Roman Realites Realismes:

Roman, réalités, réalistes Jean Bessière, 1989 Cette édition numérique a été réalisée à partir d'un support physique parfois ancien conservé au sein du département de la Bibliothèque nationale de France conformément à la loi n° 2012-287 du 1er mars 2012 relative à l'exploitation des livres indisponibles du XXe siècle. Il y a une critique anti-réaliste du réalisme comme il y a une lecture conventionnaliste du réalisme. Copyright Electre Pages debut Ouverture I II III The Seduction of Fiction

Jean-François Vernay, 2016-10-04 By meshing psychology with literary analysis this book inspires us to view the reading of fictional works as an emotional and seductive affair between reader and writer. Arguing that current teaching practices have contributed to the current decline in the study of literature Jean-François Vernay's plea brings a refreshing perspective by seeking new directions and conceptual tools to highlight the value of literature. Interdisciplinary in focus and relevant to timely discussions of the vitality between emotion and literary studies particularly within the contexts of psychology, affect studies and cognitive studies this book will open up a space in which the formation of our emotions can be openly examined and discussed. Diaries Real and Fictional in Twentieth-Century French Writing Sam Ferguson, 2018-03-09 This volume is the first study of the diary in French writing across the twentieth century as a genre which includes both fictional and non-fictional works. From the 1880s it became apparent to writers in France that their diaries, a supposedly private form of writing, would probably come to be published, strongly affecting the way their readers viewed their other published works and their very persona as an author. More than any other, André Gide embraced the literary potential of the diary: the first part of this book follows his experimentation with the diary in the fictional works Les Cahiers d'André Walter (1891) and Paludes (1895) in his diary of the composition of his great novel Le Journal des faux monnayeurs (1926) and in his monumental Journal (1889-1939). The second part follows developments in diary writing after the Second World War, inflected by radical changes in attitudes towards the writing subject. Raymond Queneau's works published under the pseudonym of Sally Mara (1947-1962) used the diary playfully at a time when the writing subject was condemned by the literary avant-garde. Roland Barthes's experiments with the diary (1977-1979) took it to the extremes of its formal possibilities at the point of a return of the writing subject. Annie Ernaux's published diaries (1993-2011) demonstrate the role of the diary in the modern field of life writing. Throughout the century the diary has repeatedly been used to construct an oeuvre and author, but also to call these fundamental literary concepts into question. Writing Realism Armine Kotin Mortimer, 2000 Each of these texts allows

Mortimer to explore how the mimetic illusion operates on readers both in French literature and in narrative as a genre. BOOK JACKET European Literary Immigration into the French Language Tijana Miletic, 2008-01-01 The critical, emotional and intellectual change which every immigrant is obliged to endure and confront is experienced with singular intensity by immigrant writers who have also adopted another language for their literary expression. Concentrating on European authors of the second half of the twentieth century who have chosen French as a language for their literary expression and in particular the novels by Romain Gary Agota Kristof Milan Kundera and Jorge Semprun with reference to many others European Literary Immigration into the French Language explores some of the common elements in these works of fiction which despite the varied personal circumstances and literary aesthetics of the authors follow a similar path in the building of a literary identity and legitimacy in the new language The choice of the French language is inextricably linked with the subsequent literary choices of these writers This study charts a new territory within Francophone and European literary studies in treating the European immigrants as a separate group and in applying linguistic sociological and psychoanalytical ideas in the analysis of the works of fiction and thus represents a relevant contribution to the understanding of European cultural identity This volume is relevant to French and European literature scholars and anyone with interest in immigration European identity or second language adoption

Theories of Literary Realism Dario Villanueva, 1997-01-01 Explores the possibilities and limits of a concept of realism that seeks a point of equilibrium between the principle of autonomy of the literary work vis a vis reality and the relations that the work clearly establishes with this reality Argues that by concentrating on the study of the literary work as a verbal construction the traditional of formalism and New Criticism has neglected the mimetic aspect of the literary problematic dissociating literature from life Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR
