The Human Tradition in Modern France K. Steven Vincent, Alison Clairmont-Lingo, 2000-10-01 The Human Tradition in Modern France gives a human perspective of the history of France from 1789 to the present revealed in essays that highlight individuals and intriguing events that too often have been lost under labels and statistics Students will gain an understanding of the humor and passion in French history from these new original essays by well established scholars This collection also relates the individuals events and controversies to current historiographical debates The Human Tradition in Modern France is an excellent supplementary text for courses on French history and is also useful for courses in world history and Western Civilization

Fair and Unfair Trials in the British Isles, 1800-1940 David Nash, Anne-Marie Kilday, 2020-11-12 Adopting a microhistory approach Fair and Unfair Trials in the British Isles 1800 1940 provides an in depth examination of the evolution of the modern justice system Drawing upon criminal cases and trials from England Scotland and Ireland the book examines the errors procedural systems and the ways in which adverse influences of social and cultural forces impacted upon individual instances of justice The book investigates several case studies of both justice and injustice which prompted the development of forensic toxicology the implementation of state propaganda and an increased interest in press sensationalism One such case study considers the trial of William Sheen who was prosecuted and later acquitted of the murder of his infant child at the Old Baily in 1827 an extraordinary miscarriage of justice that prompted outrage amongst the general public Other case studies include trials for treason theft obscenity and blasphemy Nash and Kilday root each of these cases within their relevant historical cultural and political contexts highlighting changing attitudes to popular culture public criticism protest and activism as significant factors in the transformation of the criminal trial and the British judicial system as a whole Drawing upon a wealth of primary sources including legal records newspaper articles and photographs this book provides a unique insight into the evolution of modern criminal justice in Britain

England During the Last Four Months of the War William Crowell Edgar, 1919

Electric Edwardians Vanessa Toulmin, 2019-07-25 Electric Edwardians presents a stunning visual record of the films of Sagar Mitchell and James Kenyon combined with an illuminating discussion of the films and the social context of their production by Vanessa Toulmin a leading authority on the collection Advertised as local films for local people the films of Mitchell and Kenyon were commissioned by travelling exhibitors in the early twentieth century for screening in town halls village fetes and local fairs Audiences paid to see their neighbours families and themselves on the screen glimpsed at work and at play This attractive volume includes over 200 illustrations drawn from the Mitchell and Kenyon collection as well as contemporary posters and handbills from the National Fairground Archive Vanessa Toulmin's lucid accompanying text provides an introduction to the work of the M K company the showmen who commissioned their films and their place in early British cinema Focusing on major themes such as Leisure and Recreation Sport Industry the Boer War and the City Toulmin explores how the M K collection deepens our understanding of these key aspects of Edwardian life The French in London Isabelle Janvrin, Catherine Rawlinson, 2016-07-24 Ever since 1066 there has been a substantial French presence in London It is now said to be the sixth most populous French city and this book illustrates explains and exposes how this came about over more than a 1000 years Full of individual stories and overlooked details covering a common history from William the Conqueror to Charles de Gaulle

Picture World Rachel Teukolsky, 2020 Explores the ways in which new forms of visual culture such as the illustrated newspaper the cheap caricature cartoon the affordable illustrated book the portrait photograph and the advertising poster worked to shape key Victorian aesthetic concepts Our Little English Cousin Blanche McManus, 2020-09-28 Our Little English Cousin Blanche McManus, 1920 Pantheons Matthew Craske, 2017-07-05 The institution of the pantheon has come a long way from its classical origins Invented to describe a temple dedicated to many deities the term later became so far removed from its original meaning that by the twentieth century it has been able to exist independently of any architectural and sculptural monument This collection of essays is the first to trace the transformation of the monumental idea of the pantheon from its origins in Greek and Roman antiquity to its later appearance as a means of commemorating and enshrining the ideals of national identity and statehood Illuminating the emergence of the pantheon in a range of different cultures and periods by exploring its different manifestations and implementations the essays open new historical perspectives on the formation of national and civic identities Explore it. Britain Д. Ведунова, Н. Овсянникова, 2016-06-30 The Culture of History Billie Melman, 2006-06-22 In this original and widely researched book Billie Melman explores the culture of history during the age of modernity Her book is about the production of English pasts the multiplicity of their representations and the myriad ways in which the English looked at history sometimes in the most literal sense of looking and made use of it in a social and material urban world and in their imagination Covering the period between the Napoleonic Wars and the Coronation of 1953 Melman recoups the work of antiquarians historians novelists and publishers wax modellers cartoonists and illustrators painters playwrights and actors reformers and educationalists film stars and their fans musicians and composers opera fans and radio listeners Avoiding a separation between high and low culture Melman analyses nineteenth century plebeian culture and twentieth century mass culture and their venues like Madame Tussaud's Chamber of Horrors panoramas national monuments like the Tower of London and films as well as studying forms of minority art notably opera She demonstrates how history was produced and how it circulated from texts visual images and sounds to people and places and back to a variety of texts and images While paying attention to individuals making do with culture Melman considers constrictions of class gender the state and the market place on the consumption of history Focusing on two privileged pasts the Tudor monarchy and the French Revolution the latter seen as an English event and as the framework for narrating and comprehending history Melman shows that during the nineteenth century the most popular longest enduring and most highly commercialized images of the past represented it not as cosy and secure but rather as dangerous disorderly and violent The past was also imagined as an urban place rather than as rural In Melman s account City not green Country is the centre of a popular version of the past whose central Images are the dungeon the gallows and the guillotine

Capital Punishment in Twentieth-Century Britain Lizzie Seal,2014-03-05 Capital punishment for murder was abolished in Britain in 1965 At this time the way people in Britain perceived and understood the death penalty had changed it was an issue that had become increasingly controversial high profile and fraught with emotion In order to understand why this was it is necessary to examine how ordinary people learned about and experienced capital punishment Drawing on primary research this book explores the cultural life of the death penalty in Britain in the twentieth century including an exploration of the role of the popular press and a discussion of portrayals of the death penalty in plays novels and films Popular protest against capital punishment and public responses to and understandings of capital cases are also discussed particularly in relation to conceptualisations of justice Miscarriages of justice were significant to capital punishment s increasingly fraught nature in the mid twentieth century and the book analyses the unsettling power of two such high profile miscarriages of justice The final chapters consider the continuing relevance of capital punishment in Britain after abolition including its symbolism and how people negotiate memories of the death penalty Capital Punishment in Twentieth Century Britain is groundbreaking in its attention to the death penalty and the effect it had on everyday life and it is the only text on this era to place public and popular discourses about and reactions to capital punishment at the centre of the analysis Interdisciplinary in focus and methodology it will appeal to historians criminologists sociologists and socio legal scholars

A Wanderer in London Edward Verrall Lucas,1906 Women and the Material Culture of Death BethFowkes Tobin,2017-07-05 Examining the compelling and often poignant connection between women and the material culture of death this collection focuses on the objects women make the images they keep the practices they use or are responsible for and the places they inhabit and construct through ritual and custom Women's material practices ranging from wearing mourning jewelry to dressing the dead stitching memorial samplers to constructing skull boxes collecting funeral programs to collecting and studying diseased hearts making and collecting taxidermies and making sculptures honoring the dead are explored in this collection as well as women's affective responses and sentimental labor that mark their expected and unexpected participation in the social practices surrounding death and the dead The largely invisible work involved in commemorating and constructing narratives and memorials about the dead from family members and friends to national figures calls attention to the role women as memory keepers for families local communities and the nation Women have tended to work collaboratively making collecting and sharing objects that conveyed sentiments about the deceased whether human or animal as well as the identity of mourners Death is about loss and many of the mourning practices that women have traditionally and are currently engaged in are about dealing with private grief and public loss as well as working to mitigate the more general anxiety that death engenders about the impermanence of life

Madame Tussaud Kate Berridge, 2009-05-21 Kate Berridge's Madame Tussaud: A Life in Wax celebrates a great pioneer of mass market illusion whose illusions eventually included herself Millions have visited the museums that bear her name yet few know much about Madame Tussaud A celebrated artist she had both a ringside seat at and a cameo role in the French Revolution A victim and survivor of one of the most tumultuous times in history this intelligent pragmatic businesswoman has also had an indelible impact on contemporary culture planting the seed of our obsession with celebrity Kate Berridge tells this fascinating woman's complete story for the first time drawing upon a wealth of sources including Tussaud's memoirs and historical archives It is a grand scale success story revealing how with sheer graft and grit a woman born in 1761 to an eighteen year old cook overcame extraordinary reversals of fortune to build the first and most enduring worldwide brand identified simply by reference to its founder's name Madame Tussaud's A good story like Berridge's biography is a blessing Miami Herald A rousing good read Berridge presents us with a thorough understanding of the beginnings of popular culture Vancouver Sun Fascinating A vividly recreated history of an extreme time and the unusually determined woman who capitalized so effectively on it Globe and Mail Spectacular and spellbinding Thoughtful original never condescending erudite and packed with vivid and sometimes horrifying detail it is a model of how cultural history should be written Sunday Times London

The Emergence of Modern Marketing R.A. Church, Andrew Godley, 2004-08-02 Modern marketing and advertising deeply influence the way we in which perceive the world and define our identity Yet many of today's marketing and advertising practices are themselves products of earlier times The development of brands of advertising techniques and modern retailing are all associated with economic and business development of earlier periods This collection of essays considers the emergence of modern marketing by examining product differentiation and brand creation distribution and retailing strategies as well as advertising in a range of case studies covering the United States Continental Europe and the United Kingdom It highlights important innovations in marketing whilst underlining some surprising continuities and is a valuable reference for undergraduate and postgraduate students of marketing and advertising Curiosities of London

John Timbs, 1855 Material Literacy in 18th-Century Britain Bloomsbury Publishing, 2020-09-03 The eighteenth century has been hailed for its revolution in consumer culture but Material Literacy in Eighteenth Century Britain repositions Britain as a nation of makers It brings new attention to eighteenth century craftswomen and men with its focus on the material knowledge possessed not only by professional artisans and amateur makers but also by skilled consumers This edited collection gathers together a group of interdisciplinary scholars working in the fields of art history history literature and museum studies to unearth the tactile and tacit knowledge that underpinned fashion tailoring and textile production It invites us into the workshops drawing rooms and backrooms of a broad range of creators and uncovers how production and tacit knowledge extended beyond the factories and machines which dominate industrial histories This book illuminates for the first time the material literacies learnt enacted and understood by British producers and consumers The skills required for sewing embroidering and the textile arts were possessed by a large proportion of the British population men women and children professional and amateur alike Building on previous studies of shoppers and consumption in the period as well as narratives of manufacture these essays document the multiplicity of small producers behind Britain's consumer revolution reshaping our understanding of the dynamics between making and objects consumption and production It demonstrates how material knowledge formed an essential part of daily life for eighteenth century Britons Craft technique practice and production the contributors show constituted forms of tactile languages that joined makers together whether they produced objects for profit or pleasure
