Rooting Democracy Growing The Society We Want:

Hearing the Voices of Children Christine Hallett, Alan Prout, 2003-12-16 Hearing the Voices of Children provides a fresh perspective on social policy. At the heart of the book is the emergence of children's voices and the implications of this for social policy. The authors argue that children's voices should be heard much more strongly in the process of policy formation at all levels. Although there is growing support for this idea, it is not without opposition and the authors themselves make many critical points about the current attempts to put it into practice. The book is divided into four main themes: hearing children's voices, discourses of childhood, children and services, and resources for children. Childhood experts from the UK, Scandinavia, Germany, and Australia examine how assumptions and models about childhood have changed and discuss ways in which children's voices might become more influential in shaping policy. There are many obstacles to overcome, but the contributors to this volume show that children's participation is possible and needed if services are to be improved. This book is essential reading for students and academics in the field of childhood studies, sociology, social policy, and education. It will also be of interest to practitioners in the social child and youth services.

Gentrification in a Global Context Rowland Atkinson, Gary Bridge, 2004-12-10 The Gentrification in a Global Perspective brings together the most recent theoretical and empirical research on gentrification at a global scale.

Community Development in an Uncertain World Jim Ife, 2016-10-06 In Community Development in an Uncertain World Jim Ife draws on the principles of social justice, ecological responsibility, and post-Enlightenment and Indigenous perspectives to advance new holistic approaches to community development. The book explores the concept of community development on a local and international scale in the context of globalisation and postcolonial theory. Students will gain the essential skills and practical understanding required to navigate the existing managerial environment and cultivate new community practices. This new edition incorporates current research into community development and includes important new work on alternative visions for a sustainable and just future. It introduces the foundational theories of community development and explains their importance in shaping solutions to uniquely modern issues. Readers are encouraged to critically engage with the material through the accompanying discussion questions. Written in an accessible, engaging style, this text is an essential resource for students and professionals in the human services.

The New Handbook of Children's Rights Bob Franklin, 2002 The expanded and completely revised new edition of this well-established handbook provides essential information on a topic of increasing importance across a range of disciplines and practices.

Counterintelligence Theory and Practice Hank Prunckun, 2019-01-21 In this thoroughly updated and revised edition of Counterintelligence Theory and Practice, Hank Prunckun provides all of the elements required for a successful counterintelligence operation from both an academic and a practitioner's point of view. It offers an advanced understanding of the underlying theory that supports the art and science of the craft and examines the challenges and practicalities of defensive and offensive counterintelligence. Designed for students in intelligence studies as well as professional training classes this text explores issues related to national security military law enforcement and corporate as well as private affairs

Power, Culture, Economy Jon Altman, David Martin, 2009-08-01 Research over the past decade in health employment life expectancy child mortality and household income has confirmed that Indigenous Australians are still Australia's most disadvantaged group Those residing in communities in regional and remote Australia are further disadvantaged because of the limited formal economic opportunities there In these areas mining developments may be the major and sometimes the only contributors to regional economic development However Indigenous communities have gained only relatively limited long term economic development benefits from mining activity on land that they own or over which they have property rights of varying significance Furthermore while Indigenous people may place high value on realising particular non economic benefits from mining agreements there may be only limited capacity to deliver such benefits This collection of papers focuses on three large ongoing mining operations in Queensland Western Australia and the Northern Territory under two statutory regimes the Aboriginal Land Rights Northern Territory Act 1976 and the Native Title Act 1993 The authors outline the institutional basis to greater industry involvement while describing and analysing the best practice principles that can be utilised both by companies and Indigenous community organisations The research addresses questions such as What factors underlie successful investment in community relations and associated agreement governance and benefit packages for Indigenous communities How are economic and non economic flows monitored What are the values and aspirations which Indigenous people may bring to bear in their engagement with mining developments What more should companies and government do to develop the capacity and sustainability of local Indigenous organisations What mining company strategies build community capacity to deal with impacts of mining Are these adequate How to prepare for sustainable futures for Indigenous Australians after mine closure This research was conducted under an Australian Research Council Linkage Project with Rio Tinto and the Committee for Economic Development of Australia as Industry Partners

Human Rights and Social Work Jim Ife, Karen Soldatić, Linda Briskman, 2022-07-20 Human Rights and Social Work Towards Rights Based Practice helps students and practitioners understand how human rights concepts underpin the social work profession and inform their practice This book examines the three generations of human rights and the systems of oppression that prevent citizens from participating in society as equals It explores a range of topics from ethics and ethical social work practice to deductive and inductive approaches to human rights and global and local human rights discourses The language processes structures and theories of social work that are fundamental to the profession are also discussed This edition features case studies exploring current events movements and human rights crises including the Black Lives Matter movement the Northern Territory Emergency Response and homelessness among LGBTIQ young people This edition is accompanied by online resources for both students and instructors Human Rights and Social Work is an indispensable guide for social work students and practitioners personal and scholarly backgrounds come together in this collection to examine issues of identity viewing it as both a departing point and end destination for the various peoples who have come to call New Zealand home The essays reflect the diversity of thinking about identity across the social sciences as well as common themes that transcend disciplinary boundaries Their explorations of the process of identity making underscore the historical roots dynamism and plurality of ideas of national identity in New Zealand offering a view not only of what has been but also what might be on the horizon

New Regionalism in Australia Mardelene Grobbelaar, 2018-01-18 New Regionalism promoted as a new paradigm of development by the OECD suggests that globalization is bringing together new technologies management employees and communities to form new patterns of local governance However despite the growing influence of New Regionalism in regional development policy in the West and increasingly in Australia there has been little debate about the relevance and application of these ideas in Australia Bringing together contributions from academics practitioners and policy makers this book redresses this imbalance by examining the theoretical and empirical foundations of this powerful and growing school of thought locating the debate firmly in the Australian context With an opening chapter by Kevin Morgan Cardiff University who has been at the heart of the New Regionalism debate the book provides important insights into the theory and practice of New Regionalism in this vibrant region Local Government at the Millenium Janice Caulfield, Helge O. Larsen, 2013-04-17 This volume with contributions by internationally renowned authors provides a comparative survey of problems in local politics and administration in Europe Australasia and North America Women and the Law Anne Thacker, 1998 This publication reinforces the need for ongoing strategies to ensure continuing reform of the legal system in relation to judicial attitudes towards women and includes essays by Professor Kathleen Mahoney the Honourable Duncan Kerr MP Justice Elizabeth Evatt Moira Rayner Justice Jane Matthews Chief Judge Waldron Magistrate Jennifer Coate Deborah Cass Justice Deidre O Connor Magistrate Jelena Popovich Beth Wilson Therese McCarthy Chief Justice Alastair Nicholson and Dr Jocelyne Scutt The Kennett Revolution Brian J. Costar, Nicholas Economou, 1999 Over the past six years the Kennett government has changed the face of Victoria with a program of down sizing deregulation and privatisation This book analyses the government and provides a guide to the impact of its policies Contemporary Authors Lisa Kumar, 2004-06 A biographical and bibliographical guide to current writers in all fields including poetry fiction and nonfiction journalism drama television and movies Information is provided by the authors themselves or drawn from published interviews feature stories book reviews and other materials provided by the authors publishers The Power of Compassion Australian Psychological Society. Victorian Branch. State Conference, 2007 We entered the 21st Century full of anxiety with the promised threat of a millennium bug that could potentially cripple our lives Since then we have witnessed an increasing level of angst and despair across the world as warnings of climate change and economic hardships have been forecast Wars have raged a new evil has entered our consciousness and the word terrorism has come to the forefront of our lexicon Millions of innocent people have lost their lives Today we are witnessing the ever increasing state of displaced persons being shuffled from makeshift home to makeshift home being locked up in camps and cut off from the rest of society Everywhere around us we hear about increases in depression and mental health disorders among the general population Young people are checking out of the mainstream there are phenomenal increases in the rate of suicide and older people are living out wretched lives isolated and alone Multinational corporations have been accused of extorting vulnerable peoples for economic gain and consumption seems to be our new idol What is becoming of our society How do we make sense of our world The essays in this book provide a compelling insight and reflection into the work of health professionals as they struggle to make sense of their work and the world around them in this new century From exploring the concept of Living Compassion working with the good bad and ugly aspects of our lives and reflecting on practice the authors discuss their ideas on compassion They offer you the reader an opportunity to reflect on your own daily practice and to go forward with a sense of shared humanity
