Literary Partnerships and the Marketplace David Dowling,2012-01-16 In Literary Partnerships and the Marketplace David Dowling examines an often overlooked aspect of the history of publishing relationships of both a business and a personal nature The book focuses on several intriguing duos of the nineteenth century and explores the economics of literary partnerships between author publisher student mentor husband wife and parent child These literary companions range from Emerson s promotion of Thoreau a relationship fraught with pitfalls and misjudgments to Davis Inc the seamless joining of the literary and legal minds of Rebecca Harding Davis and her husband L Clarke Davis Dowling also considers and analyzes the teams of Washington Irving and his publisher John Murray Herman Melville and his editor Evert Duyckinck E D E N Southworth and Robert Bonner the publisher who serialized her sentimental novels Fanny Fern both with her brother publisher Nathaniel Parker Willis and with Robert Bonner the latter a more successful pairing and the famous fraternal relationship between Ernest Hemingway and Gertrude Stein Throughout Dowling demonstrates the intrinsic irony of authors projecting their labors of the mind as autonomous even as they relied heavily on their literary partners to aid them in navigating the business side of writing Elizabeth Stoddard & the Boundaries of Bourgeois Culture Lynn

Harris, 1995 While critical studies of the American political novel date from the 1920s such considerations of the genre have failed whether wittingly or unwittingly to recognize works by women The exclusion is usually based on a distinction between social novels and political novels and the result is an understanding of the political as a largely male province In this thought provoking collection of essays the contributors seek not simply to add works by women to the canon of political novels but rather to demand a conceptual revolution one that questions the very precepts on which the canon is based This redefinition of the political novel takes many factors into account including gender race and class and their relation to our most basic conceptions of literary and aesthetic value
