Reconstructing Teaching Standards Performance And Accountability:

Reconstructing Teaching Ian Hextall, Pat Mahony, 2013-04-15 One of the greatest resources a school has is its staff How teachers themselves and their work are defined are therefore matters of utmost importance Major trends of increased control and new managerialism are occurring in most OECD countries radically altering both the content and form of teacher education This book outlines recent changes in teacher education and professional development and by drawing on recent research findings explores the positive and negative impacts on the nature of teaching and the shape of the profession

Critical Perspectives on Educational Policies and Professional Identities Richard Waller, Jane Andrews, Timothy Clark, 2024-06-04 The collection features the cutting edge work of 14 doctoral graduates from the University of the West of England UWE exploring the issue of education policy and its impact on professional identities including changing professional and policy contexts confronting doctoral candidates and their peers From Victims of Change to Agents of Change Martin Johnson, Joe Hallgarten, 2002 Active Learning and Student Engagement Mick Healey, Eric Pawson, Michael Solem, 2013-09-13 This book examines significant issues in geography teaching and learning from the perspectives of an international network of academic geographers and postgraduate students Drawing on classroom experiences and research in a wide variety of educational settings the authors describe conceptually interesting and practical applications for enhancing student learning through inquiry problem based learning field study online collaboration and other highly engaging forms of pedagogy Other articles focus on approaches for improving the experiences of distance learners strategies for enhancing the employability of geography students and preparing students to engage ethical issues in the discipline An international audience of educators will find much of value through the use of comparative examples literature reviews encompassing research in multiple national contexts and an underlying awareness of the diversity of practices in higher education internationally This book is a collection of articles previously published in two special issues of the Journal of Geography in Higher Education The Performing School Dennis Gleeson, Chris Husbands, 2004-11-23 This specially commissioned collection of perspectives offers an analysis of the new organisation of the teaching profession reconstructed around the notion of performance and the implications of a performance culture The Performing School examines the roots directions and implications of the new structure by drawing together insights from policy research and practice at this time of rapid change and debate This unique volume addresses three interconnected issues of modernisation and education what is the background to and significance of performance management in modernising schools and teachers at the present time what are the likely future effects of a performance culture on teaching learning and schooling what will it take to ensure that performance management improves pedagogy and professionalism beyond the narrow confines of performativity managerialism and market reform in education Service Integration in Schools , 2008-01-01 This is an important and timely collection in which recent research and interpretations are reported and debated The papers provide a scholarly analysis of a range of significant issues complexities and recurring themes They provide theoretical empirical and practical perspectives on what is involved in co working and explore the ambiguities contradictions and fragmentations in a new policy area that cuts across the remits previously held by a number of government departments Overall the papers provide a considered and wide ranging critique of the key research and policy discourses that seek to influence the reformation of services and to remodel interprofessional and interagency working practices In particular the collection examines the ways in which the integration of services is operating in practice in the discrete policy contexts of the UK countries the leadership and management of collaborative working and workforce remodelling and whether in addressing the hard questions of the form s that future school services should take there are any global solutions from new research or from other places that might fruitfully be applied In addressing these policy developments the collection has multiple readerships in mind and seeks to be both academic and policy relevant

Transforming Learning in Schools and Communities

Bob Lingard,Jon Nixon,Stewart Ranson,2011-11-03 Many educators have been looking for a fundamentally different approach to engage young people and encourage progress in learning Supported by recent public policy developments a transformation is beginning to take place in the practice of many schools The focus of learning is shifting away from the child as an individual in a classroom detached from the surrounding neighbourhood to a learning community that embraces carers and families as well as young people and teachers This monograph analyses the organising principles of this cultural transformation and considers how it will shape learning in schools and communities throughout the world The book brings together key thinkers from the fields of new learning new communities of educational practice and new forms of educational governance Arguing for the necessary interconnectedness of pedagogy institutions and governance this ground breaking book will undoubtedly shape the policy agenda in this area for years to come

Transforming Teacher Education

Viv Ellis,Jane McNicholl,2015-02-26 Teacher education has a central role in the improvement of educational systems around the world but what do the teacher educators in universities and colleges actually do Day to day how do they support the learning and development of the thousands of new teachers we need every year And why does this matter Drawing on recent research by the authors situated in the growing international literature Transforming Teacher Education puts these questions in cultural and historical context and offers a practical answer in the form of an original agenda for the transformation of current conditions in teacher education with future designs for practice Viv Ellis and Jane McNicholl argue that the academic work of teacher education needs to be reconfigured in order to stimulate the renewal of the profession of teaching and to develop new modes of educational research that will have impact on practice as well as building the discipline of Education within the universities They offer suggestions for future designs for teacher education drawing not only on the latest research in teacher learning and development but from across the social sciences
