Sigena: Romanesque Paintings in Spain & the Winchester Bible Artists Walter Oakeshott, 1972-01-01 Romanesque Patrons and Processes Jordi Camps, Manuel Castiñeiras, John McNeill, Richard Plant, 2018-03-09 The twenty five papers in this volume arise from a conference jointly organised by the British Archaeological Association and the Museu Nacional d'Art de Catalunya in Barcelona They explore the making of art and architecture in Latin Europe and the Mediterranean between c 1000 and c 1250 with a particular focus on questions of patronage design and instrumentality No previous studies of patterns of artistic production during the Romanesque period rival the breadth of coverage encompassed by this volume both in terms of geographical origin and media and in terms of historical approach Topics range from case studies on Santiago de Compostela the Armenian Cathedral in Jerusalem and the Winchester Bible to reflections on textuality and donor literacy the culture of abbatial patronage at Saint Michel de Cuxa and the re-invention of slab relief sculpture around 1100 The volume also includes papers that attempt to recover the procedures that coloured interaction between artists and patrons a serious theme in a collection that opens with Function condition and process in eleventh century Anglo Norman church architecture and ends with a consideration of The death of the patron

Pictorial Narrative in the Romanesque Cloister Pamela Anne Patton, 2004 Praised as paradisiacal or denounced as impious fantasy the sculpture of Romanesque cloisters played a powerful role in medieval monastic life This book demonstrates how sculpture in the cloister the physical and spiritual heart of the religious foundation could be shrewdly configured to articulate the most influential ideals and experiences of its individual community Taking as its focus the visually rich highly organized narrative programs of three twelfth century Spanish cloisters this book reveals the power of such imagery to reflect and reinforce the social and spiritual preoccupations of its age

Romanesque and the Mediterranean Rosa Bacile, 2017-12-02 The sixteen papers collected in this volume explore points of contact across the Latin Greek and Islamic worlds between c 1000 and c 1250 They arise from a conference organized by the British

Archaeological Association in Palermo in 2012 and reflect its interest in patterns of cultural exchange across the Mediterranean ranging from the importation of artefacts textiles ceramics ivories and metalwork for the most part to a specific desire to recruit eastern artists or emulate eastern Mediterranean buildings The individual essays cover a wide range of topics and media from the ways in which the Cappella Palatina in Palermo fostered contacts between Muslim artists and Christian models the importance of dress and textiles in the wider world of Mediterranean design and the possible use of Muslim trained sculptors in the emergent architectural sculpture of late 11th century northern Spain to the significance of western saints in the development of Bethlehem as a pilgrimage centre and of eastern painters and techniques in the proliferation of panel painting in Catalonia around 1200 There are studies of buildings and the ideological purpose behind them at Canosa Apulia Feldebro Hungary and Charroux Aquitaine comparative studies of the domed churches of western France significant reappraisals of the porphyry tombs in Palermo cathedral the pictorial programme adopted in the Baptistry at Parma and of the chapter house paintings at Sigena and wide ranging papers on the migration of images of exotic creatures across the Mediterranean and on that most elusive and apparently Mediterranean of objects the Oliphant The volume concludes with a study of the emergence of a supra regional style of architectural sculpture in the western Mediterranean and evident in Barcelona Tarragona and Provence It is a third volume based on the British Archaeological Association's 2014 Conference in Barcelona will explore Romanesque Patrons and Processes

The Regional and Transregional in Romanesque Europe John McNeill, Richard Plant, 2021-11-29 The Regional and Transregional in Romanesque Europe considers the historiography and usefulness of regional categories and in so doing explores the strength durability mutability and geographical scope of regional and transregional phenomena in the Romanesque period This book addresses the complex question of the significance of regions in the creation of Romanesque particularly in relation to transregional and pan European artistic styles and approaches The categorization of Romanesque by region was a cornerstone of 19th and 20th century scholarship albeit one vulnerable to the application of anachronistic concepts of regional identity Individual chapters explore the generation and reception of forms the conditions that give rise to the development of transregional styles and the agencies that cut across territorial boundaries There are studies of regional styles in Aquitaine Castile Sicily Hungary and Scandinavia workshops in Worms and the Welsh Marches the transregional nature of liturgical furnishings the cultural geography of the new monastic orders metalworking in Hildesheim and the valley of the Meuse and the links which connect Piemonte with Conques The Regional and Transregional in Romanesque Europe offers a new vision of regions in the creation of Romanesque relevant to archaeologists art historians and historians alike

Sigena Walter Oakeshott, 1972 Byzantine Images and their Afterlives Lynn Jones, 2016-12-05 The twelve papers written for this volume reflect the wide scope of Annemarie Weyl Carr's interests and the equally wide impact of her work The concepts linking the essays include the examination of form and meaning the relationship between original and copy and reception and cultural identity in medieval art and architecture Carr's work focuses on the object but considers the audience looks at the copy for retention or rejection of the original form and meaning and always seeks to understand the relationship between intent and perception She examines the elusive nature of center and periphery expanding and enriching the discourse of manuscript production icons and their copies and the dissemination of style and meaning Her body of work is impressive in its chronological scope and geographical extent as is her ability to tie together aspects of patronage production and influence across the medieval Mediterranean The volume opens with an overview of Carr's career at Southern Methodist University by Bonnie Wheeler Kathleen Maxwell Justine Andrews and Pamela Patton contribute chapters in which they examine workshops subgroups and influences in manuscript production and reception Diliانا Angelova Lynn Jones and Ida Sinkevici offer explorations of intent and reception focusing on imperial patronage relics and reliquaries Cypriot studies are represented by Michele Bacci and Maria Vassilaki who examine aspects of form and style in architecture and icons The final chapters by Jaroslav Folda Anthony Cutler Rossitza Schroeder and Ann Driscoll are linked by their focus on the nature of copies and tease out the ways in which meaning is retained or altered and the role that is played by intent and reception

The Romanesque Painted Altar Frontals of Spain Ellen Schiferl, 1980 Hospitaller Women in the Middle Ages Anthony Luttrell, Helen J. Nicholson, 2017-05-15 This volume brings together recent and new research with several items specially translated into English on the sisters of the largest and most long lived of the military religious orders the Hospital of St John of Jerusalem In recent years there has been increasing scholarly interest in women's religious houses during the Middle Ages with particular focus on the problems which they faced and the social needs which they performed The military religious orders have been largely excluded from this interest partly because it has been assumed that women played little role in religious orders with a predominantly military purpose Recent research has shown this to be a misconception Study of the women members of these orders enables scholars to gain a deeper appreciation of the nature of hospitaller and military orders and of the role of women in religious life in general The papers in this volume explore the roles which the Hospitaller sisters performed within their order examine the problems of having men and women living within the same or adjoining houses study relations between the order and the patrons of its women's houses and consider the career of a prominent Hospitaller woman who became a saint This volume will be of interest not only to scholars of the military religious orders and of the Hospital of St John in particular but also to scholars of monastic history and to those with a concern for women's history during the middle ages Medieval Art and Architecture in the Diocese of Glasgow Richard

Fawcett, 2024-11-01 This volume includes many of the papers given at the 1997 conference of the British Archaeological Association It focuses on aspects of patronage the wider architectural context of the cathedral and on the Romanesque sculpture and manuscripts with the diocese Routledge Revivals: Medieval England (1998) Paul E.
