Industry, State, and Society in Stalin's Russia, 1926-1934 David R. Shearer,2018-09-05 In his reexamination of the origins of the Stalinist state during the formative period of rapid industrialization in the late 1920s and early 1930s David R Shearer argues that a centralized state controlled economic system was the consciously conceived political creation of Stalinist leaders rather than the inevitable by product of socialist industrialization Focusing on the different economic and bureaucratic cultures within the industrial system Shearer reconstructs the debates in 1928 and 1929 over administrative financial and commercial reform He uses information from recently opened archives to show that attempts by the state s trading organizations to create a commercial economy enjoyed wide support offering a model that combined planning and rapid industrialization with social democracy and economic prosperity In an effort to crush the syndicate movement and establish tight political control over the economy Stalinist leaders intervened with a program of radical reforms Shearer demonstrates that professional engineers planners and industrial administrators in many cases actively supported the creation of a powerful industrial state unhampered by domestic social and economic constraints The paradoxical result Shearer shows was a loss of control The overly centralized system that emerged during the first Five Year Plan was rendered incoherent by periodic economic crises and the continuing influence of partially suppressed social and market forces peasant rebellions black market crimes official corruption and homosexual and ethnic subcultures Russia's Uncommon Prophet Wallace L. Daniel, 2016-04-20 This lucidly written biography of Aleksandr Men examines the familial and social context from which Men developed as a Russian Orthodox priest Wallace Daniel presents a different picture of Russia and the Orthodox Church than the stereotypes found in much of the popular literature Men offered an alternative to the prescribed ways of thinking imposed by the state and the church Growing up during the darkest most oppressive years in the history of the former Soviet Union he became a parish priest who eschewed fear who followed Christ's command to love thy neighbor as thyself and who attracted large diverse groups of people in Russian society How he accomplished those tasks and with what ultimate results are the main themes of this story Conflict and controversy marked every stage of Men's priesthood His parish in the vicinity of Moscow attracted the attention of the KGB especially as it became a haven for members of the intelligentsia He endured repeated attacks from ultraconservative anti-Semitic circles inside the Orthodox Church For Men represented the spiritual vision of an open non-authoritarian Christianity and his lectures were extremely popular He was murdered on September 9 1990 For years his work was unavailable in most church bookstores in Russia and his teachings were excoriated by some both within and outside the church But his books continue to offer hope to many throughout the world they have sold millions of copies and are testimony to his continuing relevance and enduring significance This important biography will appeal to scholars and general readers interested in religion politics and global affairs Hungry and Starving James R. Gibson, 2024-02-13 In the wake of Vladimir Lenin's death in 1924 various protagonists grappled to become his successor but it was not until 1928 that Joseph Stalin emerged as leader of the Russian Marxists Bolshevik wing Surrounded by an increasingly hostile capitalist world Stalin reasoned that Soviet Russia had to industrialize in order to survive and prosper But domestic capital was scarce so the country's minerals timber and grain were sold abroad for hard currency for funding the development of heavy industry Claiming total control of agricultural management and production Stalin implemented the collectivization of farming consolidating small peasant holdings into large collective farms and controlling their output The program was economically successful but it came at a high social cost as the state encountered intense resistance and between 1928 and 1934 collectivization led to the deaths of at least ten million people from starvation and associated diseases Hungry and Starving elicits the voices of both the culprits and the victims at the centre of this horrific process Through primary accounts of collectivization as well as the eyewitness observations of ambassadors reporters tourists fellow travellers Russian emigrants tsarist officials aristocrats scientists and technical specialists James Gibson engages the crucial notions and actors in the academic discourse of the period He finds that the famine lasted longer than is commonly supposed that it took place on a national rather than a regional scale and that while the famine was entirely man-made the result of the ruthless manner in which collectivization was executed and enforced it was neither deliberate nor ethnically motivated given that it was not in the Soviet state's economic or political
