Recovered Memories of Trauma C. Brooks Brenneis, 1996      Recovered Memories Graham M. Davies, Tim Dalgleish, 2003-01-10 The phenomenon of recovered memories has excited much controversy in recent years amongst professionals with extreme positions being held either all such memories are by definition false or any such claim is an attempt to deny the victims of abuse their rights to confront their abusers In this refreshing new approach to the problem Graham Davies and Tim Dalgleish have assembled leading figures from both sides of the debate to provide a balanced overview of empirical evidence as well as evidence from clinical practice Recovered Memories Seeking the middle ground unlike most other writing on the topic eschews extreme positions It provides clinicians with findings from the latest research to enhance their understanding of memory and presents pure researchers with a range of experiences encountered in clinical practice for which they presently have few explanations Topics include the impact on family and community members the latest findings on implanted memories and discussion of clinical guidelines for therapeutic practice to avoid potential influence on memory Having weighed the evidence a framework is offered in which true and false recovered memories are seen as the inevitable compliment of true and false continuous memories This important new collection should not be missed by anyone with an interest in memory whether engaged in a clinical legal child protection family welfare or experimental research capacity It is the most authoritative and comprehensive review of the evidence on both sides available to date

Presenting the Past Jeffrey Prager, 2009-06-01 Psychology is the dogma of our age psychotherapy is our means of self understanding and repressed memory is now a universally familiar form of trauma Jeffrey Prager who is both a sociologist and a psychoanalyst explores the degree to which we manifest the cliches of our culture in our most private recollections At the core of Presenting the Past is the dramatic and troubling case of a woman who during the course of her analysis began to recall scenes of her own childhood sexual abuse Later the patient came to believe that the trauma she remembered as a physical violation might have been an emotional violation and that she had composed a memory out of present and past relationships But what was accurate and true And what evidence could be persuasive and valuable Could the analyst trust either her convictions or his own Using this case and others Prager explores the nature of memory and its relation to the interpersonal therapeutic and cultural worlds in which remembering occurs Synthesizing research from social science psychoanalysis neuroscience and cognitive psychology Prager uses clinical examples to argue more generally that our memories are never simple records of events but constantly evolving constructions affected by contemporary culture as well as by our own private lives He demonstrates the need that sociology has for the insights of psychoanalysis and the need that psychoanalysis has for the insights of sociology      Reader's Guide to the Social Sciences Jonathan Michie, 2014-02-03 This 2 volume work includes approximately 1 200 entries in A Z order critically reviewing the literature on specific topics from abortion to world systems theory In addition nine major entries cover each of the major disciplines political economy

Cath, Moisy Shopper, 2013-04-15 In an era when teachers commonly report that up to half of the children in their classes come from multiple homes and have multiple caretakers the special psychological challenges of stepparenting have never been in greater need of examination As thoughtful clinicians have long known stepparenting is among the most complicated of psychological projects it may simultaneously be a multifaceted burden and a spur to personal autonomy deepened sensitivity to others and newfound competence as a nurturer Among the thousands of divorced people who remarry each year most despite their best resolve to live in the present persist in reassessing the price of separation especially as they come to appreciate the fact that divorce is seldom a total break for their children Stepparenting is a comprehensive exploration of the process of reconstructing families More specifically it is a book about the perils and promise of stepparenting a caretaking role that may be more challenging than biologically given child rearing Contributors follow people as they try to reevaluate past misunderstandings and acclimate to new parenting contexts and obligations Editors Cath and Shopper have taken pains to offer a balanced purview that includes both successful and maladaptive instances of stepparenting Of special note are the clinical examples throughout the book that chart the extended periods of slow creative learning experienced by parents and children biological and step as they test the waters of new family systems and try to elicit newly attuned responses from each other A Neuro-Psychoanalytical Dialogue for Bridging Freud and the Neurosciences Sigrid Weigel, Gerhard Scharbert, 2015-08-03 The book presents an overview of the term neuropsychanalysis and traces its historical and scientific foundations as well as its cultural implications It also turns its attention to some blind spots open questions and to what the future may hold It examines the cooperative and conflicted relationship between psychoanalysis and neuroscience Articles from different fields investigate the neurological basis of psychoanalysis as well as the psychological terms of neurology They also discuss what psychoanalysis has to offer neuroscience In addition the emerging neuro psychoanalytical dialogue is enriched here by the voice of a culturally informed history of science The book brings leading authorities on these topics into conversation with each other creating an unprecedented opportunity to better understand the language of the psyche Specific concerns include the discussion of corporeality how the body figures into psychoanalysis the meaning of the unconscious in connection with dreams unconscious fantasies and the field of epigenetics Following a historical perspective the book provides a re reading of Freud s drive theory exploring his concept of life at the threshold of science and culture as well as the relationship between various representations somatic states and the origin of drive Overall the book argues that if the different methodological approaches of psychoanalysis and neuroscience are acknowledged not only for their individual uniqueness but also as a dialectic then the resulting epistemological and methodological dialogue might open up a fascinating body of neuropsychanalytical knowledge

Handbook of Parenting Marc H. Bornstein, 2005-02-16 Please see Volume I for a full description and table of contents for all four volumes Handbook of Parenting: Being and becoming a parent Marc H. Bornstein, 2002 Despite the fact that most people become parents and everyone who has ever lived has had parents parenting remains a mystifying subject about which almost everyone has opinions but about which few people agree Striking permutations on the theme of parenting are emerging single parenthood blended families lesbian and gay parents and teen versus fifties first time moms and dads Divided into four volumes the Handbook of Parenting is concerned with different types of parents basic characteristics of parenting forces that shape parenting problems faced by parents and the practical sides of parenting Contributors have worked in different ways toward understanding all of these diverse aspects of parenting and look to the most recent research and thinking in the field to shed light on many topics every parent has wondered about Because development is too subtle dynamic and intricate to admit that parental caregiving alone determines the course and outcome of ontogeny Empathy Vanessa Lux, Sigrid Weigel, 2017-09-14 This book digs into the complex archaeology of empathy illuminating controversies epistemic problems and unanswered questions encapsulated within its cross disciplinary history The authors ask how a neutral innate capacity to directly understand the actions and feelings of others becomes charged with emotion and moral values associated with altruism or caregiving They explore how the discovery of the mirror neuron system and its interpretation as the neurobiological basis of empathy has stimulated such an enormous body of research and how in a number of these studies the moral values and social attitudes underlying empathy in human perception and action are conceptualized as universal traits It is argued that in the humanities the historical cultural and scientific genealogies of empathy and its forerunners such as Einfühlung have been shown to depend on historical preconditions cultural procedures and symbolic systems of production The multiple semantics of empathy and related concepts are discussed in the context of their cultural and historical foundations raising questions about these cross disciplinary constellations This volume will be of interest to scholars of psychology art history cultural research history of science literary studies neuroscience philosophy and psychoanalysis On Freud's Constructions in Analysis Sergio Lewkowicz, Thierry Bokanowski, Georges Pragier, 2020-06-16 In Constructions in Analysis Freud introduces the notion of constructions different from interpretation and considers it necessary under certain conditions to reconstruct a part of the infantile history of the subject The difference between construction and reconstruction as well as which should be the limit of the intervention of the analyst in order to avoid a proposal far removed from the patient discourse are a part of present debates on this subject The editors together with the contributors to this volume accepted the challenge to consider Freudian ideas and its implications nowadays
