Decision-Making A. Crosby, 1998-05-13 The Cold War produced a matrix of Canadian US extra governmental military and economic relationships which significantly shaped Canadian political decision making as it related to the defence of the continent under the auspices of the North American Air Aerospace Defence Agreement NORAD In the post cold War era these relationships continue to effectively support a traditional security agenda for the Canadian government The rewritten NORAD Agreement signed in March 1996 is the vehicle for Canadian participation in US missile defence programs worldwide Paying particular attention to the decisions to adopt a nuclear weapons role for Canada s continental air defence forces to test the US air launched cruise missile in the Canadian North and to become increasingly involved in active missile and space based defence programs the author examines the Cold War construction of Canadian US military and economic relationships the effects of these relationships on political decision making the public discourse as a site of alternative understandings of Canada s role in the Cold War Ann Denholm Crosby provides a challenging analysis of Canadian defence decision making in both its Cold war and post Cold War contexts Conservation and Environmentalism Robert C.
