

Critical Analysis of Twain's on the Decay of the Art of Lying

"Lying is universal – we all do it. "

In the essay, the author believes that all men lie because we must lie. There are many instances wherein men were prompted to lie at some point of their lives for the benefit of others. According to him, it's better to give a good lie than a destructive truth. Lying for other's advantage was given precedence than telling the truth at all times no matter how it hurts. Unfortunately, lying is easily covered with different alibis and given little thought of how destructive it might become on the long run. Twain considers lying as a noble art. It is the fourth grace and an eternal virtue. "Judicious lying is what the world needs," he said. He'd sometimes think that it's better not to lie if the lie will be destructive to others. For him, a habitual truth-teller [someone who speaks truthfully at all times] doesn't exist and had never existed. The author gives us a simple look on how lying had become the fad of his generation. Even in the tiniest of things, people tend to lie. It goes to show that many are pretentious and still is today. However, the author overlooks one thing. True – a lie for the good of another might be reasonable – but lying will always be lying. Truth hurts indeed but a lie hurts even more when unveiled. As far as God is concerned, liars go to hell. A small lie can lead people to the lake of fire. Of course, God forgives sins. He forgives lying, too, so long as the person will repent from it. Avoiding lies might be hard to do with all the deception and temptation going on around but it's not impossible. Fearing to tell the truth means that you're afraid of what will happen to you. In order to protect one's self from being punished or from hurting others, lying becomes the scapegoat. Eventually, it develops into a habit and you become a 'master' at it. For Twain, he is still a newbie in this game. He would like for this art to be cultivated in the forms of charitable and unselfish lying. Again, lying is always and has always been a manifestation of selfishness. Lastly, uttering lies won't disappear in the years ahead but it's elevation as a virtue might need some thinking. It is an agonizing fact that some think the same way as Twain does. The difference is that he (Twain) was able to voice out his opinions in a very artistic way through his writing while other people don't care that much. This essay is an eye opener for all the people in this world about the art of lying. This form of art encompasses race, gender and culture. Different punishments await the liar but that never abolished it altogether. As long as people continue to let lies surround them, this art won't be decaying soon. "For the sin of their mouth and the words of their lips let them even be taken in their pride: and for cursing and lying which they speak. " Psalm 59:12 KJV

Lying, Misleading, and What is Said Jennifer Mather Saul, 2012-10-25 Many people both philosophers and not find it very natural to think that deceiving someone in a way that avoids lying by merely misleading is morally preferable to simply lying Others think that this preference is deeply misguided But all sides agree that there is a distinction In Lying Misleading and What is Said Jennifer Saul undertakes a close examination of the lying misleading distinction Saul begins by using this very intuitive distinction to shed new light on entrenched debates in philosophy of language over notions like what is said Next she tackles the puzzling but widespread moral preference for misleading over lying and arrives at a new view regarding the moral significance of the distinction Finally Saul draws her conclusions together to examine a range of historically important and interesting cases from a consideration of modern politicians to the early Jesuits Lies, Damned Lies, and Drug War Statistics, Second Edition Matthew B. Augustine's Theory of Signs, Signification, and Lying Remo Gramigna, 2020-01-20 The aim of this study is to present as far as possible a general description of the theory of the sign and signification in Augustine of Hippo 354 430 AD with a view to its evaluation and implications for the study of semiotics Accurate studies for subject discipline and significance have not yet given an organic and systematic vision of Augustine s theory of the sign The underlying aspiration is that such an endeavour will prove to be beneficial to the scholars of Augustine s thought as well as to those with a keen interest in the history of semiotics The study uses Augustine s own accounts to investigate and interpret the philosophical problem of the sign The focus lies on the first decade of Augustine s literary production The De dialectica is taken as the terminus ad quo of the study and the De doctrina christiana is the terminus ad quem The selected texts show an explicit engagement with poignant discussion on the nature and structure of the sign the variety of signs and their uses Although Augustine s intention never was to establish a theory of meaning as an independent field of study he largely employed a theory of signs Thus Augustine s approach to signs is intrinsically meaningful
