Sacred Fictions:

Sacred Fictions Lynda L. Coon, 1997 Late antique and early medieval hagiographic texts present holy women as simultaneously pious and corrupt hideous and beautiful exemplars of depravity and models of sanctity In Sacred Fictions Lynda Coon unpacks these paradoxical representations to reveal the construction and circumscription of women's roles in the early Christian centuries Coon discerns three distinct paradigms for female sanctity in saints' lives and patristic and monastic writings Women are recurrently figured as repentant desert hermits wealthy widows or cloistered ascetic nuns and biblical discourse informs the narrative content rhetorical strategies and symbolic meanings of these texts in complex and multivalent ways If hagiographers made their women saints walk on water resurrect the dead or consecrate the Eucharist they also curbed the power of women by teaching that the daughters of Eve must make their bodies impenetrable through militant chastity or spiritual exile and must eradicate self-indulgence through ascetic attire or philanthropy The windows the sacred fiction of holy women open on the past are far from transparent driven by both literary invention and moral imperative the stories they tell helped shape Western gender constructs that have survived into modern times The Song of Songs Through the Ages Annette Schellenberg, 2023-04-27 The Song of Songs is a fascinating text Read as an allegory of God's love for Israel the Church or individual believers it became one of the most influential texts from the Bible This volume includes twenty-three essays that cover the Song's reception history from antiquity to the present They illuminate the richness of this reception history paying attention to diverse interpretations in commentaries sermons and other literature as well as the Song's impact on spirituality theological and intellectual debates and the arts The Sex Lives of Saints Virginia Burrus, 2010-08-03 Has a repressive morality been the primary contribution of Christianity to the history of sexuality The ascetic concerns that pervade ancient Christian texts would seem to support such a common assumption Focusing on hagiographical literature Virginia Burrus pursues a fresh path of interpretation arguing that the early accounts of the lives of saints are not antierotic but rather convey a sublimely transgressive countereroticism that resists the marital procreative ethic of sexuality found in other strands of Christian tradition Without reducing the erotics of ancient hagiography to a single formula The Sex Lives of Saints frames the broad historical theological and theoretical issues at stake in such a revisionist interpretation of ascetic eroticism with particular reference to the work of Michel Foucault and Georges Bataille David Halperin and Geoffrey Harpham Leo Bersani and Jean Baudrillard Burrus subsequently proceeds through close performative readings of the earliest Lives of Saints mostly dating to the late fourth and early fifth centuries Jerome's Lives of Paul Malchus Hilarion and Paula Gregory of Nyssa's Life of Macrina Augustine's portrait of Monica Sulpicius Severus's Life of Martin and the slightly later Lives of so-called harlot saints Queer's m and postcolonial theories are among the contemporary discourses that prove intriguingly resonant with an ancient art of saintly loving that remains in Burrus's reading promisingly mobile diverse and open-ended The Book of Nature John Mason Good, 1828 The Footprints of Michael the Archangel J. Arnold, 2013-10-23 Early Christians sought miracles from Michael the Archangel and this enigmatic ecumenical figure was the subject of hagiography liturgical texts and relics across Western Europe Entering contemporary debates about angelology this fascinating study explores the formation and diffusion of the cult of Saint Michael from c 300 c 800

Human Progress Amid Resistance to Change Joseph E. Pluta, 2011-04 In building their profession around carefully selected interpretations of the work of Adam Smith Alfred Marshall and others mainstream economists have embraced such concepts as the invisible hand equilibrium consumer rationality the marginal productivity theory the inevitability of diminishing returns and the fiction of pure competition In contrast the evolutionary economics of Thorstein Veblen and Clarence Ayres challenges all of these concepts as unproven and capable of telling us little or nothing about the actual operation of the economy Using the evolutionary framework Human Progress Amid Resistance to Change argues that all cultures since prehistory have faced two opposing forces technology including human knowledge and institutions rooted in ceremonialism The former is dynamic forward looking accepting of change cumulative one discovery builds on another and the major cause of human progress The latter is static and consists of all customs traditions superstitions rituals ceremonies taboos and past binding religious beliefs that resist change The book illustrates in detail how these competing forces have interacted throughout the history of the human race and how mainstream economics fails to grasp the significance of their combined effects women the Cappadocian Mothers who may have had more influence on the theology of the church than previously believed As the Cappadocians wrestle with the Christianization of the concept of deification we find the women in their lives becoming models for their theological understanding The lives of the women become points of intersection in the kenosis theosis parabola Not only are the Cappadocian Mothers uncovered in the texts but they become models of an optimistic theology of restoration for all of humanity without constraint of gender
