Regional Modernities The Cultural Politi:

Regional Modernities K. Sivaramakrishnan, Arun Agrawal, 2003 Seminar papers Regional Modernities K. Sivaramakrishnan, Arun Agrawal, 2003 The Volume Brings Together Some Excellent New Scholarship On The Idea And Practice Of Development It Rescues The Complex History Of Development Encounters From The Prison Of Monolithic Modernization Discourse Without Splintering It Into Endless Postmodernist Narrative Fragments The Oxford Handbook of the Politics of Development Carol Lancaster, Nicolas van de Walle, 2018-05-01 In many discussions of nations development we often focus on their economic and social development Is it becoming wealthier Is its society modernizing Is it becoming more technologically sophisticated Are social outcomes improving for the broad mass of the public The process of development policy implementation however is always and inevitably political Put simply regime type matters when it comes to deciding on a course of development to follow Further political institutions matter When a government's institutional capacity is low the chances of success severely decline regardless of the merits of the development plan In The Oxford Handbook of the Politics of Development two of America's leading political scientists on the issue Carol Lancaster and Nicolas van de Walle have assembled an international cast of leading scholars to craft a broad state of the art work on this vitally important topic This volume is divided into five sections major theories of the politics of development organized historically e.g. modernization theory dependency theory the Washington consensus of policies without politics etc. key domestic factors and variables key international factors and variables political systems and structures and geographical perspectives inclusive of regional dynamics A comprehensive and cross regional examination on key issues of political development this Handbook not only provides an authoritative synthesis of past scholarship but also sets the agenda for future research in this discipline Identities in Transition Georgina Tsolidis, 2020-05-06 Resisting Modernity Samir Dayal, 2021-02-10 Samir Dayal's book Resisting Modernity is provocative Provocative because it undoes the allures of propulsion toward modernity at the same time that it refrains from a retreat into an idyllic and elusive pre colonial past Drawing on a wide body of postcolonial studies scholarship emanating from South Asia and on psychoanalytic theory Dayal complicates our understanding of three prominent Indian figures Ramakrishna Paramahansa Rabindranath Tagore and Mohandas Karamchand Gandhi active in the decades before independence from British colonial rule He sees them as resisting the modernist rhetoric of sovereignty and rational nationalism prevalent in those years Through his focus on these protagonists Dayal illuminates how their critique of the nationalist project of the pre independence years was at once strategic and limiting inclusive and exclusionary empowering and potentially debilitating Rajini Srikanth University of Massachusetts Boston She is the author of The World Next Door South Asian American Literature and the Idea of America Temple 2006 co editor of the award winning anthology Contours of the Heart South Asians Map North America Rutgers 1996 and co editor of the collection of critical essays A Part Yet Apart South Asians in Asian America Temple 1998 Resisting

Modernity is an admirable endeavor that opens up modernity to possibilities of postcolonial subaltern re recognition Dayal s conjunctural readings of the gendered affective as well as cognitive performances of Ramakrishna Tagore Gandhi and Ambedkar are richly symptomatic of the human condition under colonial modernity A welcome addition to the genre of the global interrogation of modernity R Radhakrishnan Professor of English and Comparative Literature and Chair of the Department of Asian American Studies at the University of California Irvine He is the author of Diasporic Mediations Between Home and Location Minnesota 1996 and Theory in an Uneven World Blackwell 2003 Farmers, Subalterns, and Activists Trent Brown, 2018-07-05 In theory chemical free sustainable agriculture not only has ecological benefits but also social and economic benefits for rural communities By removing farmers expenses on chemical inputs it provides them with greater autonomy and challenges the status quo where corporations dominate food systems In practice however organisations promoting sustainable agriculture often maintain connections with powerful institutions and individuals who have vested interests in maintaining the status quo This book explores this tension within the sustainable farming movement through reference to three detailed case studies of organisations operating in rural India Retro-modern India Manuela Ciotti, 2012-03-12 Firmly situated within the analytics of the political economy of a north Indian province this book explores self fashioning in pursuit of the modern amongst low caste Chamars Challenging existing accounts of national modernity in the non West the book argues that subaltern classes shape their own ideas about modernity by taking and rejecting from models of other classes within the same national context While displacing the West in its colonial and non colonial manifestations as the immanent comparative focus the book puts forward a unique framework for the analysis of subaltern modernity This builds on the entanglements between two main trajectories both of which are viewed as the outcome of the generative impetus of modernisation in India the first consists of the Chamar appropriation of socio cultural distinctions forged by 19th century Indian middle classes in their encounter with colonial modernity the second features the Chamar subversion of high caste ideals and practices as a result of low caste politics initiated during the 20th century The author contends that these conflicting trends give rise to a temporal antinomy within the Chamar politics of self making caught up between compulsions of a past modern and of a contemporary one The eclectic outcome is termed as retro modernity While the book signals a politics of becoming whose dynamics had previously been overlooked by scholars it simultaneously opens up novel avenues for the understanding of non elite modern life forms in postcolonial settings The book will interest scholars of anthropology South Asian studies development studies gender studies political science and postcolonial studies

Everyday Sustainability Debarati Sen, 2017-01-01 Illuminates the contradictions that emerge within conscious capitalism initiatives that are designed to empower women Everyday Sustainability takes readers to ground zero of market based sustainability initiatives Darjeeling India where Fair Trade ostensibly promises gender justice to minority Nepali women engaged in organic tea production These women tea farmers and plantation workers have distinct entrepreneurial strategies and everyday practices of social justice that at times dovetail with and at other times rub against the tenets of the emerging global morality market The author questions why women beneficiaries of transnational justice making projects remain skeptical about the potential for economic and social empowerment through Fair Trade while simultaneously seeking to use the movement to give voice to their situated demands for mobility economic advancement and community level social justice

A Companion to the Anthropology of Politics David Nugent, Joan Vincent, 2008-04-15 This Companion offers an unprecedented overview of anthropology's unique contribution to the study of politics Explores the key concepts and issues of our time from AIDS globalization displacement and militarization to identity politics and beyond Each chapter reflects on concepts and issues that have shaped the anthropology of politics and concludes with thoughts on and challenges for the way ahead Anthropology's distinctive genre ethnography lies at the heart of this volume

Politics of Water Conservation Saurabh Gupta, 2015-10-01 This book examines the politics of rural development with special reference to watershed development interventions in the desert province of Rajasthan in India Watershed development and rainwater harvesting is one of the most significant rural development interventions in rainfed areas of India since the early 1990s A range of developmental actors including the state watershed department international donors NGOs and grassroots organisations are involved in sponsoring watershed development projects Using multi sited ethnography and conversational interviews with the deliverers as well as recipients of development the book compares and contrasts the watershed interventions of the state and two different kinds of NGOs in Rajasthan While conventional studies on watershed development have focused on the evaluation of success or failure of particular projects whether implemented by the state or NGOs the book moves beyond this narrow analytical gaze to look at the roles agendas and interests of multiple development agencies often partnering together and sometimes competing with each other as part of what the author calls the watershed development regime Taking cue from watershed development and water conservation projects over the last two decades the book engages with the larger question of how of delivering development It examines the complex processes of cooperation competition negotiations contestations and conflicts between different stakeholders including the agents of development and differently positioned rural social groups in the context of Rajasthan The book demonstrates that the recent interventions in watershed development and rainwater harvesting have considerably shaped the politics of development in Rajasthan in a number of ways by becoming a site for the remaking of the state and its internal relations by disturbing the local hegemony in the countryside by creating new relations of patronage between diverse agents and recipients of development by increasing the associational capacity as well as creating new conflicts intra and inter village and by initiating competition and cooperation between the various agents of development over control of local resources and power

Conflict, Negotiations and Natural Resource Management Maarten Bavinck, Amalendu Jyotishi, 2014-10-17 Conflicts over natural resources abound in India where much of the population is dependent on these resources for their livelihoods Issues of governance and management are complicated by the competing claims of parallel legal systems including state customary religious project and local laws Whereas much has been written about property rights this unique collection takes a legal anthropological perspective to explore how the coexistence and interaction between multiple legal orders provide bases for claiming property rights It examines how hybrid legal institutions have developed over time in India and how these impact on justice in the governance and distribution of natural resources The book brings together original case studies that offer fresh perspectives on the governance of forests water fisheries and agricultural land in a diverse range of social and spatial contexts This brand new research provides a timely and persuasive overview of the fundamental role of parallel legal systems in shaping how people manage natural resources It will be of interest to scholars and practitioners of environmental law property law environmental politics anthropology sociology and geography

The Politics of Caste in West Bengal Uday Chandra, Geir Heierstad, Kenneth Bo Nielsen, 2015-09-25 This volume offers for the first time a comprehensive and in depth analysis of the making and maintenance of a modern caste society in colonial and postcolonial West Bengal in India Drawing on cutting edge multidisciplinary scholarship it explains why caste continues to be neglected in the politics of and scholarship on West Bengal and how caste relations have permeated the politics of the region until today The essays presented here dispel the myth that caste does not matter in Bengali society and politics and make possible meaningful comparisons and contrasts with other regions in South Asia The work will interest scholars and researchers in sociology social anthropology politics modern Indian history and cultural studies

The Politics of Belonging in India Daniel J. Rycroft, Sangeeta Dasgupta, 2011-03-29 Since the 1990s the Indigenous movement worldwide has become increasingly relevant to research in India re shaping the terms of engagement with Adivasi Indigenous tribal peoples and their pasts This book responds to the growing need for an inter disciplinary re assessment of Tribal studies in postcolonial India and defines a new agenda for Adivasi studies It considers the existing conceptual and historical parameters of Tribal studies as a means of addressing new approaches to histories of de colonization and patterns of identity formation that have become visible since national independence Contributors address a number of important concerns including the meaning of Indigenous studies in the context of globalised academic and political imaginaries and the possibilities and pitfalls of constructions of indigeneity as both a foundational and a relational concept A series of short editorial essays provide theoretical clarity to issues of representation resistance agency recognition and marginality The book is an essential read for students and scholars of Indian Sociology Anthropology History Cultural Studies and Indigenous studies

Politicizing Creative Economy Dia Da Costa, 2016-12-08 Scholars increasingly view the arts creativity and the creative economy as engines for regenerating global citizenship renewing decayed local economies and nurturing a new type of all inclusive politics Dia Da Costa delves into the global development nationalist and leftist progressive histories shaping these ideas with a critical ethnography of two activist performance groups in India the Communist affiliated Jana Natya Manch and Budhan Theatre a community based group of the indigenous Chhara people As Da Costa shows commodification heritage and management discussions inevitably creep into performance Yet the ability of performance to undermine such subtle invasions make activist theater a crucial site for considering what counts as creativity in the cultural politics of creative economy Da Costa explores the precarious lives livelihoods and ideologies at the intersection of heritage projects planning discourse and activist performance By analyzing the creators performers and activists involved individuals at the margins of creative economy as well as society Da Costa builds a provocative argument Their creative economy practices may survive challenge and even reinforce the economies of death displacement and divisiveness used by the urban poor to survive

Negotiating Marginality Mahana

Rajakishor, 2019-03-01 Providing a critical ethnography of five different tribal movements fighting against the mega industrialization projects in Odisha India the book presents a thick description of the confrontation of the tribals to the authoritative forces of state domination This confrontation a counter hegemonic discourse is neither antagonistic to change nor anti to development but rather in fact the author argues that the tribals are the subaltern citizens who aspire for not only more material and economic prosperity but also freedom freedom from domination and deprivation The book therefore seeks to answer one important question how do the tribals appropriate marginality in their everyday lives in challenging domination and celebrating their desires wishes anticipations and material prosperity as well as in coping with the ruins of frustration and suffering Drawing on long term ethnographic fieldwork carried over a decade 2006-16 this book provides empirical evidences and conceptual explorations on the resistance of subaltern citizens against domination The author challenges current theories of social movements which claim that a cultural critique of the development paradigm is writ large in the political actions of those marginalized by development tribals who lived in harmony with nature combining reverence for nature with the sustainable management of resources On the other hand questioning the established notion of marginality as a problem the author re visits marginality as a possible site that nourishes the capacity of the tribals to resist and to imagine and create a new world The complexity of tribal politics then cannot be reduced to an opposition between development and resistance The book therefore persuades us to re examine the politics of representation within the ideology of progressive movements Please note Taylor Francis does not sell or distribute the Hardback in India Pakistan Nepal Bhutan Bangladesh and Sri Lanka

New Indian Cinema in Post-Independence India Anuradha Needham, 2013-11-26 Shyam

Benegal is an Indian director and screenwriter whose work is considered central to New Indian cinema By closely analysing several of Benegal's films this book provides an understanding of India's post independence history The book examines the filmmaker's focus on women by highlighting his subtle and critical engagement with a truism of Indian nationalism women's centrality to the nation state's negotiation with modernity It looks at the importance Benegal accords to history its little known contested or iconic events and figures in crafting national culture and identities and goes on to discuss the filmmaker's nuanced representation of the developmental agendas of the nation state The book presents an account of the relationship of historical film and fiction to official history and provides a fuller understanding of Indian cinema and how it is shaped by as well as itself shapes national imperatives Filling a gap in the literature the book offers an analysis of cinematic treatment of post independence narratives and gives important insights into the imagination of the time It is a useful contribution for students and scholars of Film Studies South Asian History and South Asian Culture

Contesting Development

Philip McMichael,2010-02-17 At a time when the development promise is increasingly in question with dwindling social gains the vision of modernity is losing its legitimacy and coherence This moment is observable through the lens of critical struggles of those who experience disempowerment displacement and development contradictions In this book case studies serve as an effective means of teaching key concepts and theories in the sociology of development This collection of cases all original never previously published and with framing essays by Phillip McMichael has been written with this purpose in mind An important additional feature is that the book as a whole reveals the limiting assumptions of development and suggests alternate conditions of possibility for social existence in the world today In that sense the book pushes the boundaries of thinking about development and makes an important theoretical contribution to the literature

The Concrete Plateau

Andrew Grant,2022-07-15 In The Concrete Plateau Andrew Grant examines the ways that urbanization has extended into the Tibetan Plateau Many people still think of Tibetans as not being urban or that if they do live in cities this means that they have lost something Much of this is relates to the expectation that urbanization can only erode essential aspects of Tibetan culture Grant pushes back against this notion through his in depth exploration of Tibetans experiences with urban life in the growing city of Xining the largest city on the Tibetan Plateau Grant shows how Tibetans actions to sustain their community challenge China s civilizing machine a product of state led urbanization that seeks to marginalize ethnic and indigenous groups In their homes neighborhoods and businesses Tibetans assertion of cultural identity and modification of the built environment has prevented their assimilation into China s national urban project The Concrete Plateau presents insights into the politics of urban development not only in Tibet and China but to contexts of urban diversity all around world Its findings are important for studies of urban development in the Global South where in migrating ethnic and indigenous groups are negotiating top down urban projects Grant s book offers a profound rethinking of urbanization rurality culture and the politics of place anthology of postcolonial theory and practice in the Latin American context

Comparative and Transnational History

Heinz-Gerhard Haupt,Jürgen Kocka,2012 Since the 1970s West German historiography has been one of the main arenas of international comparative history It has produced important empirical studies particularly in social history as well as methodological and theoretical reflections on comparative history During the last twenty years however this approach has felt pressure from two sources cultural historical approaches which stress microhistory and the construction of cultural transfer on the one hand global history and transnational approaches with emphasis on connected history on the other This volume introduces the reader to some of the major methodological debates and to recent empirical research of German historians who do comparative and transnational work
