Rennie, 2020-07-31 Looking at texts written throughout the careers of Edith Wharton Ellen La Motte Mary Borden Thomas Boyd F Scott Fitzgerald Laurence Stallings and Ernest Hemingway American Writers and World War I argues that authors war writing continuously evolved in response to developments in their professional and personal lives Recent research has focused on constituencies of identity such as gender race and politics registered in American Great War writing Rather than being dominated by their perceived membership of such socio political categories this study argues that writers reacted to and represented the war in complex ways which were frequently linked to the exigencies of maintaining a career as a professional author War writing was implicated in and influenced by wider cultural forces such as governmental censorship the publishing business advertising and the Hollywood film industry American Writers and World War I argues that even authors hallmark anti war works are in fact characterized by an awareness of the war's nuanced effects on society and individuals By tracking authors war writing throughout their entire careers in well known texts autobiography correspondence and neglected works this study contends that writers reactions were multifaceted and subject to change in response to their developments as writers and individuals This work also uncovers the hitherto unexplored importance of American cultural and literary precedents which offered writers means of assessing the war Ultimately the volume argues American World War I writing was highly personal complex and idiosyncratic Screenwriters José Guilherme Correa, 2016-07-13 Screen writing is a unique literary form Screenplays are like musical scores in that they are intended to be interpreted on the basis of other artists performances rather than serving as finished products for the enjoyment of their readers They are written using technical jargon and tight spare prose to describe set directions Unlike a novella a script focuses on describing the literal visual aspects of the story rather than on its characters internal thoughts In screen writing the aim is to evoke those thoughts and emotions through subtext action and symbolism Prominent Hollywood script doctors include Steve Zaillian William Goldman Robert Towne Mort Nathan Quentin Tarantino etc while many up and coming screenwriters work as ghost writers This book is a modest catalogue of some of the most prominent screenwriters listed from A to Z The good are sometimes bad and they can be even Ugly Many comments herein included were googled in deference to the multiplicity of information available today yet they reflect exactly or almost what I thought An amazing thing today is how anonymous commentators on the Internet rival and even surpass the poor quality of professional media and specialised literature It all comes down to watching the truth 24 times per second to quote Jean Luc Godard s phrase Not to mention that such truth may include sex scenes violence pedophilia etc We know that a literary masterpiece like Henry James Portrait of a Lady became a film of very poor quality as scripted by Laura Jones We know conversely that a mediocre writer like Mickey Spillane inspired at least one film as remarkable as Kiss Me Deadly thanks to A I Bezzerides script As a former screenwriter Mr Correa must avow that he found the job most gratifying Writing that looks effortless is often hellish to write and revise It was something he did have to slog through but it proved particularly pleasing Editing discussing finishing your work is particularly gratifying Identifying your flaws and working to mitigate them is also gratifying It is a general perception that creative careers are more interesting and fun than others But the privilege of earning money through imagination and creativity is effectively hard won Please comment at will Please disagree at will Be facetious in your remarks but please be neither vicious nor mean spirited
