchise Their experience of equality in the labour process both sensitized them to inequality elsewhere and empowered them to fight against it by showing it to be a product of society rather than nature Drawing on the examples provided by disenfranchised working class men and middle class women alike they accounted for inequality in terms of their exclusion from the polity In the process of holding their own against male co workers supervisory staff employers labour activists politicians and even many middle class women they evolved their own version of working class femininity which differed in important ways from the female domesticity that had a vibrant existence in labour rhetoric but rarely beyond Gender and Information Technology: Moving Beyond Access to Co-Create Global Partnership Kirk, Mary, 2008-09-30 This book explores the decline in female involvement in technology and other discrimination related to the industry Provided by publisher HCI International
