Maravelias, Cosimo Solidoro, Sebastián Villasante, Massimiliano Cardinale, 2019-01-11 The application of the Common Fisheries Policy CFP in the Mediterranean and Black Sea faces several challenges also because of large ecological economic political and institutional differences across the basin The challenge of CFP application is exacerbated by the legal administrative situation with large areas outside national EU jurisdictions by the different development of fisheries that result in fleet capacities highly different on opposite shores of some sub basins as well as by uneven monitoring and data availability across the basins that result in situations that hamper sustainable management This book collates analyses related to the application of the principles included in the CFP in Mediterranean and Black Sea including assessments of current status scenario analyses visions of best solutions evaluation of critical hot spots and effects of regionalization of fisheries management The eBook tackles from local to transboundary issues and solutions and provides a broad vision of problems together with important practical solutions for CFP application in the Mediterranean and Black Sea

Operationalizing the Concepts of Resilience and Resistance for Managing Ecosystems and Species at Risk

Jeanne C. Chambers, Craig R. Allen, Samuel A. Cushman, 2020-07-17 Fisheries Management Geoffrey Waugh, 2019-03-04 Among the problems of the modern fisheries industry is the persistent trend toward the severe depletion of fish stocks resulting in low catch rates and poor economic returns along with unnecessary accumulations of capital investments Dr Waugh argues that these problems call for effective management procedures based on bioeconomic modelling which integrates the population dynamics of fish resources with the economic processes of harvesting and marketing Assessing developments in bioeconomic theory Dr Waugh discusses why recent advances have not been fully translated into improvements in the management of marine fisheries He cites the difficulties of reaching a consensus concerning suitable objectives for fisheries management as well as the problems of designing a regulatory framework to improve the operation of the industry To illustrate the utility of bioeconomic modelling Dr Waugh presents case studies of two Australian fisheries A dynamic stochastic numeric model is developed for the Exmouth Gulf Prawn Fishery to provide insights into the optimal exploitation of a yearly resource where fluctuations in recruitment natural mortality and catchability are important The study of the New South Wales Abalone Fishery highlights the difficulties of obtaining the necessary overview of a fishery and the problems in collecting the data required for modelling and management
