Italian Armoured & Reconnaissance Cars 1911-45 Filippo Cappellano, Pier Paolo Battistelli, 2018-07-26 The first Italian armoured cars were used in the war in Libya in 1911-12 against the Ottoman Empire. With few tanks being developed, the Italians relied instead on the development of more mobile armoured cars like the Ansaldo Lancia 1 Z during World War I. But post-war the army, focusing on the Alpine battlegrounds of Italy's northern borders, did not consider armoured cars suitable for reconnaissance duties. The experience of the Spanish Civil War would provide the much-needed last push for the Italians to develop modern armoured cars. The result were the famous AB 41-43 models which fought against the British in North Africa and Marshall Tito's forces in Yugoslavia along with other vehicles such as the AS 36 light armoured car. Using detailed colour plates and contemporary photographs, this book examines the development of the Italian armoured car in the two world wars and the inter-war years from the deserts of North Africa to the slopes of the Alps.

Soviet Armoured Cars 1936-45 Jamie Prenatt, 2020-10-29 The armoured car has an important place in the early history of Soviet armoured fighting vehicles (AFVs). They were the most important AFV during the Russian Civil War and figured prominently in the mechanization of the Red Army that began in late 1929. The 1930s saw the development and production of a wide variety of armoured cars which were used extensively in Soviet conflicts from then on. They saw service in the Spanish Civil War in the 1930s, the Manchurian conflict with Japan and in the occupation of the Baltic states and the invasion of Poland and Finland. Although many of its armoured cars were lost in the early months following the German invasion in June 1941, Russia continued with its armoured car development program and the final model, the BA 64, was accepted for service in 1942 with over 9,000 built before production ended in 1946. This detailed book provides a survey of Russian armoured cars from 1936 to 1945, focusing on the history, design and specifications of the wheeled armoured cars that entered series production, including the rail variants and tracked BA 30. Packed with photographs, cross-sections and stunning battleplates, this is a comprehensive guide to some of the Red Army's fastest AFVs.

American Wheeled Armoured Fighting Vehicles Michael Green, 2016-10-31 A solid quick reference on the evolution of American wheeled AFVs and provides excellent visual information for the enthusiast and researcher. War Wheels: Numerous wheeled armoured fighting vehicles have seen service in the US armed forces on and off for over eighty years. There have been various changes of policy and twice after the Second World War and Vietnam they went out of favour, but their use is now well established. This well-researched and superbly illustrated book describes all the different types and variants since the first M1 was ordered in 1931. The M8 armoured car was widely used during World War Two, but it was not until Vietnam that further wheeled AFVs came into service, notably the M706 armoured car. After a lull, the US Marine Corps adopted the Light Armoured Vehicle (LAV) in 1983. The US Army first used armoured Humvees in 1994 and variants remain in service. M1141 and M1116. Other types today include the Guardian M1117 and the Army version of the LAV, named the Stryker. To meet the operational requirements of Iraq and Afghanistan, the Mine Resistant Ambush Protected vehicle MRAP was ordered in bulk from 2007 A must have for the military history buff this volume contains rare photographs from wartime archives Modellers will appreciate the clarity of the images for details like armour and stowage FineScale Modeler

Soviet Machine Guns of World War II Chris McNab, 2022-02-17 This study looks at how the Soviet armed forces developed and deployed a range of machine guns that fitted with their offensive and defensive infantry tactics across six years of total war In 1939 three machine guns dominated the Red Army's front line infantry firepower the DShK 1938 heavy machine gun the PM M1910 medium heavy machine gun and the Degtyaryov DP 27 a lighter bipod mounted support weapon Confronted by cutting edge German technology during the Great Patriotic War 1941-45 the Soviets responded with the development of new weaponry including the RPD light machine gun the 7.62 54mmR SG43 medium machine gun and the improved version of the DP 27 the DPM Taken together all these weapons gave the Red Army a more practical range of support weapons better able to challenge the Germans for fire superiority on the battlefield Fully illustrated this study explains the technology and the tactics of these machine guns Noted authority Chris McNab sets out how these machine guns were distributed and tactically applied and provides numerous examples of the weapons in action from assault teams on the streets of Stalingrad to tank crews struggling for survival at Kursk The book also reflects upon the weapons post war service many of the machine guns remain in front line use today Illustrated with high quality photographs and specially commissioned artwork this is a deep analysis of these essential tools of warfare within the Soviet forces
