Romain Rolland and the Politics of the Intellectual Engagement David Fisher, 2017-07-05 This intellectual portrait of Romain Rolland 1866 1944 French novelist musicologist dramatist and Nobel prizewinner in 1915 focuses on his experiments with political commitment against the backdrop of European history between the two world wars Best known as a biographer of Beethoven and for his novel Jean Christophe Rolland was one of those nonconforming writers who perceived a crisis of bourgeois society in Europe before the Great War and who consciously worked to discredit and reshape that society in the interwar period Analyzing Rolland's itinerary of engaged stands David James Fisher clarifies aspects of European cultural history and helps decipher the ambiguities at the heart of all forms of intellectual engagement Moving from text to context Fisher organizes the book around a series of debates Rolland's public and private collisions over specific committed stands introducing the reader to the polemical style of French intellectual discourse and offering insight into what it means to be a responsible intellectual Fisher presents Rolland's private ruminations extensive research and reexamination of the function and style of the French man of letters He observes that Rolland experimented with five styles of commitment oceanic mysticism linked to progressive democratic politics free thinking linked to antiwar dissent pacifism and ultimately Gandhism antifascism linked to anti imperialism antiracism and all out political resistance to fascism and most controversially fellow traveling as a form of socialist humanism and the positive side of antifascism Fisher views Rolland's engagement historically and critically showing that engaged intellectuals of that time were neither naive propagandists nor dupes of political parties David James Fisher makes a case for the committed writer and hopes to re ignite the debate about commitment For him Romain Rolland sums up engagement in a striking dialectical formula Romain Rolland and the Politics of the Intellectual Engagement David James Fisher, 1988 Romain Rolland René Cheval, 1965 British and French Writers of the First World War Frank Field, 1991-01-25 The impact of the Great War on some of France and Britain's most prominent writers have shaped radically different versions of that truth John Horne and Alan Kramer mine military reports official and private records witness evidence and war diaries to document the crimes that scholars have long denied a campaign of brutality that led to the deaths of some 6500 Belgian and French civilians Contemporary German accounts insisted that the civilians were guerrillas executed for illegal resistance In reality this claim originated in a vast collective delusion on the part of German soldiers The authors establish how this myth originated and operated and how opposed Allied and German views of events were used in the propaganda war They trace the memory and forgetting of the atrocities on both sides up to and beyond World War II Meticulously researched and convincingly argued this book reopens a painful chapter in European history while contributing to broader debates about myth propaganda memory war crimes and the nature of the First World War
