Magic and the Supernatural in Medieval English Romance Corinne J. Saunders, 2010 This study looks at a wide range of medieval English romance texts including the works of Chaucer and Malory from a broad cultural perspective to show that while they employ magic in order to create exotic escapist worlds they are also grounded in a sense of possibility and reflect a complex web of inherited and current ideas Book Jacket

Refashioning "knights and Ladies Gentle Deeds" Paul R. Rovang, 1996 While not neglecting the question of direct borrowings author Paul Rovang applies a theory of intertextuality to probe how the poet responded to the chivalric romance themes conventions materials and structures which he encountered in the Morte Darthur Both works are treated not as monoliths but as links in a network of texts and other cultural phenomena relating to chivalry In this way a fuller sense is given not only of how vitally connected the two works are but of how Spenser refashioned the transmitted ideals and symbols of Arthurian knighthood for his own age
