Journals of the Century Tony Stankus, 2019-12-06 This book first published in 2002 gathers some of America s top subject expert librarians to determine the most influential journals in their respective fields 32 contributing authors reviewed journals from over twenty countries that have successfully shaped the evolution of their individual specialties worldwide Their choices reflect the history of each discipline or profession taking into account rivalries between universities professional societies for profit and not for profit publishers and even nation states and international ideologies in each journal's quest for reputational dominance Each journal was judged using criteria such as longevity of publication foresight in carving out its niche ability to attract none are in the employ of any publisher but each is fully credentialed and well published and many are award winners The authors guide college and professional school librarians on limited budgets via an exposition of their analytical and critical winnowing process in determining the classic resources for their faculty students and working professional clientele Making Waves North American Serials Interest Group. Conference, P. Michelle Fiander, Joseph C. Harmon, Lynne F. Griffin, 2001 Making Waves New Serials Landscapes in a Sea of Change addresses the traditional concerns of librarians in innovative ways Budgets are discussed in terms of serials purchasing consortia and the globalization of academic publishing Cataloging and preserving now include electronic materials These proceedings of the fifteenth conference of the North American Serials Interest Group Inc also include discussions of the Digital Millennium Copyright Act and reports on specific test projects such as BioOne the Open Archives Project and PubMed Central The University of Michigan Library Newsletter, 1988

Budgets for Acquisitions Sul H. Lee, 2019-12-05 This book first published in 1991 deals with the demanding problems of smaller acquisitions budgets In recent years librarians have seen their finances diminishing while the prices of serials and monographs have risen steadily Now with major decisions having to be made concerning such things as automation monograph collections and subscription renewals librarians are having to assume the role of business manager and dealer This book takes an in depth look at the situation and offers practical suggestions for working through the lean years Strategies for getting the most for your money when dealing with vendors selective collection development and maintenance and making calculated decisions on how to divide the library's funds are just a few of the topics covered in this helpful new book Electronic Expectations Tony Stankus, 2000-04-18 Explore the future of Internet based Science Journals Electronic Expectations Science Journals on the Web chronicles the convergence of financial technical and public policy considerations that turned what seemed like science fiction twenty years ago into a library fact of life today The book shows that while electronic publication greatly speeds issuance of important scientific results of enduring value it also has the potential to lower the economic threshold at which crank papers and marginal publications can gain a wide if sadly misled audience in the short run In Electronic Expectations editor Tony Stankus predicts with splendid irony that the electronic journals that will matter the most to genuine scientific progress will be the web versions of long standing leaders among traditional print journals whose electronic typesetting requirements gave the web its first format conventions and rules for safe content transmission Electronic Expectations will empower you to assess the existing print journal system and its prospects for improvement through electronic publishing discern the competing motivations and strategies of science researchers librarians publishers and journal aggregators in going electronic identify the web winners and losers after these first ten years understand the underlying business and technological warfare affecting the larger future of the internet Electronic

Expectations demonstrates that while scientists invented the web they no longer control it and that even the very largest research organizations libraries publishers and journal aggregators will to a substantial degree be at the technological and economic mercy of commercial users of the web
