Epigenetics of B Cells and Antibody Responses Paolo Casali, 2016-04-12 Epigenetics is the study of changes in gene activity that are heritable but not caused by changes in the DNA sequence By modulating gene activities epigenetic changes regulate cell functions They include DNA methylation histone posttranslational modifications and gene silencing by the action of non coding RNAs particularly microRNAs It is now clear that epigenetic changes regulate B cell development By acting in concert with networks of transcription factors they modulate the activation of B cell lineage specific gene programs and repress inappropriate gene transcription in particular B cell differentiation states A hallmark of B cell development in the bone marrow is the assembly of the B cell receptor BCR for antigen through rearrangement of immunoglobulin heavy IgH and light IgL chain V D J genes as mediated by RAG1 RAG2 recombinases Ig V D J rearrangement critically times the progression from pro B cell to pre B cell and finally mature B cell Such progression is modulated by epigenetic marks such as DNA methylation and histone posttranslational modifications that increase chromatin accessibility and target RAG1 and RAG2 to V, D and J DNA. It is also dependent on the expression of multiple microRNAs. Mice deficient in Ago2 which is essential for microRNA biogenesis and function have B cell development blocked at the pro B cell stage. In agreement with this, B cell specific ablation of microRNA by B cell specific knockout of Dicer virtually blocks B cell differentiation at the pro B to pre B cell transition. After mature B cells encounter antigen, changes of the epigenetic landscape are induced by the same stimuli that drive the antibody response; such epigenetic changes underpin the maturation of the antibody response itself. They instruct those B cell differentiation processes: somatic hypermutation, SHM, class switch DNA recombination, CSR and plasma cell differentiation that are central to the maturation of the antibody response as well as differentiation of memory B cells. Inducible histone modifications together with DNA methylation and microRNAs modulate the transcriptome, particularly the expression of activation induced cytidine deaminase, AID, central to SHM and CSR, and B lymphocyte induced maturation protein 1, Blimp 1, which is central to plasma cell differentiation. Combinatorial histone modifications also function as histone codes in the targeting of the CSR and possibly the SHM machinery to the Ig locus by recruiting specific adaptors, histone code readers that can in turn target and/or stabilize CSR, SHM factors. Epigenetic alterations in memory B cells contribute to their functional distinction from their naive counterparts. Memory B cells inherit epigenetic information from their precursors and acquire new epigenetic marks which make these resting B cells poised to promptly respond to antigen. The cross feedback regulation of different epigenetic modifications elements further increases the complexity of the B cell epigenome which interacts with the genetic information for precise modulation of gene expression. It is increasingly evident that epigenetic dysregulation in B cells including aberrant expression of microRNAs can result in aberrant antibody responses to microbial pathogens, emergence of pathogenic autoantibodies or B cell neoplastic transformation. Epigenetic marks are potential targets for new therapeutics in autoimmunity and B cell malignancy.

Antibodies as Carriers of Cytotoxicity H. H. Sedlacek, G. Seemann, D. Hoffmann, J. Czech, P. Lorenz, C. Kolar, K. Bosslet, 1992-05-07      Sequences of Proteins of Immunological Interest, 1991      Direct and Large-Eddy Simulation III Peter R. Voke, Neil D. Sandham, Leonhard Kleiser, 2013-03-09. The practical importance of turbulence led the U K Royal Academy of Engineering to launch an Initiative on Turbulence the most important outcome of which was the definition and agreement of the 1999 Newton Institute Research Programme on Turbulence. The main aim of the month programme held at the institute in Cambridge was to bring together the mathematics and engineering communities involved in the turbulence area to address the many problems and to map out future strategy. As a part of the Research Programme a Symposium on Direct and Large Eddy Simulation was jointly organised with ERCOFTAC through their Large Eddy Simulation Interest Group and took place in May 1999. Two previous ERCOFTAC Workshops had already taken place on these closely related varieties of turbulence simulation at The University of Surrey in 1994 and at Universite Joseph Fourier Grenoble in 1996. The

Symposium at Cambridge was therefore the third in the ERCOFTAC series enhanced by the presence of leading figures in the field from Europe and the USA who were resident at INI for that period of the Research Programme Professors M Germano A Leonard J Jimenez R Kerr and S Sarkar gave the invited lectures text versions of which will be found in this volume As occurred at the previous two ERCOFTAC workshops there were almost one hundred participants mostly from Europe but including some from Japan and the USA including on this occasion resident scientists of the INI Research Programme
