dictionary and I have to try and spell it They have to give me the same clues that I give them every day They must pronounce it correctly give me the number of letters in the word break it into syllables and give the number of letters in each and give me the definition With those clues I can spell almost any word but they love to stump me which they do Besides spelling they learn new words while they use a dictionary After years of frustration trying to put on plays I began to write my own I had experienced the frustration of long plays with a huge cast so every child had some lines I was tired of screaming at the children who were bored inattentive and got into mischief because they were waiting around to say their lines I had academic work for them but the action on the stage was distracting and I was busy as THE Director My plays we Wedge

Suzanne writes about her experiences and tries to make some sense of this confusion we call American education. With a European perspective she will develop the best of both worlds by outlining the best of both educational systems. To balance this rather serious subject she will insert poetry to lighten the way to a different paradigm shift. What programs are better, how are they instituted, and where can they be rearranged to enhance the educational experience? That part of the study will presently unfold.
