Mayntz,U. Schimank,P. Weingart,2013-11-11 When the socialist regime in Central and Eastern Europe CEE was overthrown around the end of the eighties beginning of the nineties an overall transformation of whole societies started Not only the political and the economic systems of these countries but all societal sectors underwent deep changes These changes presented opportunities but they also spelled trouble On one hand getting rid of stifling political control and excessive bureaucratic regulation was something which most members of these societies desired On the other it became apparent very soon that the necessary and long hoped for rebuilding of the economy education health care the mass media and science too was strongly restricted by the scarcity of financial resources After a short period during which opportunities were energetically taken up in a spirit of hope came a long and still lasting time of growing troubles and despondency Only in a few of the CEE countries have some glimpses of hope become visible recently and it remains to be seen whether these signals are reliable Until now therefore the transformation dynamics of all societal sectors in all of the CEE countries have primarily been troublesome This is surely true for the post socialist research systems I The demise of the communist party's absolute rule over society has allowed researchers the public expression and the pursuit of goals whose common denominator has been a greater self regulation of scientific research according to its own criteria and logic

Barriers to Bioweapons Sonia Ben Ouagrham-Gormley,2014-12-15 In both the popular imagination and among lawmakers and national security experts there exists the belief that with sufficient motivation and material resources states or terrorist groups can produce bioweapons easily cheaply and successfully In Barriers to Bioweapons Sonia Ben Ouagrham Gormley challenges this perception by showing that bioweapons development is a difficult protracted and expensive endeavor rarely achieving the expected results whatever the magnitude of investment Her findings are based on extensive interviews she conducted with former U S and Soviet era bioweapons scientists and on careful analysis of archival data and other historical documents related to various state and terrorist bioweapons programs Bioweapons development relies on living organisms that are sensitive to their environment and handling conditions and therefore behave unpredictably These features place a greater premium on specialized knowledge Ben Ouagrham Gormley posits that lack of access to such intellectual capital constitutes the greatest barrier to the making of bioweapons She integrates theories drawn from economics the sociology of science organization and management with her empirical research The resulting theoretical framework rests on the idea that the pace and success of a bioweapons development program can be measured by its ability to ensure the creation and transfer of scientific and technical knowledge The specific organizational managerial social political and economic conditions necessary for success are difficult to achieve particularly in covert programs where the need to prevent detection imposes managerial and organizational conditions that conflict with knowledge production Attitude Towards Information N. G Satish,1994 Managing Technical People Watts S. Humphrey,1997 Well known author and long time manager Watts Humphrey offers keen insight into the special challenge of identifying motivating and organizing creative technical people and the opportunities involved in managing these people

Science and Cultural Context Nina Toren, 1988 Drawing on the idea that science is not culture free or context independent this book examines the ways in which scientists beliefs conceptions values and attitudes vary according to sociocultural contexts Soviet scientists who immigrated to Israel in the 1970s are compared to scientists from the United States in respect to their value orientations work attitudes importance attributed to scientific autonomy and conception of the relationships between science and society The study identifies the aspects which are culture specific and those which are
